MISS BENNETT ON HER MOUNT

Miss Bennett, tired of finding her auto decorated with "parking tags," has turned to the bridle paths. Today police uncovered 10 more tags against her. She has just paid for 24 tags.

10 MORE TAGS AGAINST GIRL

Miss Josephine Bennett, of 3433 Shadeland avenue, the young woman who forgets her traffic tags, is being sought high and low by Patrolman Edward Barry, of Traffic Court.

Barry has a warrant for Miss Bennett which accuses her of having ignored 10 tags in 1929.

This is the same Miss Bennett who was recently fined $25 for forgetting to remember 24 of the 1930 tags.

HarryCronin Succumbs At Home

Harry A. Cronin, 46, president of the Thomas Cronin Company, is dead at his home in the Haddon Hall Apartments, 4730 Center avenue. Death was due to congestion of the lungs and indigestion Deputy Coroner John Danner reported today.

Coroner W. J. McGregor ordered an investigation after an undertaker refused to take charge of the body until cause of death was officially determined.

Deputy Danner reported he had learned a nurse had been called in when Cronin was stricken seriously ill but that he had died before a physician arrived.

The undertaker had reported that the only explanation given him was that death was due to a cold.

Fred Waring's Wife Gets Ohio Divorce

CLEVELAND, April 21.—Mrs. Dorothy Waring, of Pittsburgh, today won a divorce from Fred Waring, the band leader who has often appeared in Pittsburgh with Waring's Pennsylvanians. The suit, uncontested, charged gross neglect. They were married in 1923.

Mexican Toreador Badly Hurt by Bull

EL PASO, Tex., April 21.—(AP.)—El Continental, Spanish language paper, says Luis Fred, noted Mexican toreador known as Don Valor, yesterday was gored, in a Juarez bullring. His condition was regarded as grave.

STEEL IS SOUND, SAYS TAYLOR

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 21.—(AP.)—Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation, told stockholders at their annual meeting today:

"The financial and business situation is basically sound and we can face the future with a feeling of assurance, confidence and safety.

"We witnessed last year a very great readjustment in the securities market," he added, "which to an extent was bound to occur, but which ran beyond its proper point in readjustment.

He expressed the belief that the most needed and inevitable readjustments had been completed.

James A. Farrell, president, reported that the corporation's mills had operated at an average rate of 82 per cent of capacity during the first quarter.

Farrell recalled that last year a stockholder had asked how much business the corporation would do in 1929, and he had predicted $1,500,000,000. He said he wished to apologize because:

"We fell short of that amount by $4,000,000."

He said he did not care to make a prediction as to the volume of business.

Wales Ends Flying Trip, Boards Liner

PORT SAID, Egypt, April 21.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales sailed for Marseilles at midnight aboard the steamer Rawal Pindi. He arrived earlier in the evening from Cairo, which marked the end of his air journey from Khartoum and his trip up the eastern coast of Africa from Capetown. Despite the lateness of the hour the liner's deck was crowded with passengers anxious to get a glimpse of the royal hunter, who is going back to England after a four months' absence.

Pauline Frederick On 4th Honeymoon

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Pauline Frederick, stage and screen star, was on a honeymoon today as Mrs. Hugh Chisholm Leighton. Mr. Leighton is her fourth husband.

They were married yesterday at the home of the bridegroom in East Sixty-second street, by the Rev. Leon R. Land. Divorces ended Miss Frederick's marriages to Frank Andrews, an architect; Willard Mack, playwright, and Dr. Charles A. Rutherford, of Seattle.

Legion Auxiliary Head Scores Pacifists Here

Questioned in her William Penn Hotel suite regarding the resignation Saturday of Mrs. Carroll Miller, of Pittsburgh, from the D. A. R., Mrs. Macrea, whose stopover here was made while en route from the Washington convention, declared:

"If pacifists realize the horrors and sufferings of war they would support the stand of both organizations.

"The Auxiliary demands universal draft. We want it so that in the combination of all our wealth, production and manpower, no nation would be so foolish as to attack us. We are asking Congress to appoint a committee to draft such a bill and we believe it will mean more than all the peace organization and meetings towards ending war."

Mrs. Macrea, with Mrs. Frank B. Emery, of Williamsport, state president; and Mrs. Joseph Thompson, of Beaver Falls, former state head, were guests of honor o. the county auxiliary at a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel. The afternoon was devoted to visiting the Veterans Hospital at Aspinwall.

NOMINATION OF PARKER OPPOSED

Senate Rejection Expected After Unfavorable Report; Hoover Surprised but Firm

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON, International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The nomination of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to be an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, was reported unfavorably today by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The committee voted 10 to 6 to reject Parker's appointment.

The committee first declined to invite the jurist before it to explain his attitude toward organized labor and the negro race. Then the nomination was debated behind closed doors for an hour. The result was announced by Senator Norris (Rep.) of Nebraska, chairman.

FIRST TO BE REJECTED

This was the first time within the memory of the Senate's oldest attaches that a nomination for the Supreme Court was reported unfavorably.

The repudiation of Parker by the committee, which is composed of the Senate's outstanding lawyers, was attributed to a statement while he was a candidate for governor of North Carolina some years ago that he would resign if elected by a single Negro vote, and to his decision upholding "yellow dog" contracts against union labor in West Virginia.

The unfavorable report by the committee virtually insured rejection of the nomination by the Senate. There has been no time in recent history when the Senate reversed a recommendation by the Judiciary Committee.

HOOVER SURPRISED

Word of the committee's action was immediately flashed to the White House, where it was received with surprise.

It was immediately stated, on behalf of the President, that he had no intention of withdrawing the nomination, and that so far

Rounding Up Wild Horses for Meat

BOISE, Idaho, April 21.—(INS.)—A great roundup of wild horses was under way in Idaho, Oregon and Nevada today. It is estimated that 40,000 of them roam over the large desert area, eating forage needed for cattle and sheep. The animals will be slaughtered and used for both chicken feed and human consumption.

Women Open Drive For Grundy Vote

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP.)—Headquarters of the women's division of the Republican committee for Grundy for senator was to open as the initial step in mobilizing Philadelphia women in the senatorial campaign of Joseph R. Grundy. Mrs. W. Ellis Groben will be in charge.

John D. Retrenches, Passes Out Nickels

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 21.—(AP.)—Nickels, instead of dimes, are the latest from John D. Rockefeller. He passed out several to children after Easter services in the First Baptist Church.

LINDY GIVES WIFE CREDIT IN AIR FEAT

Spur to Commercial Flying Seen in Trip Clipping Three Hours Off Record

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—"We" have another record, a cross-continent flight faster than anybody else's.

And this time "We" includes "the colonel's lady."

Taking off from Glendale, Cal., at daybreak yesterday, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh brought their new brilliant scarlet and black monoplane to a three-point landing on Roosevelt Field, 48 minutes before midnight.

The approximate distance flown was 2,500 miles, the flying time 14 hours 23 minutes 27 seconds, the average speed 172 miles an hour. A stop was made at Wichita, Kan., of 22 minutes and 5 seconds for fuel, but not food. Lunch prepared at Los Angeles was eaten in the air.

GIVES CREDIT TO WIFE

The colonel gave to Mrs. Lindbergh much credit for the actual technical details of the flight. She did the navigating, he said, kept the charts, and occasionally handled the controls. Their plane is equipped with dual controls.

The time of the flight was 3 hours 15 minutes 29 seconds faster than it ever had been made before. Capt. Frank Hawks, last June 29, flew from Glendale to Roosevelt Field in 17 hours 38 minutes 56 seconds without a stop.

The fact that he and Mrs. Lindbergh made a stop, the colonel pointed out, technically made their flight not one to compare with that of Capt. Hawks. Hawks, however, accepted the flight as a new record.

Two miles and more in the air much of the way, the Lindberghs wore flying helmets as Easter bonnets.

SEES SPUR TO FLYING

They left Glendale at 8:26:20 a. m. (Eastern standard time), landed at Wichita at 3:20:20 p. m.; took off at 3:42:35 and landed at Roosevelt Field at 11:11:52. The total elapsed time was 14 hours, 45 minutes and 32 seconds.

Lindbergh, who made the flight to test the possibility of commercial routes at high altitudes, be-

DU PUYS LOSE TAX APPEAL

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(INS.)—The Supreme Court today denied the petition of the late Herbert Du Puy and his wife, Amy, of Pittsburgh, for review of a court of claims decision holding them liable to $1,722,016 income tax which they were alleged to have attempted to evade by transfer of large amounts of property to corporations for benefit of their children.

The Du Puys paid the government $1,722,016 to settle the tax and in addition $250,000 as compromise of all civil liability and all criminal penalties.

In appealing, the Du Puys contended that the transfers were made in good faith and not to avoid tax, as the government claimed.

Man Beats Train But Finds Law Awaits Him

JANESVILLE, Wis., April 21.—(AP.)—Beating trains to grade crossings—a pastime akin to getting one's fingers manicured on a buzz-saw—is one thing; beating the law is another.

Lester Lords beat the train, all right, disregarding a watchman frantically waving a "stop" sign. But he found a policeman on the other side.

Glider Lands Safely On Charged Wires

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 21.—(INS.)—Dick Smith, a glider pilot, today held the rather unique record of making a safe landing on high tension power lines. When his glider nestled upon the lines, Smith clambered out and dropped to the ground uninjured.

National Anthem Bill Wins in House

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—The Linthicum bill to designate "The Star Spangled Banner," by Francis Scott Key, as the national anthem was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

MOTHER OF 5 LEFT TO DIE BY THUG

Unconscious Victim Found Near River With Strips of Clothing Tied About Neck

Mrs. Margaret Wright, 35, mother of five children, was found on the bank of the Allegheny River at the foot of Heinz street early today, beaten and strangled into unconsciousness. Apparently, after a desperate struggle, the strangler had left her there to die.

Her purse was found 50 feet away, the contents strewn on the ground. Part of the woman's clothing had been twisted around her neck.

Attracted by the woman's moans, Special Policeman C. M. Hill, of the H. J. Heinz Company, found her unconscious and had her taken to Allegheny General Hospital.

CONDITION CRITICAL

There it was said she had been severely beaten and strangled. Her condition was declared critical.

Identification was made at the hospital by Mrs. Mary Hobaugh, of 2040 Dowling street, Carrick, who conducts a boarding house for children for Juvenile Court.

A card found near the purse of the strangled woman contained Mrs. Hobaugh's name and address, and gave police their clue to her identity.

Mrs. Hobaugh declared Mrs. Wright had visited her yesterday to see her five children, placed at the Hobaugh home by Juvenile Court. She brought Easter gifts to the children and spent all day at the Hobaugh home.

SOUGHT JOB ON BOAT

When she left, according to Mrs. Hobaugh, the Wright woman had said that she was going to get a job on a river boat. Police believe she was on her way to keep an appointment about the job when she was attacked by the strangler.

Footprints on the ground, detectives say, indicated that the woman and a man had stood talking together for some time before they walked to the spot where the struggle occurred.

A card bearing the name of Nick Pasch, 3234 Juliet street, was found near the spot, but Pasch informed detectives he did not know Mrs. Wright and that he had been at home all yesterday.

Mrs. Wright's husband had left her two years ago, police say.

City Detective Frank Dodson has been assigned to the hospital to get Mrs. Wright's story of the attack as soon as she recovers consciousness.

Duchess of Bedford Starts Home Flight

CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa, April 21.—(AP.)—The Duchess of Bedford, 64, flying with two companions, today started back to England, hoping to complete the trip in nine days and establish a 19-day record for a round trip between Lympne and Capetown.

Children Jam Hoover Lawn For Egg-Rolling Games

By GEORGE E. DURNO, International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—All the kids that could be crowded into a 10-acre lot jammed into the south grounds of the White House today, had themselves a grand and glorious time, and, it must be related, made considerable of a mess.

The occasion was the annual Easter Monday egg-rolling fete.

Irrespective of race, color or social position, the children flocked down to the White House, each clutching a basket of multi-colored eggs that ultimately were destined to be ground into the grass of the south lawn through the involved process of a series of games that only kids can invent to play with a hard-boiled egg.

The children of Secretary of Labor Davis, Secretaries Akerson and Newton of the White House staff, and a number of socially prominent children were early on the scene.

Notable for their absence, however, were little Paulina Longworth, daughter of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who went horseback riding, and "Bazie" McCormick, small daughter of Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick, and chum of Paulina, who was in school.

$303,000,000 BUILDING CONTRACTS SET 5-YEAR RECORD

HOOVER PLEA CREDITED FOR GAIN

Increases in Construction Program in First Quarter Of 1929 Hailed by Lamont

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Secretary Lamont said today that awarding of $303,000,000 in public construction contracts during the first quarter of 1930 in 37 states indicated that his estimates of $7,000,000,000 for the year would be fulfilled.

A new five-year record for the first three months was set by the awards this year.

The commerce secretary said he expects a steady speeding up during the remaining three periods to carry the year's activities in public works and public utilites construction to the total he forecast several months ago.

SEVEN BILLION PROGRAM

This $7,000,000,000 program was estimated on a basis of reports of the government, state governors and officials of public utilities corporations. It would carry the year far ahead of last year.

While the $303,000,000 would set a new first quarter record, the secretary said this figure undoubtedly would be further swelled by reports from the other 11 states and from awards upon which reports were not received.

The quarterly reports were interpreted by administration officials as reflecting the appeal of President Hoover for increased building as a means of business stabilization.

BIG INCREASES

Contracts for public buildings totaled $32,337,000. Lighting systems awarded contracts aggregating $20,458,000, an increase of 249 per cent.

An increase of 128 per cent was noted in railroad construction, the figures being $70,648,000 for the first three months of this year and $30,973,000 for the same period of last year. Contracts for hospital and institutional construction moved upward from $22,588,000 last year to $39,364,090 this year.

SOME DECREASES

Contracts for park development gained 127 per cent, waterfront development 73 per cent, water supply systems 70 per cent, incinerators 60 per cent and bridges 47 per cent.

Decreases of 55 per cent in the construction of railways buildings, 28 per cent in park buildings, 14 per cent in sewerage systems, and 3 per cent in educational buildings were reported. Residential building lagged behind last year by 46 per cent, commercial buildings were 15 per cent off, and industrial buildings 17 per cent less than a year ago.

ALL-YEAR JOBS URGED IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Recommendations for procedure to provide steady employment the year around are incorporated in a preliminary report of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's unemployment committee, published today.

The first recommendation is that steady work the year around be incorporated in business men's thinking so that it may assume major importance in the employer's daily planning and actions.

More attention by state, city and town governments to planning construction and purchasing activities so that important contracts may be held back in time of prosperity and pushed forward in times of depression is recommended.

The committee indorsed recommendations of the Merchants' Association of New York, which included working full force part time rather than a reduced force full time, manufacture of stock to the limit of economic wisdom and a dismissal wage or two weeks' notice.

Cleveland to Start Work on Stadium

CLEVELAND.—(INS.)—With the last legal impediment removed, work is expected to start soon on the $2,500,000 Lake Front Stadium, for which bonds were voted 15 months ago.

City Manager Morgan ordered work on the stadium rushed when the State Supreme Court refused to review an injunction prohibiting the erection of the structure to E. S. Byers.

NEW TAX PLAN OFFERED CITY

Co-operation of city employes and elimination of tax-exempt real estate were suggested today by L. W. Monteverde as means of bringing about a reduction in the city tax rate.

Monteverde declared that at the present time the amount of tax-free real estate in Pittsburgh totals $300,000,000, approximately one-fourth of the city's entire assessment on property.

Monteverde also proposed new sources of revenue in order to relieve the burden on realty owners.

He suggested the auto license and gasoline tax collected by the state should revert to the city from which the tax is collected.

He declared the major part of real estate's tax increase in the last 10 years has been caused by street widenings and repavings necessary for automobile traffic and that there is no revenue from automobiles to help support the city government.

Shortage Discovered In Parkesburg Bank

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 21.—(AP.)—Peter G. Cameron, state secretary of banking, today revealed that a shortage of approximately $2,200 had been discovered by banking examiners in the accounts of Cashier Everett P. Hogg, of the Parkesburg State Bank. The shortage was covered by a bond and has already been made good, but prosecution will be brought against Hogg as soon as the facts can be laid before the district attorney under the state law making prosecution in such cases mandatory.

The money was lost by Hogg through speculating in the stock market, Secretary Cameron said.

Kentucky Election Fraud Trial Delayed

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 21.—(AP.)—The second trial of James A. Wallace, former state treasurer, on charges of forgery which was to start here tomorrow, has been postponed indefinitely due to the critical illness of Circuit Judge Ben G. Williams. Wallace is charged with having changed primary returns in an effort to win the Republican nomination for state auditor.

5,000 Worship At 'Miracle' Grave

MALDEN, Mass., April 21.—(AP.)—More than 5,000 persons visited Holy Cross Cemetery yesterday, nearly all stopping at the grave of the Rev. Patrick J. Power, which was the scene of pilgrimages of hundreds of thousands last fall, seeking miraculous cures.

It was the largest crowd to visit the cemetery since it was reopened to the public last month, but state troopers had no difficulty in keeping the throng moving.

REJECTION OF PARKER URGED

as the White House is concerned, Judge Parker is its candidate and the responsibility for his rejection will rest on the Senate.

Judge Parker, it was suggested, may himself initiate action to prevent rejection by voluntarily withdrawing his name from consideration. This would relieve the White House of any embarrassment and pave the way for President Hoover's submitting another name.

COMMITTEE'S VOTE

The vote in committee on reporting Parker's nomination was:

For confirmation — Gillette, Massachusetts; Waterman, Colorado; Hastings, Delaware; Herbert, Rhode Island, Republicans; Overman, North Carolina and Stephenson, Mississippi, Democrats (6).

Geologist Discounts Palm Trees in N. Y.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Long Island is unexcited over the possibility of being covered with waving palm trees. Capt. Sir Arthur Rostron, commander of the trans-Atlantic liner Berengaria, is inclined to think that the westward movement of the Gulf Stream will make the island tropical in nature. Dr. Frank L. Bryant, Brooklyn geologist, doubts that the course of the stream is changing.

$1,200 Currency Lost In Blaze at Mine

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 21.—Thirty-five miners were routed when fire destroyed the bunkhouse of the W. J. Rainey Company at Royal last night. One miner lost his savings of $700 and another $500 which they had hidden in mattresses.

A lighted cigaret is blamed for the blaze, which caused $2,500 loss in addition to the currency.

Corry Boy Hurt By Stray Bullet

CORRY, Pa., April 21.—(AP.)—Earl Dightman, 13, was shot through the ankle while he and two other boys were target shooting with a rifle.

Count of Jobless In Census Speeded

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Unemployment figures gathered in the census now under way are expected by Secretary Lamont to be ready within a few months after completion of the count.

He said today that while complete classification of the unemployed in the country probably would take nearly a year, a special bureau had been set up in the department to classify at the earliest possible time those who are actually out of work and are looking for jobs.

Nurse Out of Work Ends Life With Gas

Miss Booth came here last October from Wyoming, Pa., where her parents live. The body was found by her sister, Jane, who said Eleanor had been despondent because of her inability to find work.

Betty Compson Asks Divorce From Cruze

The actress, who separated from her husband last Friday, said Cruze's habit of entertaining large crowds at all hours in the couple's home prevented her from obtaining rest.

BORAH AROUSED BY ADDRESSES OF ALIENS

Attack on U. S. at Dinner Attended by President Reviewed Before Senate

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—The attention of the Senate was called today by Senator Borah, of the Foreign Relations Committee, to the addresses by Andrew Geraud, political editor of the Echo de Paris, and Wickham Stead, of the London Times, who severely condemned American isolation in international affairs at a dinner here Saturday attended by President Hoover.

HOOVER SPEAKS

Geraud and Stead bluntly denounced the attitude of America in international affairs in their speeches, made before the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

President Hoover sat beside the speakers at the dinners and listened attentively to their attacks upon American isolation.

The President's subsequent address was extemporaneous and with the distinct understanding that he was not speaking for publication.

Borah, who was not present at the banquet, told the Senate today he would have something more to say about it at a later time. It was believed at the Capitol that he would mention the speeches when the Senate considers the London naval treaty.

REFERS TO BORAH

Stead referred to Senator Borah in his speech. He said:

"We are afraid America would be a nuisance in the League of Nations."

He said the representatives of the other governments could speak with authority before the league, but the representatives of the United States would have to cable back to the Secretary of State, that the Secretary of State would have to consult with the President and that the President would then consult with Senator Borah.

DOG IN AVALON BITES SIX

Six persons in Avalon were recovering today from wounds inflicted by a pup which later died of rabies after it had been captured by employes of the Animal Rescue League.

These six were Mrs. Fred Krome, of 605 Center avenue; her two sons, Bobbie, 3, and Fred, 12; Charles Auth, 14; Mary Stokes, 8, Negro, of North Avalon, and Philip Schweitzer, father of Mrs. Krome. Each suffered one wound on the hand or leg.

Fred Krome and his playmate, Bobbie Auth, were taking the dog for a walk when the animal turned on them, and Mary Stokes was passing. The other attacks occurred in the Krome home.

Mrs. Krome said their pup—2½ months old and named Pal—had been bitten a few hours before on the nose by a dog. "Pal" died later in St. Francis Hospital.

U. S. EMPLOYE KILLS SHERIFF

BLOUNTSTOWN, Fla., April 21.—(AP.)—Sheriff C. D. Clark, of Calhoun County, was shot to death on a street here today by J. T. Blackwell, an employe of the Federal government.

Deputy Sheriff McClelland said Blackwell, apparently without warning, drew a pistol as Clark passed him on the street, and fired five or six times at his back. Three of the bullets struck the sheriff.

McClelland said ill feeling existed between Blackwell and Clark, for some time. Blackwell, the deputy said, was recently arraigned in court on a charge involving marital relations.

Blackwell was imprisoned to await the outcome of a coroner's investigation.

Hoover Signs Office Appropriation Bill

TINY PRINCESS RULES BRITAIN ON BIRTHDAY

Queen Mary Gives Zoo, King Presents Shetland Pony To 4-Year-Old Grandchild

WINDSOR, England, April 21.—(AP.)—A tiny golden-haired girl usurped the British throne without opposition this morning and for a brief spell ruled her native land with a charming grace that brought delighted plaudits from her subjects.

This day belonged to Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, and beloved granddaughter of King George and Queen Mary, for it was the fourth anniversary of her birth.

There was a wonderful birthday party in old Windsor Castle—such a party as the fairy books record for children to read all over the world. There were presents galore, including a mysterious package from Uncle David—the Prince of Wales—sent from Africa; a well-filled zoo from Queen Mary, and a shiny tricycle from her father and mother.

But perhaps the best gift of all was in the royal stables where King George had hidden one of the smallest Shetland ponies he could find. She was so delighted that when her party adjourned for a time to the castle grounds she waved excitedly to the thousands who had collected outside and cheered the princess wildly.

SHEARER FLAYS PEACE LOBBY

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(INS.)—Demand that a Senate committee investigate the activities of American pacifist organizations at the London naval conference was made today in an open letter to Senator Shortridge, (Rep.), California, by William B. Shearer, who was investigated by Shortridge's commission because of his activities at the Geneva conference in 1927.

After citing dispatches from London concerning activities of the Committee on the Outlawry of War, the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, the Foreign Policy Association and the National Council for Prevention of War, Shearer said:

"I was investigated for upholding the government's policies. Should not the above-named organizations be investigated for opposing the government's policies?"

Shearer suggested investigation not only of their activities, but nationalities and sources of income "as was done in my case."

DRYS QUOTED IN 'BUYER' TEST

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(INS.)—Congress refused to make liquor buyers equally guilty with sellers when enacting the Eighteenth Amendment, attorneys for James E. Farrar, of Boston, declared in a brief filed in the Supreme Court today.

The attorneys, James A. Cresswell and William H. Lewis, answered the government's appeal to sustain an indictment against Farrar charging him with buying liquor from Frank Rotondo, of Medford, Mass.

Senator Sheppard (Dem.) of Texas, author of the Eighteenth Amendment, who now is leading a fight for legislation making liquor buyers guilty, was quoted as opposing such a provision in the amendment.

Attorneys for Farrar also quoted Senator Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, and Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, outstanding drys, as opposing the idea. The latter was quoted as saying it would make prosecutions more difficult, as buyers would not give evidence if they were subject to prosecution.

Pleads Not Guilty In Dry Slayings

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 21.—George W. Moore, reputed bootlegger, pleaded not guilty in Criminal Court here today on a second degree murder charge and was placed on trial for the slaying on January 18 of two prohibition agents, Robert K. Moncure and Franklin R. Patterson, when they went to his home in search of liquor.

A coroner's jury returnd a verdict of first degree murder, but the county grand jury, which subsequently indicted Moore, held that the shooting was not premeditated and reduced the charge to second degree murder.

Rare Milton Volume Senator Reed's Gift

LONDON, April 21.—(AP.)—Prime Minister MacDonald last night revealed that Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, American delegate to the Naval Conference, had presented a copy of the first edition of John Milton's "Paradise Lost," to Milton's cottage.

A statement from the prime minister said he recently had the opportunity of taking Senator Reed around Milton's cottage at Chalfont St. Giles and the presentation was the result of this visit.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH

The Prince of Wales cabled congratulations from Egypt to little Princess Elizabeth, his niece, today on her fourth birthday. Elizabeth is the daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York and is likely to become Britain's monarch if Wales does not marry.

COUZENS FACES GREEN PRIMARY

LANSING, Mich., April 21.—(AP.)—Gov. Fred W. Green intimated today he might enter the Republican primary campaign against Senator James Couzens. The Governor said that when anyone "wages a fight as bad as Senator Couzens does, someone should give battle to him."

Green's statement was occasioned by publication Saturday of correspondence between Couzens and Elbert H. Fowler, chairman of the Michigan Republican Club. Fowler solicited Couzens' support of the club, pointing out that affiliation with the organization might guarantee the Michigan senator renomination without opposition. Couzens was reluctant to join the club and said he preferred opposition.

Gov Green, persistentnly rumored as a senatorial candidate, has indicated he will not seek a third term as governor. He said today it is too early to make announcement regarding his plans. Attorney General Wilbur M. Bruckner announced his candidacy for governor today.

Huge Wave Sweeps Resort in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—(AP.)—Holy Week excursionists returning from Acapulco, Pacific seaport, reported that a gigantic wave swept over hundreds of automobiles parked on the beach there, drenching many tourist campers. Many large fish were left stranded.

Supreme Court To Recess May 5

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(INS.)—The Supreme Court today announced suspension of arguments for the term after May 2. The court will recess from May 5 to 19.

DEMOCRATS AID HOOVER ON TREATY

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—President Hoover is going to rely to a considerable extent upon Democratic leadership to smooth out the bumps that lie in the path of the London naval treaty in the Senate.

Oddly enough, it appears that Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, minority leader and a member of the American delegation, will bear the brunt of the treaty's defense when it comes up for ratification. The opposition, already smoldering, comes from the President's own party.

Senator Hale (Rep.), of Maine, chairman of the Naval Committee, and on nearly all questions the most regular of regulars, has already served notice of his intention of challenging the terms of the treaty wherein the American delegates sacrificed the policy of building only eight-inch heavy cruisers.

DEFENDED ON RADIO

Robinson, to some extent, already has assumed the role of the treaty's champion. His radio address from London Sunday was part of the preparation. Frankly admitting that the conference has not been a complete success, when considered from the five-power standpoint, Robinson nevertheless asserted that important results were achieved in the three months at London, and that what failures there were could not be charged against the Americans, but rather to France and Italy.

This will be the keynote of the administration's position in the fight over ratification—in short, that everything that could be accomplished was accomplished, and that the treaty deserves ratification for what it contains rather than rejection because of its shortcomings.

PACT SIGNING TOMORROW

LONDON, April 21.—(INS.)—Three months to the day from the time it first assembled, the London naval conference today sent to the printer the result of its long efforts.

The jurists' committee of the conference met this morning to make a final examination of proofs of the treaty. It is printed in French and English in parallel columns, and runs to approximately 8,000 words.

All delegates of the five powers will assemble at a plenary session tomorrow to sign on behalf of their countries, and the long-awaited trek toward home will begin soon afterward.

Secretary of State Stimson is scheduled to be the first to attach his signature to the document. Immediately below his signature will be those of the other six American delegates. Then will come the French, British, British Dominions, Italians and Japanese, in the order stated.

STIMSON LAUDS PACT BY RADIO

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(INS.)—The naval agreement reached at London has done more to demonstrate that diplomacy can take the place of war than anything that has happened since the World War, because it is an affirmative plan for the promotion of good relations, Secretary of State Stimson, in a radio speech from London, told the Associated Press at its annual meeting in New York today.

He said mere negative opposition to war is not sufficient, that progress in civilization comes only from the affirmative habits of good will.

Stimson asserted competitive armament, whether accompanied or not by good intentions, will lead to war. Limitation, with constant effort to forestall war by creating confidence and friendliness between nations, will prevent the seeds of war from growing, he added.

Greetings from President Hoover were conveyed to the meeting by Frank B. Noyes, president of Associated Press.

Swindler Found in Want Freed by Old Friend

NEWARK, N. J., April 21.—(AP.)—Two old friends faced each other across the judge's desk in Federal Court today and one gave the other a suspended sentence and placed him on probation for two years.

"You have been punished enough," Judge Guy L. Fake told Abram Cornelius, former Englewood bank cashier, who was found in a Wyoming boo house 15 years after he had fled with his stenographer and $81,709.

Cornelius bowed his head and wept.

In the courtroom he was reunited to his daughter, Mrs. Arthur B. Reeves, whom he deserted 15 years ago. He was placed in the custody of his son-in-law.

Then, with Mr. and Mrs. Reeves and another daughter, Mrs. A. C. Meehan, also of Englewood, he left in an automobile.

The stenographer with whom Cornelius eloped, Mrs. Loretta Adelgais Cornelius, is in an insane asylum in Cheyenne, Wyo. They were married a year ago, after Cornelius' first wife died in Englewood. Their three children are wards of that state.

Their money gone, Cornelius returned to spend the rest of his days in a poorhouse and his wife became afflicted with a mental disease attributed to overwork in her attempt to support the family.

Hoover's First Veto Bars Memorial Coinage

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(INS.)—President Hoover, in his first formal veto, today returned to the House a bill which would have authorized the coining of 10,000 silver 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Gadsden purchase.

In a special message of rejection to the House, Mr. Hoover pointed out that in the past 10 years 15 such special coins to an aggregate of over 13,000,000 pieces have been authorized, with five additional bills still pending for such coinage.

He said he viewed the growing practice of issuing commemorative coins as running contrary to the principles upon which the monetary systems of the country were established, and made counterfeiting easier because of the variegated designs printed on the coins.

This was President Hoover's first outright veto of a bill passed by the seventy-first Congress. The President subjected a minor bridge bill to a pocket veto during the Christmas holidays but on that occasion sent no message.

Aimee Baptizes Disciples In River Jordan

JERUSALEM, April 21.—(AP.)—Aimee Semple MacPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, today said that although she had come to Palestine only to enjoy a holiday, she could not help baptising her disciples in the Jordan.

The ceremony took place Saturday afternoon when Mrs. MacPherson, with a party of 64, made a motor trip to the Jordan. Twelve of her disciples were dipped into the water at the spot where Christ is believed to have been baptised. Policemen held their hand to prevent them from drowning.

Yesterday Mrs. MacPherson stood under the Fock Garden tomb believed by Protestants to be Christ's sepuchre and read the Bible to her disciples. She left for Galilee this morning.

Her visit to Palestine, she said, had been the "most inspiring and wonderful" part of her journey round half the world. She intends staying at Tiberius tonight, makin ga boat trip on the Sea of Galilee and then going to Galilee and Damascus.

TROOPS HUNT INDIA REBELS IN HILLS

60 Who Killed 7 in Attack On Armory Make Escape; Gandhi Deplores Violence

CALCUTTA, April 21.—Widespread search was made today in the sand hills behind Chittagong for 60 members of the band of raiders which stormed the Chittagong armory, killing seven of its defenders.

The hunt was started immediately after the arrival at Chittagong of two companies of Eastern Frontier Rifles, who were rushed there from Calcutta. Five of the raiders were recognized and arrested, but the majority of the insurgents made a successful getaway to the hills.

ARMORIES GUARDED

Throughout Bengal Province extraordinary precautions are being taken to forestall any new outbreak of violence. Armories and gunshops continue to be heavily guarded.

Four Bengal extremist leaders, including Dr. Beharly Ganguly, president of the Bengal Congress Committee, were arrested at Rayshahi during a session of the provincial conference. Other important arrests are expected.

GANDHI DEPLORES ACTION

BOMBAY, April 21.—(AP.)—Last week's disorders at Chittagong were deplored by Mahatma Gandhi, Indian Nationalist leader, in an interview here last night. At the same time he said that the civil disobedience campaign for India's independence must continue, and declared:

"I observe that the viceroy answered the Chittagong disturbances by the exercise of his extraordinary powers; that was only to be expected. As long as the British people are determined to impose their rule upon an unwilling people, so long must their rule be in reality without law. We in India easily delude ourselves with the belief that we have duly constituted legislatures; presently there will be none left with any such delusions. The civil resisters must therefore fight an unequal struggle against the violence of the government and the violence of those among us who have no faith in non-violence."

RED CHEERS SILENCED IN COURT

Three of Five Communists Address Judge, Denounce Convictions as Unjust

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—William Z. Foster, Robert Minor, Israel Amter and Harry Raymond, found guilty of unlawful assembly in the "Red Thursday" riot of last month in Union Square, today were sentenced to indeterminate penitentiary terms. Under the law the sentences may run anywhere from one day to three years, at the discretion of the state board of parole.

Joseph Lester, the fifth man convicted of unlawful assembly, was given a 30-day sentence. The sentences were imposed by Justices Max Salomon, James J. McInerney and Daniel F. Murphy, of the Court of Special Sessions.

EXPLAINS LIGHT TERM

Lester was given the light sentence, the justices said, because he was merely an instrument in the hands of the others, whom the court described as the "prime movers."

A strong police detail was stationed about the Criminal Courts Building today as the five Communists were sentenced.

Despite this guard, a crowd managed to slip into the court room. Attaches quelled an attempt to cheer as the prisoners were led in.

Suspending court routine, the men immediately were taken before the bar where Foster and Minor demanded to be heard.

Foster leaped to his feet after being forced into a chair by court attendants and the judges listened patiently while he protested against the procedure in his arrest, trial and conviction. His attorney finally made him sit down. Foster said:

"The breaking up of the parade, holding us without bail, trumping up of these charges, the denial of our right to a jury trial, carrying us before judges with minds made up, is an excellent example of capitalistic justice, used for the suppression of the workers' rights."

OTHERS ALSO SPEAK

Minor, editor of a radical newspaper, also demanded the right to speak in his behalf before the sentences were meted out. He said:

"This is obviously a final effort to prevent the workers from the right of citizenry to use the public streets and squares as constitutionally permitted."

Amter also was allowed to speak, but was ruled down when he started attacking the court. Raymond also received permission to talk, declaring:

"This is typical of the biased capitalistic justice and it is in line with the justice so generously and malignantly meted to our Massachusetts comrades."

The courtroom and halls were cleared before the prisoners were taken away to the tombs.

In indeterminate sentences the State Parole Board seldom considers a case until the prisoner has served at least six months.

PORTER JAILED IN GIRL'S DEATH

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—A porter in a telephone company building at Long Island City was arrested charged with homicide in the death of a telephone operator in the building Saturday night.

The porter, James Hughes, 26, of Flushing, was held in $10,000 bail after another telephone operator charged he kicked Mrs. Stephanie Werner, 22, into an elevator shaft after attempting to kiss her. Mrs. Werner died of her injuries.

Mrs. Werner and Miss Barbara Westlake entered the building late Saturday night to go to work. There was no elevator operator in sight and Hughes offered to take them up.

Miss Westlake said Hughes stopped the elevator between the third and fourth floors and attempted to kiss Mrs. Werner. She opened the door and sought to leap to the third floor landing, but Hughes, Miss Westlake said, kicked her so that she struck the edge of the third floor landing and fell 60 feet to the bottom of the shaft.

SEEK LONE MAN WHO KILLED 3

CHICAGO, April 21.—(INS.)—The science of ballistics was set to work today in an attempt to trace the identity of the lone executioner who yesterday entered the notorious Blue Hour Saloon here and put three gangsters on the "spot."

Police theories as to the motive for the Easter morning killings ranged from a liquor gang feud to hostilities fomented in the First Ward last primary day. Another clew was seen in the fact that Joseph Special, one of the victims, was a worker for "Scarface" Al Capone, generalissimo of Chicago's major gangs. The other two slain were Walter Wakefield and Frank Delray, proprietors of the saloon.

A search for bullets revealed two pellets, which police submitted to Lieut. Col. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert, for scrutiny as to markings.

Crash in Fog Halts Flight to Australia

ABBEYVILLE, France, April 21—(AP.)—An English aviator, Parkerson, who left Croydon, England at 5:45 a. m., for Australia, with Rome as the first stop, became lost in a fog and collided with a tree in the village of Darquel this morning.

His airplane caught fire as it crashed, but Parkerson, who was flying alone, succeeded in extricating himself quickly, suffering only slight burns.

4 Persons Killed In Election Clash

BUENOS AIRES, April 21.—(INS.)—Four persons, including two children, are dead and more than 50 wounded as the result of a conflict between political factions and police at Santa Rosa, in the province of Cordoba.

The battle occurred when police attempted to break up a political meeting. One of the orators fired at the local chief of police, who then ordered his men to fire into the crowds.

Six Bandits Rob 70 Of $6,000 Taxi Fares

CHICAGO, April 21.—(INS.)—More than $6,000 was taken by six bandits who raided the Yellow Cab garage here. They held 70 persons at bay with pistols, shotguns and a machine gun.

The bandits raided the garage when drivers were turning in their receipts yesterday.

Meningitis Victim Kills Three in India

SIMLA, India, April 21.—Two Europeans, employes of the Imperial Bank of India, Dunsmore and Hutchinson by name, were shot to death by a native non-commissioned officer at an outpost near Khyber Pass.

A native soldier also was shot dead by the same man, who was promptly shot and killed himself by a guard. Medical examination showed that the man was suffering from meningitis.

Noted Commercial Artist Killed by Bus

CHICAGO, April 21.—(INS.)—Miss Vee West, widely-known commercial artist, was dead here today from injuries suffered last night when she was struck by a motor bus. Cameron Brown, a nephew, who was accompanying her, suffered injuries which may bring death.

Guatemalan Capital Without Stairways

GUATEMALA CITY, April 21.—(AP.)—This city, capital of the Guatemalan republic, is entirely without stairways. Earthquakes are the reason. Second and third stories were abandoned when the city was rebuilt after a disastrous quake in 1916.

Slayer of Officer Gets Life Sentence

YORK, Pa., April 21.—(AP.)—Jacob Troup, who shot and killed Motorcycle Officer Curtis D. Sowers, of North York, when the officer attempted to serve a warrant on Troup at his home at Bald Hill, on May 1, 1929, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary by Judge Ray P. Sherwood today. A motion for a new trial was denied.

Troup was convicted of murder in the first degree and the jury recommended life imprisonment.

Boy Badly Injured As Train Hits Car

ERIE, Pa., April 21.—(AP.)—Charles Carli, 8, was brought to a hospital here late last night in a critical condition from injuries received at Ripley, N. Y., when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a train. The boy lives in Westfield, N. Y.

Flags Aid Flirting In Berlin Cabarets

BERLIN, April 21.—(AP.)—There are flags of various colors on the tables at the cabarets for flirting. Red means that a fair patron accepts an invitation to dance, green that she refuses. Other hues have various shades of meaning.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 21.—Coal companies are reported to have been active in the Carmichaels section during the past few days securing options on the Mapletown vein of coal. Prices of $200 per acre are reported.

WIFE, ADMIRER TRIED IN DEATH

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 21—(INS.)—Indicted with Otto Sanhuber on a charge of slaying her husband, Fred Oesterreich, former garment manufacturer of Milwaukee, Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich is expected to plead not guilty in Superior Court here today.

At the same time Sanhuber probably will file a motion for separate trial. His counsel already has entered pleas of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity.

Oesterreich was killed here eight years ago. At that time his wife asserted he was shot by burglars. She was held on a murder charge, but the case was dismissed. Recently Sanhuber, police said, confessed that he shot the manufacturer.

The case was given a bizarre twist when Sanhuber admitted living in secret rooms in various homes occupied by the manufacturer and his wife, he said, that he might be near the woman.

FOREIGN BOOKS BAN LOOSENED

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Deferring action on the Senate export and debenture and flexible provisions and other major controversies over the administrative clauses of the tariff bill, the congressional conferees on the measure today agreed upon the Senate amendment liberalizing existing restrictions on importations of literature.

Democratic spokesmen are anticipating the spirited debate that the conference report on the tariff bill is expected to arouse, with vigorous denunciations of the rates agreed upon by the conferees.

In statements issued for publication today, Senator Wheeler, of Montana, and Representative Garner, of Texas, the party leader in the House, asserted the conference committee was ignoring the farmer and placing the highest possible duty on industrial commodities.

Brownsville Man, Ill for Year, Dies

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., April 21.—Oliver J. Troth, 79, a lifelong resident here, died yesterday following a year's illness. Three sons, William H., and George J., of Brownsville, and Albert Dean Troth, of Sharon, Pa., survive.

Lindy Gives Wife Credit In Cross-Country Flight That Set New Record

lieves that such flights will follow along the trail he blazed across the country. He said:

"This is only one flight, and I hope to make others. I can say nothing at this time on the result of only one experiment. However, I believe transport flying in the future will go to higher levels, first the air mail and later passenger planes."

He said they flew at from 10,000 to 15,000 feet altitude most of the way, except for the last stretch into New York.

WIFE SMILES, THEN CRIES

Both were smiling on arrival as they faced a battery of cameras and a crowd of between 1,500 and 2,000 who waited since early afternoon.

Lindbergh's face was dirty and appeared drawn. Mrs. Lindbergh looked as fresh as though she had just stepped out of their home for a stroll down Park avenue.

As the colonel clambered out of the forward cockpit and aided mechanics in wheeling the plane into a hangar, Mrs. Lindbergh remained in the plane, her head ducked down to avoid the stare of the curious crowd, which attempted to push its way into the hangar. When all but a handful were cleared out, the colonel assisted her out into their auto.

As they drove out of the hangar, a state trooper said, Mrs. Lindbergh, apparently more tired than she appeared, burst into tears, and the colonel leaned over to comfort her.

HEADWINDS ENCOUNTERED

Although there is no way in which to record the number of miles traveled by a plane in a long flight, the air line distance from Los Angeles to Wichita and from Wichita to New York, figured on a great circle route by spherical trigonometry, gives the distance as 2,479 miles—1,194 to Wichita and 1,285 from Wichita to New York.

On the time between these points it was figured the Lindberghs averaged 174.2 miles an hour from Glendale to Wichita and 171.3 miles from Wichita to New York.

The colonel said he had encountered head winds in spots on the last leg of the flight, which would account for the decrease.

Because of the high altitudes at which they flew, where they encountered temperatures of several degrees below zero, the Lindbergs wore heavy, fur-lined flying suits, boots and gloves. Both wore parachutes.

Weather Conditions.

A low pressure area of marked intensity is centered over Lake Superior and extends southward to another center over Northern Ohio. The disturbance is causing cloudy weather over the entire country east of the Mississippi, with showers in the Ohio Valley state and the lake region. The rainfall was light, except in a few localities, where moderately heavy amounts fell. The high pressure area that produced the fair weather over this section yesterday is now off the Atlantic coast, and another high appears over the Canadian Northwest. The Northwest high is causing low temperatures over the Canadian provinces and unseasonably cold over the Border states. Elsewhere the temperatures are near the seasonal normal.

Ex-Commissioner Of Mercer Co. Dies

GREENVILLE, Pa., April 21.—William Cossitt, 76, former county commissioner, died at the local hospital, after a long illness. He served on the board in 1918-19 and was later elected Mercer County treasurer, but was unable to serve because of a state law. He was a Democrat.

EX-PITTSBURGH WOMAN SAVED

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 21.—(AP.)—A fire that originated in the basement of the Clayton Hotel tonight and swept upward through the elevator shaft menaced the lives of 60 guests registered there and caused damage estimated by W. L. Brown, hotel manager, at from $5,000 to $10,000.

Mrs. Cloyd Fluke, formerly of Pittsburgh, Pa., was carried from a smoke-filled third-story window down a ladder by firemen. Her husband was able to get down the ladder without aid. Several other women guests were assisted down fire escapes to safety.

Mrs. Blanche Fluke, 1320 Tennessee avenue, Dormont, an aunt of Mrs. Cloyd Fluke, says her niece has not lived in Pittsburgh for several years. She is at present a resident of Roaring Springs, Blair County.

Crazed Man Kills His Wife on Street

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 21.—(AP.)—Robert Neighbors, 45, shot his wife, Nannie, 36, on a busy suburban street last night and then, standing over her body with a pistol, held witnesses, who sought to aid her, at bay until she was dead.

Neighbors surrendered to officers without a struggle after assuring himself his wife was dead. At the Buncombe County jail, where he was held without bond, he refused to make any statement. Police said he apparently was intoxicated.

2 HELD FOR QUIZ IN PRISON RIOT

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 21.—(AP.)—Two prisoners were dead, and three others—one a guard—were suffering from gun shot wounds as a result of an attempt by convicts of the Rhode Island State Prison at Cranston to fight their way to freedom Saturday afternoon.

Two civilian suspects were held for questioning by police.

Search was under way for two other outsiders who were held responsible for precipitating the riot by passing out guns and who escaped in a hail of gunfire while fighting was in progress in the prison.

The two held for questioning were John Caldelmo and John Colarusso, who were visiting Thomas Carmelo, alias Tommy Conley, a prisoner, at the time of the outbreak.

Mother Kills Two Children and Self

STAMFORD, Conn., April 21.—(AP.)—Mrs. Edna W. Minckler, 33, and her two children, Arthur, 7, and Eleanor, 6, were found dead in the woman's gas-filled bedroom here last night. Police said she had taken her own life and those of her children in a fit of despondency.

Jazz Orchestra Opens Broadway Hotel Church

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—With a dance orchestra playing a syncopated arrangement of "The Pilgrims' Chorus" from "Tannhauser," New York's most modern church, housed in a $3,000,000 23-story apartment hotel, opened its doors to Broadway last night.

The Rev. Dr. Edward H. Emett introduced the orchestra of Paul Specht—a complete jazz orchestra, save for drums—in Manhattan Congregational Church, in the new Manhattan Towers Hotel, at Seventy-sixth street and Broadway.

The music was played by two saxophones, a trombone, clarinet, banjo, guitar, violin and piano.

Specht said it wasn't exactly jazz, but rather "symphonic selections."

The orchestral numbers were interspersed with the regular events of the church service—a short sermon, prayers, selections by the choir, and offertory duet. The choir sang typical Easter music.

25,000 in Easter Dawn Service Heard on Radio

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—(Universal).—At the foot of a shining cross on the brow of San Francisco's loftiest hill, a multitude of worshipers knelt at dawn.

Little children, boys and girls, men and women of all ages were in the throng that made the toilsome pilgrimage through the star-flecked darkness to the top of Mt. Davidson for the eighth annual sunrise Easter service.

Quietly, reverently, in nature's own cathedral, they listened to the soaring music that sang of hope; joyously they chanted the hymns that told the story of man's quest for immortality.

And as the first golden beams of dawn shone down through the treetops, they heard the Rev. Lynn T. White describe the miracle of the resurrection.

Clarence F. Pratt, chairman of the annual observance, estimated the throng which crowded the summit of Mt. Davidson at 25,000 persons. But these were the merest fraction of those who heard the services. At their radio receivers across America, millions listened in on San Francisco's unique Easter worship over a national hookup to the entire continent—the first time that the Mt. Davidson program has gone on the air.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(Universal)—Voices of 25,000 persons raised in one of the most impressive Easter song services ever held were heard throughout the United States.

This was made possible through co-operation of the Hearst Radio Service and a nation-wide network. The ceremonies and music were heard distinctly here.

PINCHOT HITS BROWN ISSUES

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP.)—Gifford Pinchot, principal opponent of Francis Shunk Brown for the gubernatorial nomination, issued a formal statement last night, criticizing Brown's recent declaration of principles.

declaration of principles. The statement said in part:

"The politics of duck, straddle, wriggle and squirm never had a more perfect demonstration. Take the Public Service Commission, which everybody knows is the catspaw of the public utilities. I propose to abolish it. Brown's platform leaves it alone to please the public utilities.

"But the ignobliest straddle in the whole document is when Mr. Brown dodges behind the Election Commission, of which he is chairman, to avoid taking any position in the matter of clean elections.

"On the subject of coal and iron police it is obvious that Brown would have said nothing unless I had said something first.

"From the point of view of a man who proposes to put the Philadelphia gang in control of the state government at Harrisburg free from any embarrassing commitments, Mr. Brown's platform fills the bill." As a declaration of a candidate's principles it is a duck, a straddle, a wriggle, and a squirm."

Three of Family Flee From Flames

SHARON, Pa., April 21.—Three members of the Frank Fabien family were forced to flee in their night clothes when fire gutted their home.

Truck Smashes Plug, Puts Town Out of Water

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 21.—A truck of the Penn-Wheeling motor lines crashed, snapped off a water plug in Claysville, causing the town to be without water for five hours. The machine hit the plug after colliding with an automobile driven by Harry Slemmon, of West Finley. Slemmons escaped injury.

CHAIR FOR REDS, AIM OF GEORGIA

ATLANTA, Ga., April 21.—(INS.)—M. H. Powers and Joe Carr, young Communists, were called to trial in Fulton Superior Court today charged with attempting to incite an insurrection and circulating insurrectionary literature.

The State of Georgia is trying to send them to the electric chair under a 65-year-old law which characterizes these allegations as a capital offense.

Powers and Carr were arrested March 9 when the police nipped a potential "Red Day" demonstration.

Militant Communists, who were active at Gastonia in the campaign to organize 300,000 textile workers, have interested themselves in the trial, which they term "persecution."

Risks Fire to Save Family From Home

LONG BEACH, Cal., April 21.—(INS.)—Believing his family was trapped in their burning home, Larmon Whitson entered the blazing structure to rescue them. His family had already fled. Whitson was so badly burned he may die.

PINCHOT, DAVIS WIN SUPPORT

Brownsville, Uniontown, Connellsville, Greensburg, Somerset and Johnstown.

The second tour will begin in Philadelphia May 5.

WOMEN TO MEET

Mrs. A. L. Fillmore is scheduled to deliver a campaign speech for Pinchot at a women's meeting tomorrow in the Sixth Presbyterian Church. Mrs. George McKee will preside, according to Mrs. Lois Downs McBride, chairman of the women's division of the Pinchot-For-Governor campaign.

Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence, vice-chairman of the Pinchot committee, will speak Thursday at a neighborhood meeting in the home of Mrs. George H. Albertson, 5700 Stanton avenue.

State Senator James J. Coyne and S. C. Jamison are expected to announce today the names of the committee that will greet Senator Joseph R. Grundy upon his arrival here tomorrow to open his local campaign to succeed himself.

ANTI-DRYS COMING HERE

Candidates on the anti-dry ticket will be in Pittsburgh headquarters in the Magee Building, Fourth avenue, Thursday for conferences with local leaders and to greet supporters. The candidates are Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., for governor; Francis H. Bohlen, for United States Senator, and Charles Dorrance, for lieutenant governor.

F. E. Shaughnessy, Allegheny County chairman for the Phillips-Bohlen-Dorrance anti-dry ticket, will speak Wednesday night over KDKA in the first of eight radio addresses in favor of the candidates.

Attorney Jacob Shulgold, of the Fourteenth Ward, has begun an active campaign for the Republican nomination as assemblyman from the Sixth Legislative District.

Boy, 17, Killed, Shock Fatal to Grandmother

MOUNT VERNON, Tex., April 21.—(AP.)—Joint funeral services will be held here tomorrow for a 17-year-old baseball player and his 82-year-old grandmother who died from shock after being told the youth had been killed by a pitched ball.

J. Stant Campbell was killed when he was hit on the head during a game yesterday at Purley, Tex. Mrs. J. Stant Davis, also of Purley, died soon after being told of the accident.

COUZENS' RAIL PLAN BACKED

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Unqualified approval of the Couzens resolution, proposing to suspend all railroad consolidations until Congress enacts additional legislation covering them, was voiced today by Chairman Momanamy, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Saying the Couzens proposal in its present form is in line with what the commission has recommended for some five years, the commission chairman dissented from the position of the majority of the commission.

Ten of the 11 members of the commission have declared themselves favorable to legislation to regulate railroad holding companies, but unwilling to indorse suspension of direct consolidations as directed by the transportation act of 1920.

BECK SUPPORTS DAVIS, BROWN

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP.)—Support of the Davis-Brown ticket to further the "wet" cause is urged by Congressman James M. Beck at the beginning of the fourth week before the May 20 primary.

Mr. Beck, candidate for re-election, declared in Washington that the best chance of Pennsylvania aiding the repeal or modification of present prohibition laws is to elect Secretary of Labor James J. Davis as United States Senator, and Brown. The congressman holds that votes cast for Thomas W. Phillips, candidate of the anti-prohibition group for the governorship, will aid Pinchot.

Republican organization ward leaders of this city have been asked by Randolph W. Childs, campaign manager for the Bohlen-Phillips "wet" ticket, to say how they stand upon prohibition and on the question of modifying the so-called Sunday "blue laws" so as to permit baseball on Sunday. The questionnaire is in the form of an open letter.

HAITI ELECTS ROY HEAD

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, April 21.—(AP.)—Eugene Roy was unanimously elected temporary president of Haiti by the Council of State today.

President-elect Roy is to assume office next month when the term of President Borno will expire. He will hold office until regular elections can be held for the presidency.

Mr. Roy's election was in accordance with the recommendations of the Hoover commission which suggested him after virtually all of the political elements in Haiti had approved him as a non-partisan candidate.

W. Va. Man May Head Civil Service

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Representative Bowman, (Rep.), of West Virginia, today said President Hoover had offered H. C. Greer, of Morgantown, W. Va., the chairmanship of the United States Civil Service Commission Saturday. William C. Deming, who holds the post at present, recently tendered his resignation to be a candidate for senator from Wyoming.

Senator Hatfield, (Rep.), of West Virginia, and Representative Bowman had recommended appointment of Greer to a diplomatic post.

Student Strike Over, College Head Says

HARROGATE, Tenn., April 21.—(AP.)—Dr. H. Robinson Shipperd, new president of Lincoln Memorial University, said the student strike is over and forecast a return of normal conditions at the institution today. He said:

"Justice, mercy and intelligence will be used in straightening out the entangled affairs."

Dr. Shiperd added that it probably would be several days before the status of 25 expelled students is defined.

Son Finds Mother Victim of Gas

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP.)—Alarmed when he was unable to find his mother upon awakening early today, William Tenay, 10, started to search through the house. He found her dying beside a gas range, with a jet open. The woman, Mrs. Julia Tenay, 46, died a short time later in a hospital. Her husband said she had been despondent since she suffered a nervous breakdown several months ago.

Cheap Tickets Bring Boom in Air Rides

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—An experiment to determine whether expense or fear is keeping people out of the air has been made under the auspices of the American Society for the Promotion of Aviation. Twelve planes were put into service at Jackson Heights, carrying passengers for $1 to $5 each, depending upon the length of the ride. At dark 5,182 tickets, mostly for $1 each, had been sold.

Car, Cycle Crash; Two Men Injured

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., April 21.—Two men were injured and a third escaped unhurt when a motorcycle collided with an automobile along the Brodhead road Sunday afternoon.

Paul Mihalko, 36, and Steve Wasyl, 27, both of Aliquippa, riders on the motorcycle, were treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises. Laverne Blinn, of New Brighton, driver of the car, escaped injury, police reported.

$220,000 Given For Franklin Museum

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP.)—A gift of $220,000 by A. Atwater Kent, of Philadelphia, for the construction of a museum of Graphic Arts as a part of the Benjamin Franklin Memorial and Franklin Institute Museum to be erected on the Parkway here, was announced yesterday.

Exhibits planned for the Graphic Arts Museum include Benjamin Franklin's composing table, his original printing press, and some of his own books and manuscripts, which he printed.

Other exhibitions will reveal the development of engraving on steel, stone and wood, photo-engraving, electro-engraving, aqua-tone process, mechanical typesetting machines and power presses. All machinery will be power driven and can be operated by visitors.

AUSTRIAN FILM CURB SCORED

BERLIN, April 21.—(Universal.)—The Austrian film contingent, aimed specifically at American films and part of the general European offensive against Hollywood, has been bitterly attacked by a special investigator of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.

"In order to import and release their films in Austria," says the investigator, who asks that his name be withheld, "American companies are forced to go to their competitors, the Austrian producers, in order to obtain contingent permits, and the Austrian producers demand as high a price as they can obtain."

WOMAN BRANDS BONNER CHEAT

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(INS.)—Hinting at possible grand jury action unless she is vindicated, Mrs. Minnie L. Ward, suspended clerk of the Federal Power Commission, today made public charges she filed with President Hoover against F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the commission.

Suspended for insubordination after she had thrown six eggs at F. W. Griffith, chief clerk of the commission, Mrs. Ward's charges relate to the alleged stripping of the commission's files to hide Bonner's alleged power trust backing when the commission was under investigation recently by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

She charges conspiracy between Bonner and Griffith to conceal or destroy important documents.

Father, 4 Children Meet Death in Fire

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—A father and four of his children were burned to death yesterday when fire swept their apartment on the top floor of a two-story brick dwelling in Brooklyn.

The dead are: Christopher Johnson, 63, and his children, Clara, 18; Gladys, 16; Elwood, 14, and Harold, 9.

Mrs. Johnson, who is 60, suffered severe burns of the body and received a fracture of the skull when she jumped from her bedroom window. The eldest son, Christopher, Jr., 23, also jumped. He suffered severe burns and lacerations of the hand.

High School Boy Hurt by Javelin

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., April 21.—John Verbanc, 17, member of the high school track team, was struck in the thigh by a javelin during a practice meet. The injury will keep him out of track activities the rest of the season.

Two Girls Killed By Passenger Train

BELLAIRE, O., April 21.—Rose Mazi, 13, and Annie Mazi, 9, were fatally hurt when hit by a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train near their home at Glencoe. They were walking on the track.

Betrothed Twenty Years Ago, They Wed at 25

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Twenty years ago Harry C. Perry, Democratic leader of the Second Assembly district and chief clerk of the City Court, said to his friend, Dan Shea, another Tammany stalwart:

"From the way my Johnny's talking to your Maggie, it looks like they'll be married some day."

Dan Shea retorted:

"Why not? Call it an engagement. It's all right with me."

So John Perry, 5, became engaged to Margarite Shea, 5.

Yesterday they were married in St. James' Roman Catholic Church.

Dan Shea was not there. He died eight years ago.

3 POLICE KILLED IN RED RIOTING

LEIPZIG, April 21.—(Universal.)—A pitched street battle between Communists and police broke the Easter Sunday calm of this usually quiet Saxon city. Today, when peace had been restored, three policemen lay dead, seven others, gravely wounded, were close to death in hospitals, while scores were treated for injuries.

It is believed that 30 or 40 Communists were hit by police bullets, but since they retreated bearing their wounded with them no official count of their casualties could be made.

The fighting started when 30,000 Communists, gathered here in a congress from all parts of Germany, decided to stage a parade at the height of the Easter religious services in Leipzig's many churches.

Today is the last day of the congress. They have been granted permission to stage another parade. It is expected that due to the tense feeling prevailing another clash will result.

Turtle Creek Men Hurt in Overturn

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 21.—E. D. Kenyon and Frank Curtis, both of Turtle Creek, were injured early Sunday morning when their automobile was forced from the highway. Both were given treatment at the Connellsville State Hospital.

DRY TEXT BOOKS HIT IN FRANCE

PARIS, April 21.—(AP.)—French children may no longer be taught in state school rooms that strong drink is an evil.

Wine growers and manufacturers of spirituous liquors made a concerted attack in the Chamber of Deputies recently on certain text books in use in public schools with the result that the minister of education, Pierre Marraud, promised that phrases which disparaged wine drinking inaccurately described the making of distilled beverages and lauded prohibition practices of the United States or other countries would be eliminated.

The fight, led by Edouard Barthe, representative of the wine-growing department of Herault, centered on a book called "The Natural Sciences." It is used by hygiene classes of secondary schools.

EDDA PREPARES FOR WEDDING

ROME, April 21.—(INS.)—Preparations neared completion today for the wedding of Edda Mussolini, daughter of Italy's premier, to Count Galleazo Ciano, secretary of the Italian embassy in the Vatican City.

The wedding is to take place Thursday at the Chigi palace residence of Il Duce.

It was learned that Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, will not return to London for the signing of the naval treaty, as the strain of the journey and the necessity of returning immediately for Miss Mussolini's marriage would be too great as he has recently recovered from an attack of grip.

Car Goes Into Ditch, Seven Persons Hurt

MEADVILLE, Pa., April 21.—(AP.)—Seven persons, all members of one family, were injured, one seriously, in an automobile accident on the Erie-Meadville highway about 10 miles north of here.

Highway patrolmen reported that Steve Previck, of Erie, lost control of his car and ran into a ditch. Previck was cut badly, while his step-daughter, Mathilda Vilagi, 13, suffered internal injuries. Others of the family all in Meadville Hospital are Mrs. Anna Previck, Helen Vilagi, 17, and Frank, Irene and Elizabeth Previck, aged 7, 20 and 8 respectively.

White 'Gods' Lead Indians to Pillage

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—(AP.)—Dispatches from the State of Chihuahua say that Salvador Varela, state director of education, has been ordered to visit the Tarahumara Indian tribe in a remote mountain district near the Sonora border, and to try to persuade them to cease from ravaging the countryside.

The Indians reported to have fallen under the influence of several white renegades passing themselves off as gods, have broken out in rebellion.

FATAL FIRE LAID TO CIGARET

CHICAGO, April 21.—(INS.)—A forgotten cigaret was blamed today for the death of Donald Fairchild Washburn, 34, a prominent New Yorker and at one time representative of the United States Shipping Board at Kansas City.

Washburn was burned to death yesterday morning in a bedroom of the Winnetka home of Richard Matthiesen, where he was a guest.

Investigation indicated that a lighted cigaret had been left on the dresser.

Sheet Metal Plant Damaged by Fire

The two-story factory and office building of the J. G. Dickson Company at 913-15 Behan street was damaged by fire of undetermined origin this morning. Battalion Chief Louis Steckle estimated the damage at $3,500, although officials of the concern asserted the loss will be much higher. The company manufactures sheet metal products and occupies a cement structure at the Behan street address. Fifty men will be out of work until repairs can be made, J. G. Dickson, Jr., stated.

There, in a few words, is the purpose of these daily broadcasts.

LIBERTY Dairy is a hundred per cent Pittsburgh company, organized, owned and operated by Pittsburgh men in the service of the homes in Western Pennsylvania. Liberty is your milk company, for Liberty belongs to Pittsburgh.

And so—each evening at 6:45, by way of your radio (Station WCAE)—Liberty Dairy is going to drop in at your house—just as any neighbor might drop in for a little visit. We're going to bring along with us one of our own Pittsburgh artists—a different one each time—to sing for us the songs we all love—

A little visit—a little music—and a little game that all can play. Tune in with us—WCAE—every week day evening at 6:45.

Can YOU name the PITTSBURGH ARTISTS Who Sing in Liberty Lyrics?

Every artist who visits your house with Liberty Dairy in these friendly fifteen minutes of music is a Pittsburgh artist. His name—or hers, as the case may be—will not be announced at the time. We want you to try and recognize it.

Two people who name our artist correctly each evening and who measure up to one other very simple condition which is announced over the air will receive—absolutely free—

PRIZES FOR ALL

Even if you don't succeed at first, try again. Every one who listens to Liberty Lyrics and who really tries to name Liberty's Pittsburgh artist will receive a coupon good for a pint brick of Liberty Ice Cream at the store of any Liberty dealer.

Unveiling of the

Bridal Windows

By Miss Edith King and Mr. Hugh Banks of the Pitt Theatre

Join the throngs tonight at Penn and Stanwix . . . and witness that annual event, the unveiling of the Horne Bridal windows.

Each of the eighteen windows will depict some event in the life of a modern bride, from the first days of courtship, through the wedding and honeymoon, to the dream cottage; and each of these romantic settings has its own "theme song."

Horne's, the bride's store for more than three-quarters of a century, shows by these windows its willingness and readiness to serve the brides of today.

45 of Our Finer Living Room Chairs

Regrouped at

$35 $65 $95 $125

These new prices bear no resemblance to the prices that have been marked on the tags, until now. Most of the chairs are floor samples, one-of-a-kind.

There are 17 pull-up chairs at $35.00—14 decorative and lounge chairs at $65 — 8 lounge chairs at $95—and 6 lounge chairs at $125. Covers are of mohair, frieze, tapestry and damask.

If you want an extra chair or two for your new house or apartment, you'll be here tomorrow—early.

100 New Coffee Tables

For Sun Rooms Now, Porches Later

$10.95

We are confident that the entire one hundred tables will be on their way into as many homes by tomorrow night, so commanding is the value. And so timely the offer.

There are three kinds of tops—tile top and glass or mirror top. The tile tops are gay in color. All are impervious to burning cigarettes, iced drinks and hot cups of tea or coffee.

The bases are of wrought iron in a weathered texture, brass and antique brass. Made the correct height to stand beside the arm of a low comfortable chair in the sun room or on the porch.

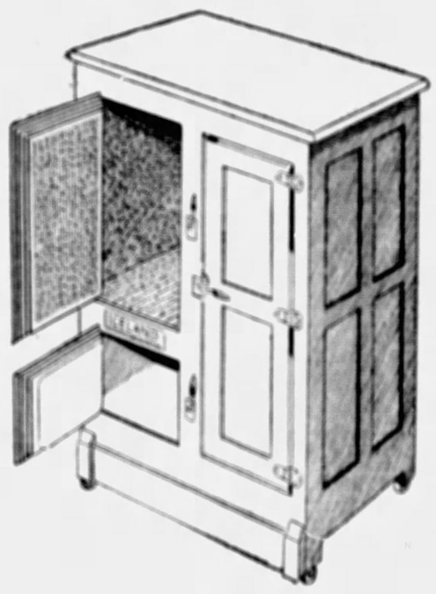
Fine New Refrigerators

Equipped With Cork Wall Insulation

$29.50



Here is a value for those moving into new homes which are not equipped with refrigerators—and for others whose old refrigerators have outworn their usefulness and their safety.

The cork insulation of these porcelain-enamel lined refrigerators assures you not only safe food, but food at its natural, full-bodied flavor. It also reduces refrigeration costs. They have 60-lb. ice capacity. Three-door, side icer style, in white enamel exterior, inviting in appearance. Oak exterior, $27.50.

. . . Horne's, Fifth Floor . . .

Axminster Rugs

In 9x12-Foot Size

$37.50

New, seamless Axminsters that will prove of special interest to hundreds of families moving into new homes. They'll wear for years—Axminster rugs are not equaled by many weaves for durability. They're thick and heavy and comfortable under foot.

These new patterns show a tendency toward the modern decorative trend. There are many small all-over designs for bedrooms, as well as Oriental effects for dining and living rooms. The colors are softly blended.

6x9 Axminsters, $18.50

Chinese or Persian effects, as you prefer—many with two-tone grounds. 6x9-foot size.

English Mohair Rugs

Introducing new low prices for these small imported rugs with wool backs and short pile curled centers. In glowing solid colors of amethyst, lavender, taupe, soft greens and blues. 18x36 inches, $6.25. 24x48 inches, $10.50. 27x54 inches, $12.75. 30x60 inches, $16.50. 36x63 inches, $22.50.

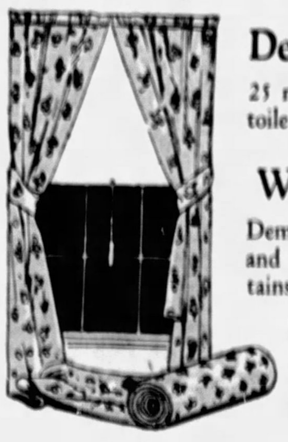
1850 Yds. Demi-Glazed Chintz

Five Colors in Each of Four New Patterns

50c Yard

The price is low—amazingly low—for demi-glazed chintz of this character. It possesses the soft draping quality of cretonne and the brilliance of polish and color of full glazed chintz. The designs include small chintz, toile-and-stripe and floral effects. The colors, new this spring, include backgrounds of ivory, tan, orchid, peach and green. Use it effectively for draperies and slip covers—for screens, window shades, lamp shades, bedspreads, cushions.



Demi-Glazed Chintz, $1.00 Yard

Waterproof Chintz, $1.25 Yard

Demi-glazed. Jacobean, small chintz, modernistic, and nursery print effects. Excellent for shower curtains and kitchen window shades.

Curtains, unlined, made to order from any of these chintzes, up to 8-ft. long, $1.85 to $4.25 pair, according to style wanted. Material not included.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .

32-Pc. Luncheon Sets

With Colorful Floral Border

$5.00

Canterbury bells and other flowers that you know came out of an old-fashioned garden—in gay reds, greens and blues — decorate the border of these American porcelain sets. The floral pattern is finished with a neat green line edge. It's rarely we can offer such sets at so low a price as this.

15-Pc. Glass Bridge Sets, $4.95

Guests at your next afternoon bridge will admire them and express surprise at the low price (if you reveal it). The set you choose may be in black, rose, green or gold. Plates, sandwich tray and saucers are octagonal shape.

STUDENT HELD IN SHOOTING

Frederick Forcey, 20, of 2725 Miles avenue Dormont, is at liberty today under $1,000 bond pending the outcome of the wounding of John Copanhaver who was shot state police said, while painting a bridge over Loyalhanna Creek near Saltsburg last week. Forcey, a student at Kiskiminetas Springs School, is alleged to have fired the bullet which struck Copanhaver while at target practice nearby.

Copanhaver was removed to the West Penn Hospital in a serious condition. Forcey is to be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Joseph A. Watson, of Saltsburg, on May 5.

Musical Clubs Join In Giving Cantata

Harvey B. Gaul's cantata, "Thracian Holiday," will be given by the Tuesday Musical Club choral and the Pittsburgh Male Chorus in Carnegie Music Hall Friday night. Gaul will direct the presentation. The program, which will include several combination numbers with incidental soloists from both clubs, has been dedicated to Charles N. Boyd's organization.

Mexico His Goal, Hiker 'Lost' at Wheeling

John Tomkins, Negro, who has a letter from Mayor Charles H. Kline saying he, the bearer, is a well-known Pittsburgh athlete, slept in the Carnegie lockup until the birds began to twitter this morning and then started walking back to Pittsburgh. Tomkins told Lieut. Harry Keisling of Carnegie police that he left Pittsburgh last Thursday to hike to Mexico, but when he got as far as Wheeling, W. Va., he found he was off the trail. He's hiking back to Pittsburgh to start the long walk all over again.

Tomkins also had a letter from Mayor Kline to the chief executive at Santa Fe, Keisling said.

Allegheny Y. M. C. A. Exhibition Friday

A gymnastic exhibition of ladder work, pyramids, hand balancing, tap dancing and other stunts will be given by members of the Allegheny Branch Y. M. C. A. next Friday night. The exhibition will be given free to the public.

SCHOOLS ENTER PLAY DAY MEET

More than 400 participants of 17 schools in Western Pennsylvania have been invited to take part in the fourth annual Play Day to be held at the Stadium May 9. Schools will not participate against each other, but the delegates will be placed on various teams. A formal banquet at Memorial Hall, to which all co-eds are invited, will close the day's activities.

Ursuline Academy To Repeat Matinee

Pupils of the junior grades of Ursuline Academy, Wilkinsburg, are planning to again present the French matinee recently given at the school in order that their parents might see the performance, previously presented only for the school. Musical numbers, a play and recitations, all in French, are included in the program. The date has not yet been set.

MAN CAPTURED, WIFE SOUGHT

Overpowered by Clairton police after a struggle following a chase of several miles, Lonnie Parker, 34, Negro, of Pittsburgh, was lodged in the Clairton lockup today pending a hearing tonight before Magistrate B. B. Samuels, of Clairton, while police continued their search for Parker's wife, Ida, 32, Negro.

Lieut. William Hughes and Motorcycle Patrolman William Hughes were summoned to Sycamore street, Clairton, early today when residents asserted Parker was beating the woman in his automobile. Parker fled in his car at the approach of the officers who overtook him in the River road, near Dravosburg. The woman sustained bruises and lacerations, but disappeared while police were pursuing Parker.

K. of C. Will Hold Charity Ball Tonight

The annual charity ball of the Knights of Columbus of Western Pennsylvania will be held in the William Penn Hotel tonight. The program will include 500, bridge and dancing. Many persons from points in the Tri-State district are expected to attend.

Scallops Are Very Smart

Pattern 1888

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

The adorable frock sketched today is a copy of an import developed in blue pique with white and pink printed design. The scalloped front with harmonizing collar and cuffs, and the inverted pleat in back, are interesting features of the new mode.

Pattern 1888 is equally cunning, fashioned of percale, gingham, dimity, pongee or lawn. Collar and cuffs are made of white pique. The buttons attached to each scallop are white pearl.

Designed only for sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8. Size 4 requires 2⅛ yards of 36-inch material and ½ yard trimming.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our PATTERN BOOK of NEW SPRING and SUMMER STYLES is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

1.—Enclose 15 cents in coins.
2.—Write clearly NUMBERS of patterns and SIZE wanted.
3.—Write or print your NAME and ADDRESS plainly.
4.—If you want SUN-TELEGRAPH Style Book send 10c extra.
5—Address your request to

LOST 8 YEARS, BODY FOUND

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—The mysterious disappearance 8½ years ago of Henry L. Norton, Civil War veteran and prominent Mason, had been solved today with the identification of a skeleton found in a thicket two miles from Ross Sanitarium, in Brentwood, N. Y.

Identification was made by two sons. They said no marks of violence were found and that their father evidently had died of exposure.

Norton disappeared November 8, 1921, two months before his eighty-fourth birthday. Although he had been in good health he had gone to the sanitarium for a rest.

TOKIO PRINCE, BRIDE ON TOUR

YOKOHAMA, Japan, April 21.—(AP.)—Japan's imperial newlyweds, Prince and Princess Takamatsu, sailed from this port on the Kashima Maru this afternoon bound for Europe by way of the Suez Canal, beginning a honeymoon journey to last more than a year and to circle the globe. Visits to most of the courts of Europe and probably also to the President of the United States will be made before the couple returns to Japan about the end of May, 1931.

Most of the month of April next year will be spent in the United States, according to the present provisional schedule.

MOVING? . . THIS SPRING

This is moving time in Pittsburgh. Orders to move telephones are pouring in. For a month we'll be working day and night so that you and thousands of others may have telephone service at your new location the day you desire it.

If you are going to move, please notify us the moment you know your new address. Just telephone the Business Office. We'll do the rest.

It will help us if you call during regular business hours. That is, from 8.30 A.M. to 5 P.M., weekdays, and from 8.30 A.M. to 12.00 noon, Saturdays.

But to help you, from April 21 to May 3, inclusive, the Business Offices in Pittsburgh and Wilkinsburg will remain open in the evenings until 8 P.M., and on Saturday afternoons until 5 P.M.

Keeping Young!

That's us! Growing old gracefully?—no, indeed! We simply will not grow old. We are determined to be the "Store of Youth"—the Store of the Young and those who want to stay young! We aim to keep the ideas and ideals of the younger set in mind at all times.

Because style is paramount in all things today—from the kitchen sink to the "presentation" gown, style is the theme song in every department—from the Certified Bargain Basement to the Summer Furniture on the Eleventh Floor. Shop Rosenbaum's . . . and you will realize that style is not a matter of price—but of good judgment . . . of selecting the appropriate thing for the right place!

Let us show you how to "keep young" . . . how to be, not abreast of the times, but a step or two ahead of them.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

EVELYN LAYE, England's beautiful actress, will entertain for General Motors on WCAE at 9:30 tonight. It will be her first broadcast. She will sing three songs, two of them from "Bitter Sweet" and one from "Madame Pompadour."

Miss Laye's songs from "Bitter Sweet" will be "I'll See You Again," which is the most popular number of the production, and Zigeuner, the haunting Gypsy melody which she sings during the last act of the tragic story of the English society girl who ran away with a Viennese musician only to see him killed in a duel fought to protect her.

Evelyn Laye

Picked musicians from America's three service bands, Army, Navy and Marine, will broadcast their initial concert through WCAE at 10:30 in a Latin-American program from Washington, D. C.

The Bach-Gounod version of "Ave Maria" will be done by a soprano and violinist for Stromberg Carlson on KDKA at 10 p. m. A chorus will present selections from "The Messiah."

Evelyn Laye once played in a motion picture mob scene for ten shillings and walked many blocks with a roll of buns under her arm before she got the job.

VERY TIMELY

A simple clock device attached to your radio receiving set will automatically dial it at any given time to the station carrying a program you want to hear. The invention was inspired by the Sun-Telegraph original style of listing programs in detail by the hour, according to the inventor, William A. Dowling, an Olympic track star. The device can be adjusted to dial up to 12 different wavelength settings. Fixed for a given station for one period, it automatically tunes to another at another period, thus insuring the listener his evening of radio entertainment without the bother of manipulating the dials.

We've always believed in radio programs in detail by the hour and we're glad that someone has seen an opportunity to "cash in" on the idea.

"The Republican View of the Naval Conference" is Senator David A. Reed's talk on WCAE and KDKA tomorrow at 5, direct from London.

The Fleet Wing Band will stage an imaginary parade in Dayton, O., tonight.

"Inquisitive," at Blairsville, Pa., wants to know if Amos and Andy and other radio characters "dress up" for their microphone appearances. No. Only when word is passed around that a newspaper cameraman will attend.

Napoleon met his Waterloo because he defied the warnings of his astrologer, says Evangeline Adams, who begins a series of astrology talks over WABC at 7:30 Wednesday night.

JAPANESE OPEN PARLIAMENT

TOKIO, April 21.—(AP.)—The Japanese Parliament opened today for a three weeks' session, which is expected to be a lively one.

Criticism by the opposition will concentrate on three mains points, namely: The prevailing business depression, unemployment and what is described as the failure of the government to insist on Japan's primary claims at the naval conference.

The lower house elected Ikunosuke Fujisawa speaker and Sohju Koyama vice speaker. Both belong to the Minsaito or government party.

The formal opening presence of the Emperor will take place Wednesday.

William Krieghoff, Noted Artist, Dies

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP.)—William G. Krieghoff, 54, widely known portrait painter, died suddenly yesterday of a heart attack at his home in Ardmore, a suburb. Mr. Krieghoff and painted portraits of many men of prominence, among them Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and the late Chief Justice Taft.

In addition to his portrait work, Mr. Krieghoff was known as a creator of imaginative landscapes, a pen and ink artist and a worker in pastels.

JAIL MARSHAL IN CAR CRASH

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(INS.)—Charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, U. S. Chief Deputy Marshal Frank Farna, 32, of Germantown, is being held in the Springfield Township jail of Delaware County today awaiting a hearing tonight.

The arrest came as an aftermath to a motor crash in Springfield Township last night in which a wealthy Bryn Mawr stockbroker was shaken and his woman companion seriously injured.

The woman, Miss Anne Carter, 24, of Chester, is in the Delaware County Hospital suffering from a broken jaw, internal injuries and a fractured skull, suffered in the collision. Her companion, S. Stewart Alcorn, escaped with minor injuries.

Farna was found wandering about in a daze after his auto crashed into Alcorn's. He was taken to the Swarthmore Police Station, where a physician pronounced him drunk.

Budapest Divorcees Start Own Club

BUDAPEST, April 21.—(AP.)—The Association for Men's Rights at Vienna has a rival here. It is called the Club for Divorced Women—divorced through the fault of their husbands. There are 6,000 divorced women in the city.

Illinois Gives Bell To Washington Carillon

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., April 21.—(AP.)—A three and one-half ton bell, the gift of the state of Illinois, was added to the Washington Memorial National carillon at Valley Forge yesterday.

Martin R. Carlson, president protempore of the Illinois State Senate, representing the governor of that state, made the presentation.

The Illinois bell is the seventeenth in the carillon, the first having been presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution of Massachusetts. When complete, the carillon will have 49 bells, one for each state and one, the National birthday bell.

Women Found Best Census Enumerators

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—In the wiles of Greater New York City women have proved to be better census enumerators than men. A supervisor in the Borough of Queens has found that women persevered, where men failed, on the islets in Jamaica Bay and in swampy areas.

The kind of job you've been waiting for may be advertised in the Classified Section—today. It's worth a look.

CAPONE SAFE IN FLORIDA

MIAMI, Fla., April 21.—(INS.)—"Scarface" Alphonse Capone, lately acclaimed chieftain of Chicago's merged gangs, was vacationing at his Palm Island estate here today under the protection of a Federal Court injunction after a secret trip from Chicago.

Capone arrived here Saturday after a trip in which he remained secluded in a sleeping car drawing room for more than 24 hours.

Yesterday Capone was found busily fishing for angel fish from the dock of his palatial castle. Pressed for a reason for his unannounced trip to Florida, he said:

"Sunlight—and some more sunlight. I couldn't get out of Chicago fast enough. I need fresh air after my stay in that Philadelphia prison."

Air Ace Arrested As Alien Smuggler

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—(AP.)—Loren Mendell, once co-holder of the world record for endurance refueling flight, was arrested here by United States immigration authorities on alien smuggling charges. He posted $5,000 bail and was released.

The officials alleged he conspired to bring two alien Japanese across the United States border from Mexico on April 2.

THRONGS BACK ALFONSO RULE

MADRID, April 21.—(AP.)—Monarchial supporters braved disagreeable weather with enthusiasm yesterday when thousands flocked to the new bull ring here to demonstrate their loyalty to the king. The bull ring, seating 26,000, was jammed many thousands standing in the arena itself.

The streets in the vicinity bore many conspicuous signs saying "Long Live the King!" "Long Live Spain." Civilian guards and police were stationed near the bull ring in force to prevent disorders.

Jose Gutierrez Rave, one of the meeting's organizers, in a speech said King Alfonso had been the victim of unfair attacks. He described the ruler as sympathetic toward all his subjects popular abroad, and "more Spanish than all other Spaniards."

Morillo Deza, Labor representative, said a great proportion of Spain's workers want the monarchy to continue. Marques Santa Cruz spoke on behalf of the nobility.

A few spasmodic shouts for the republic were hissed, and their authors roughly handled when they could be captured.

King Alfonso was not present.

ZEP WILL FLY OVER LONDON

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, April 21.—(Universal)—For the first time since the World War, London will see a German Zeppelin on Saturday or Sunday, when the Graf Zeppelin, with Capt. Ernst Lehmann in command, will fly over the British capital to Cardington to pick up Dr. Hugo Eckener, who is now returning from New York on the steamship Reliance.

The Graf's commander plans to stay in London for a few days. The huge dirigible's flight to Cardington to take him back to Friedrichshafen is made with the approval of the British air ministry and on the invitation of the master of Sempill.

The master of Sempill, Lady Sempill, Commander Burney, builder of the British dirigible R-100, and Lady Drummond Hay, who is the only woman who has flown around the world, will be guests on the Graf Zeppelin on its flight over London.

Safety Council Fund Drive on Tomorrow

The Western Pennsylvania Safety Council tomorrow will open a four-day campaign to raise $200,000 to carry on its work for a five-year period. All arrangements for the drive will be completed at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms tonight, presided over by Frank L. Duggan, president of the Safety Council. Every community in Allegheny, Washington, Beaver, Westmoreland, Fayette and Armstrong counties will be canvassed.

Hyman Gets Lily, Robbers Take $3,000 Gems

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—Probably the most expensive lily of the Eastertide was received yesterday by Hyman Natovich. It cost him, he reported to police, $3,000 in jewelry.

Two smiling messengers rang the Natovich bell early in the morning. Natovich rose from bed and answered the door. The men offered him greetings, handed him the flower and covered him with pistols.

KIDNAP VICTIM ON WAY HOME

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—(AP.)—Leonard B. Cassidy, American employe of the Transcontinental Fruit Company, arrived in Mexico City yesterday on his way home after getting away from a group of men who kidnaped him last Tuesday and released him only after many times threatening to kill him.

Cassidy told the Associated Press that he was going straight to Peabody, Mass., for rest and recuperation. He said that for more than 36 hours he had been under constant threat and fear of death, with revolvers pressed to his head or back, while being held in the vicinity of Tuxtepec, State of Oaxaca.

Since his release, the government has announced that troops under Gen. Felix Gonzales have caught Fernando Ramirez, Esteban Pena and Gustavo Cruz Silva, three of Cassidy's kidnapers, and executed them.

BRITISH LABOR BREACH WIDER

BIRMINGHAM, England, April 21.—(AP.)—The Left Wingers of the British Labor party are determined to paddle their own canoe, and as a distinct entity they will work for "Socialism in our time." By large majorities the Independent Labor party conference meeting here yesterday indorsed the parliamentary stand of Labor's so-called rebels—the Maxton group.

James Maxton, fiery Glasgow member, was re-elected president of the party by acclamation. In a statement issued by Maxton on behalf of the National Council, it was laid down that, while the Independent Labor party desires to continue to work wholeheartedly with the Labor party for the Labor movement and the Socialist cause, "it cannot accept new limitations of its rights and of obligations of members of Parliament to their constituents and to Socialism."

Old Oil Well Still Good Producer

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 21.—Drilled in with an initial production of 500 barrels 13 months ago, the oil well on the John M. Day farm, near Prosperity, is still flowing at the rate of 50 barrels a day. It was drilled by a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas and Electric system, one of the richest oil strikes in Southwestern Pennsylvania in recent years.

Colombia's New Chief Visits U. S.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Dr. Enrique Olaya, president-elect of the republic of Colombia, arrived here yesterday aboard the United Fruit liner Ulua. He was met by a presidential salute of 21 guns and a reception committee representing the nation, city and business leaders.

Dr. Olaya expects to be in Washington until the last week in July, when he will sail for Colombia. He is still minister to the United States, not yet having tendered his resignation.

BOMB DAMAGES N. Y. THEATER

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—A dynamite bomb yesterday wrecked a concrete, iron-sheathed projection booth in the Grand Opera House, landmark since the seventies at Twenty-third street and Eighth avenue. The building, which now is operated as a motion picture theater, was empty except for the night watchman, and no one was injured.

The bomb, apparently planted by a man who was seen running from the theater to the street, blew a five-foot hole in the floor of the gallery, a smaller hole in the floor of the booth and caused a short circuit. The resulting fire was confined to the booth.

The management of the theater told police they were at a loss to account for the bombing.

29 IN UKRAINE GET 173 YEARS

KHARKOV, Ukraine, April 21.—(AP.)—Sentences totaling 173 years were meted out by the Supreme Court here to 29 persons charged with attempting to restore the capitalistic regime in the Soviet Ukraine.

Prof. Serge Efremov, former president of the Ukrainian Academy of Sciences; former Premier Chekhovsky and former Foreign Minister Nikovsky, both members of the government set up by Gen. Simon Petlura in 1919, and one other defendent received 10 years each. The remaining defendants were condemned to terms of imprisonment ranging from three to eight years. Nine others were liberated on probation and seven others were banished from the Ukraine.

All the defendants recanted during their trials, and expressed repentance for their attempts to re-establish a capitalistic regime. Their change of front was expected to save them from the death penalty.

Irish in Clash Over Easter Week

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, April 21.—(AP.)—A demonstration in commemoration of the Easter week rising of 1915 brought about a clash between police and Irish Republicans yesterday at Milltown Cemetery, near Belfast. The police charged a crowd with their batons and arrested four men alleged to be Republican leaders.

Milltown Cemetery was one of half a dozen Ulster cemeteries held by a large police force in order to prevent Easter week demonstrations.

A "Beauty Shampoo" in 10 Minutes

Quickly, Easily, at a few cents cost, you can have a Real "Beauty Shampoo" that will give Your Hair a Loveliness quite unobtainable by Ordinary Washing.

YOU CAN SAVE TIME, expense and inconvenience, by adopting this simple method of "beauty shampooing" which gives truly professional results at home.

The beauty of your hair, its sparkle . . . its gloss and lustre . . . depends, almost entirely, upon the way you shampoo it.

A thin, oily film, or coating, is constantly forming on the hair. If allowed to remain, it catches the dust and dirt—hides the life and lustre—and the hair then becomes dull and unattractive.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a glass or pitcher with a little warm water added, makes an abundance of soft, rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing with it every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Ordinary washing fails to satisfactorily remove this film, because—it does not clean the hair properly.

Besides—the hair cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali, in ordinary soaps, soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why women, by the thousands, who value beautiful hair, are using Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. It cleanses so thoroughly; is so mild and so pure, that it cannot possibly injure, no matter how often you use it.

You will notice the difference in the appearance of your hair the very first time you use Mulsified, for it will feel so delightfully clean, and be so soft, silky, and fresh-looking.

Try a Mulsified "Beauty Shampoo" and just see how quickly it is done. See how easy your hair is to manage, and how lovely and alluring it will look. See it sparkle—with new life, gloss and lustre.

The COLONIAL TELLER

Published by THE COLONIAL TRUST COMPANY in the belief that the news of a great banking institution is of wide public interest. . . . . . .

VOL. 1 — 414-416 WOOD STREET · 317 FOURTH AVENUE · 314-318 DIAMOND STREET — NO. 11

Two Series of Radio Broadcasts Are Begun by The Colonial Trust On KDKA; Morning and Evening

Musical Program by 10-Piece Orchestra Features Evening Program, With Short Informative Talks; Morning Talks for Women Delivered by Attorney.

Two separate series of weekly radio broadcasts have been begun by The Colonial Trust Company over Station KDKA. One is an evening program, each Thursday at 7:15 p. m.; the other in a morning broadcast each Monday at 11:45 a. m., intended primarily for women.

The Colonial broadcasts have also been going out over the Westinghouse short-wave station—W-8-XK.

The evening programs include music by "The Colonial Tellers," a 10-piece orchestra, and short informative talks about banking and trust services.

In a brief talk, opening the series, James C. Chaplin, President of The Colonial, explained the purpose of the radio programs, as follows:

"People who have been in the banking business for years . . . as I have . . . believe that banking is one of the most fascinating things in the world. It has as powerful a hold upon us as the stage has upon actors, or the newspaper business has upon its workers. Most of us would never be content to do anything else.

"For one thing, a modern trust company gets closer to the daily life of the people in its community than probably any other human institution, except the Church. People tell a banker their inmost hopes and aspirations. Men tell us their plans for business. They show us their inventions; they unfold their ideas before us. People in grief and trouble come to us for advice or help. We are, in effect, a man's business partner in life, and the protector and counsellor of his family after his death.

Invites Questions.

"We realize that many people have no idea how engrossing the banking business is, that is our fault. None of us have ever told the public very much about it.

"In these Colonial Trust broadcasts we shall try to correct that situation. We shall tell you about ways in which people have lost money so that you can guard against such a misfortune. We shall tell you about ways in which people have made money, so that you can seize similar opportunities yourself. If there are things you don't understand about banks and banking methods we shall be glad to answer your questions. From time to time we shall have men who are authorities in their own lines talk to you about subjects which are affiliated with banking and trust services . . . such as the care of your estate, the necessity for a will, the proper use of life insurance and similar subjects.

Talks to Women.

"We hope you will find these programs interesting and that they will give you a clearer picture of the part that banking plays in your lives and ours."

At the broadcast last Thursday evening The Colonial Banker, radio representative of The Colonial Trust, explained how several hundred Pittsburghers carry $9,000,000 of insurance on their lives with easy premium payments, under The Colonial Trust Insurance Premium Plan.

The morning broadcasts have been going on for more than a month under the sponsorship of The Colonial. For these programs, The Colonial has retained Miss Ella Grauhart, a Pittsburgh attorney. Miss Grauhart has been talking to women over KDKA for months, giving them advice and suggestions. In her talks on The Colonial programs, she has been describing trust services, and dealing with insurance and allied subjects.

Tune In On The Colonial's Radio Programs

Mondays, 11:45 a. m.—Miss Ella Grauhart, Pittsburgh attorney, speaking over KDKA, on a program broadcast by the Colonial Trust Company.

Thursdays, 7:15 p. m.—The Colonial Tellers, musical representatives of The Colonial Trust Company, will present a program.

HOST ON VISIT TO RADIO STUDIO

Insurance Men and Women Are Guests of the Colonial.

Several score of insurance men and women from Western Pennsylvania, attending the sales congress of the Pittsburgh Life Underwriters' Association at the William Penn Hotel recently, were the guests of The Colonial Trust Company on a trip through the studios and control room of KDKA in the hotel.

Officials of the radio station conducted the visitors through the studio and explained the operations of broadcasting. Several programs were going on the air from the studio during the visit.

THESE 2 TERMS OFTEN CONFUSED

Difference Between "Administrator" and "Executor" Defined.

Two terms which are frequently confused are "administrator" and "executor," yet their functions are entirely different.

An executor is an individual or a corporation named in a will to settle an estate. An administrator is an individual or corporation appointed by the Register of Wills to settle an estate where the deceased has not made a will or appointed an executor.

Director

JOHN S. WELLER.

Senator Weller, a member of the Allegheny County bar, is a director of The Colonial Trust Company. He is also a member of the boards of directors of the Tropical Oil Company; the Arkansas Natural Gas Corporation; the Leonard Oil Development Company; the Penn-Ohio Gas Company; the Elk Petroleum Company, and the Western Pennsylvania Hospital.

TRAVELERS USE JOINT ACCOUNTS

Both Wife and Husband Can Draw on Them.

Joint checking accounts of husband and wife, in which both are permitted to make deposits and withdrawals, are often a source of confusion because of carelessness in keeping records of withdrawals, but there are some circumstances in which they are of great value.

One of the most common circumstances under which a joint account is valuable is where a husband has to be away from home a great deal. The joint account is therefore particularly popular with traveling salesmen and their wives.

GET $1,500 FROM $18.50 A MONTH

Steady, Systematic Savings at Interest Achieve Goal.

Regular monthly deposits of $18.50 placed with The Colonial Trust Company, at 4% interest, compounded twice a year, grow to $1,500 in six years.

TRUST BUSINESS SEPARATE FROM COMMERCIAL

Each Trust Is Handled As A Separate Undertaking.

Very few people realize the safeguards which a modern trust company like The Colonial Trust Company builds up around its trust accounts. It is a matter of common knowledge, of course, that The Colonial is both a trust company and a bank. It is probably not so generally known that the trust department and the bank are separate and distinct in their operations and their functions.

As a commercial and savings bank, The Colonial receives deposits, issues drafts and exchanges and accepts commercial loans. As a trust company, The Colonial manages properties and estates, serves as executor, administrator, trustee under wills and under agreements with living persons; serves as guardian of minors and incompetents; as registrar and transfer agent for corporations, as trustee under mortgages of corporations to secure bond issues; as agent for individuals under agreements for all sorts of purposes including particularly the handling of real estate and other forms of property, and as fiscal agent for governmental subdivisions.

The business and records of the trust department are separate from those of the bank. As a matter of ethics, the trust department does not even buy from the bank or any affiliated companies the large quantities of securities which are necessarily purchased for its trust funds.

The law requires that money held in trust for investment or distribution be deposited in some other institution than the trustee-bank; therefore trust funds received by The Colonial Trust Department are not deposited here.

Not only does the trust department keep its records separate from those of the bank, but it keeps the records of each of its trusts separate from every other trust in the department. Each "file" in the trust department, each trust there, is a separate and complete undertaking in itself, and its records are kept confidential.

The settlement of your estate, the handling of your insurance moneys, the management of your properties and securities during your life, can all be entrusted to The Colonial Trust Company with every confidence in their safety.

Many of Great Leaders Appoint Trust Companies

Is Tribute to the Efficiency and Economy Of Corporate Fiduciary Work.

There has been no more impressive tribute paid to the value of the trust company's work than the record of the famous men in Pittsburgh and throughout the country who have named corporate fiduciaries to settle their estates or to see that their wishes are carried out as expressed in their wills.

Some of the greatest captains of industry, foremost financiers, and great public leaders are included in a recent list of those who have named trust companies. This list, as compiled by Trust Companies Magazine, includes: The late Judge Elbert H. Gary, who was head of the United States Steel Corporation; J. Ogden Armour, of the great packing family; R. J. Reynolds, the tobacco manufacturer; John B. Dodge, the automobile manufacturer; James Oliver Curwood, the author; Frederick F. Fitzpatrick, head of the American Locomotive Company; W. M. Wood, head of the American Woolen Company; Frank A. Munsey and Victor Lawson, two great publishers; Washington A. Roebling, builder of the Brooklyn bridge; W. D. Packard, the automobile manufacturer; John Washburn, the flour miller; Andrew W. Preston, president of the United Fruit Company; Henry Huntington, railroad builder, and many others.

It is not only men of great wealth who are availing themselves of the services of trust companies. Men of moderate means also are leaving the task of settling their estates in the hands of those who make a specialized business of it.

DORMONT LIGHT CHANGE ASKED

Burgess Charles Chamberlin, of Dormont, has petitioned the borough council to make a change in the traffic lights along West Liberty avenue.

Mr. Chamberlin declared he had devoted many weeks to the study of the system and, following numerous complaints, had come to the conclusion that a change is necessary.

He cited that signals downtown afford the motorist an opportunity to travel on the amber light separating the green and red lights. The signals in Dormont, he stated, were so regulated that the amber flashes only momentarily and the autoists do not have sufficient time to stop their machines.

WILKINSBURG OPENS DRIVE

The opening gun of a three-week Community Shopping Campaign and Merchants Exposition, sponsored by the Wilkinsburg Business Men's Club, will be officially sounded this evening when Burgess William A. Turner signals for the start of a parade to include the majority of the borough streets. The object of the campaign is to present the advantages to Wilkinsburg residents of spending their money in Wilkinsburg.

A daily exposition will be held in the Colonial Theater, where a number of firms of the town will exhibit their wares.

V. F. W. Post Begins Work on Home

The work of the reconstruction of the old Caughey homestead at McKees Rocks as a home for the Veterans of Foreign Wars is well under way and according to announcement of those in charge, will be completed by May 15. In addition to changing the present building a 70-foot wing will be constructed to create an auditorium for social purposes.

Morgan to Head Carnegie Parade

Elaborate preparations are being made at Carnegie for a fitting celebration of Memorial Day. The program as planned includes a number of speakers and special features. At a meeting of the committee in charge Col. T. E. Morgan, of Espey Post, G. A. R., has been selected as chief marshal of the parade.

Coraopolis School Tax Is Unchanged

The Coraopolis Board of Education at a recent meeting officially fixed the school tax at 19 mills. This is the same rate that has been in effect for several years past.

CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

Chickie Writes Barry Note Asking Forgiveness

CHAPTER LXV.

CHICKIE'S room was gray, bleak. She walked into it uncertainly, sat on the bed.

And she was trembling. The veins along her throat and up about her ears ran with fire. Their heat whirled through her. A long while she sat motionless in this faint, overpowering weakness.

Suddenly his voice, like an angry presence, struck across the room: "I can't stand it! That's all—we can't get by!" She sprang to her feet, holding to the bedpost.

And as she stood, there rushed against her with a blasting starkness the things he had said. More terrible now, more final—open hands beating her down.

Oh, shameful! Oh, stooped to this! Incredible!

Two hours ago she had pulled on her hat, jabbing the hatpin into her scalp. Two hours ago this had not happened. Oh, if it could be two hours ago once more—

She crept to the window, raised it softly, knelt there, her head buried in her arms. And burned on her eyes was the image of his face, leaden white, accusing — yes — scorning, hating.

Ended! He would never forgive this.

It crushed her; obliterated pride. She was an abject thing stealing through a corridor, loitering at a door, cowering against the wall. She was herself so—only so.

And now, if he had come to the door and called her, if he had reached down and touched her hand, she wouldn't have stirred—wouldn't have met his eyes. No — go away — let him never see her again. This feeling remained. And through the night each time his image passed, her thought recoiled in shame. She dreaded going down to the office—dreaded the nearness of his window.

That next day it seemed to her that everything drifted in a gray mist, and she herself was cold, utterly chilled because the mist had got into her veins and was killing her.

Hates to Go Home

She didn't look for him. Five o'clock that afternoon she went hurrying along Nassau street, and though it was a bright, vital day, with sun and a merry breeze all about the buildings, she sped onward, feeling herself driven, voices at her ears.

She hated to go home, into the kitchen—talk with Jennie—meet Jonathan's chuckle. She wished to walk until she was lost in a desolation that had no end. Her thought already dwelt there.

She kept walking. Suddenly, in her imagination, he overtook her, touched her hand, murmuring breathlessly: "Chickie, what of it? I don't care now. Wasn't so worse." She hurried, half running. If only he might do a thing like that.

Days of this. She had no heart to look from her window, no courage even to raise her eyes. Once she saw his shadow. The blood swept with such wild heat to her face that she caught her desk, steadying herself.

Janina, sitting opposite, saw this. She dropped a note: "Why the panic, baby? Why have we no more balcony scenes, sweet Juliet? Little lovers' quarrel. I take it. Cheer up! Kissing and making up is awfully cozy, doncher know?"

Chickie crumbled the note, and a moment later, fearful because of the hot stinging in her eyes, she went to the dressing room. She sat on the window ledge.

Then Janina was at her side, slipping a friendly arm about Chickie's waist. "Didn't mean that, old dear. Not sore are you?"

Laughs at Advice

She tried to make some flippant remark. The most she could accomplish was a snap of her fingers and a pathetic: "Well—so it goes, Janina!"

"Oh, rubbish! You had a scrap, I suppose, and neither of you is big enough to come around and say: 'My fault, old thing—forget it!' That's the way with a woman always. Not big enough to bend! Why can't you hop to it and take the blame for once?"

Chickie laughed: "Thanks, Janina! You're such a fountain of wisdom."

"And all culled from experience, my dear—so it's good. Take it! It behooves woman to be independent. Independent enough to be wrong once in a while and get away with it. As for me, I accost the world thusly: 'Of course I sin! What about it?' Put a brazen face on it, ole dear, and the world slinks off like a pup with its foolish tail of prejudices stuck between its legs. Try it!"

Oddly enough this chatter of Janina's brightened her; broke the tension of her emotions. And now, going back to her work, she could look to that night of withering excitement without a fainting rush of shame. She said to herself in surprise: "Was it such a sordid thing to do? Oh—that I should never lift my head again?"

Her mind quailed: "Yes—it was—spying on him—sneaking into that corridor—"

But love—couldn't love overlook that? Would love keep only that memory of her and banish all the sweeter, happier ones?

She kept thinking of this—one memory brought another, like children running through a bright field, snapping flowers.

Rides they had taken about the city, claiming as theirs the beauty of hills and water; pointing out a golden star, shinier than others; tracing a ripple of copper in a sky of jade.

Merry things he had done—bringing her the ugly black waterdogs because they might delight her capricious fancy, then kneeling on the floor, grinning as he unwrapped them. Why—only that night such a little while ago, dropping the nugget in her glove—

Writes Note

Could all this be wiped out so readily? All this forgotten? She could as well take the pulse from her heart, and ask it yet to beat.

Then could he dismiss it so? Not a pang? Not a backward look? Oh—he must be thinking, too. He must be seeing images—

Now he came so close she could almost hear his breath; feel his hand. Now she looked over to his window and whispered: "Oh—come—why don't you?"

That night she wrote to him. She could take the blame. It was all hers. And couldn't he forget? Couldn't he let it pass?

"After all that was so beautiful, would you have it end like this, Barry? And will you think of me always doing a mean and shameful thing? That is hard. If I could blot that out—won't you let me? Won't you remember other things? So many of them. And they were glad, weren't they?

"Perhaps you know what these days have been. Perhaps you guess how all those things you said keep coming back and I can hear them always.

"I hear them and they shout so loud that all the laughter and all the songs we knew are silenced. If you would only come—if you would just do that—Will you?"

She ran down the block and slid the letter in the mail box, staring through the opening after it. In the morning he would get it.

What would he think? Would he tear it up—angry—fling it in the waste basket? Would he look over to Tufts and remember that Tufts had seen and might be guessing?

Avoids Meeting Jimmie

Or would he seize it gladly? Would it make his veins glow? And he would come rushing at noontime to meet her? Yes—would he?

In her excitement she hurried. Then she saw the door of the Blakes' house opening; saw Jimmy's tall figure swinging down the steps. She turned and ran feverishly around the corner.

Jimmy passed, but he didn't see her. He had his hands dug in his pockets. He looked big and full of power.

She watched until he was out of sight. A sudden loneliness enveloped her—a sudden realization that she was, indeed, alone. That Jimmy and Mary were no longer in her life. They couldn't be.

She had put them out—every one. Except one. Except Barry. Pushed the whole world aside that she might have him.

Now he was going—gone, perhaps. And there was no one else—no other thing. Her life was wholly his.

She grew frightened, seeing herself thus isolated. She struck the fear from her mind. No—wait—tomorrow—

By noon she was in a kind of panic, reluctant to leave the office—reluctant to brook the disappointment that might be hers.

She waited till Janina was gone. Then she went swiftly through the alley to the restaurant where they usually met. With a shivering uncertainty she took their table. She said to the waitress with a bright smile, "I'll wait a while."

So the waitress set places for . . .

FAY KING

By FAY KING

WHEN a young man of modest means marries, the financial support he tranfers from his family to his wife often makes quite a difference.

The young wife sometimes feels she is resented, when it is only the difference in money matters his marriage has made which they resent.

She must not resent the financial help he feels he can continue to give them. She must urge him to visit them often and sometimes he should call on them alone.

She must never demand his entire attention when they are present.

So much depends upon making his family realize that he is not lost to them entirely, socially or financially.

The Lost Key Is Located

AT THE little real estate man's announcement that his key to The Larches was gone I shot a swift, involuntary glance at my mother-in-law, intercepting a startled look which she was directing toward me.

"I suppose I've mislaid 'em," Mr. Halset said.

"I'll tell you what to do," he said, brightening after an instant. "You know Mrs. Ticer, who has the farm next to yours."

"Very well, indeed," I returned. I knew what his next words would be now and prepared for them.

"Well, everything's all right then," he said relievedly. "She's been looking after the place since that Miss Lincoln left—goes in once or twice a month to see that everything's all right. And she's got a key. If it's all the same to you, why don't you stop there on the way back home and have her go over with you. She knows the place better than I do, and then you can see if there's any little thing you want done. Of course, you know," he added cautiously, "the owners wouldn't stand for much if only a month's rent is coming in. I suppose I really ought not to rent it for just a month. But seeing it's you—" he smiled widely at me.

"That's very nice of you," I said. "And I'm sure Mrs. Brixton will not be captious. The place is clean, I know, except for the dust of being shut up. Mrs. Ticer gave it a thorough going over under Miss Lincoln's instructions before the house was shut up. Any other cleaning I am sure Mrs. Brixton will have done herself. But, of course, she would like to be assured that there are no leaks anywhere and that the heating plant, the plumbing, the lighting system and the kitchen equipment are in good order."

"If they are not," Mr. Halset assured me grandiloquently, "any deficiencies will be rectified at once. Those are necessities whether a lease is for one month or 12."

"Then there remains only the question of terms," I told him, resolutely putting in the background the lively query as to how we were to get into the house with both keys gone. "If you will tell me what you wish I shall be able to wire Mrs. Brixton and receive her answer very shortly."

He named a sum less than I had expected.

"As soon as I've looked over the house I'll wire her," I reiterated.

"That'll be fine," he said, putting his hand in his trousers pocket as if he already were tucking away the commission which would be his for the rental. "Shall I telephone Mrs. Ticer to go over with you?"

"Oh, that won't be necessary at all," I returned hastily, for I did not wish my neighbor to reveal the loss of her key.

"I'll tell her," I promised, "and I'll let you know about this as soon as I receive Mrs. Brixton's answer to my night letter."

He went with us to the car and fussily helped us get in. When he had shut the door upon me and started back to the house my mother-in-law exploded.

"Drat the man! I thought he was going to get pillows and blankets and tuck us in for the night. But what do you make of that other key being lost?"

"I don't know," I returned truthfully, and purposely increased the speed of the car until her strictures upon my driving took her attention from the subject which I was pondering. But all my conjectures were shattered when Mrs. Ticer's beaming but puzzled face appeared at the door of her kitchen as we drove in the yard.

"I found that pesky key," she cried, "but the finding is queerer than the losing. Come in and let me show you something."

Why Women Love Crooning

DO you want a new caracul coat?

Then just say the word for Rudy Vallee or any of the other popular crooning tenors, and you'll get a whole carload of masculine goats! Big goats, little goats, old goats, young goats!

Everybody's CROONING now! The ear-splitting jazz-howlers have all tuned down to a tender, sentimental tempo—sweet and pleading. Heaven is merciful. The world is once more safe for tympanums!

But the astonishing thing is that the men don't like it! You'd think that hundreds of tired husbands would be grateful to these sentimental crooners who satisfy woman's restless cravings and feed her starving soul!

All a married man need to do when he comes home too fagged out to pet his wife evenings is to turn on the radio and get a "crooning" almost anywhere on the air, which would satisfy her suppressed desire for romance, and keep her QUIET.

Then he can curl up in his favorite arm chair and doze sweetly over the sporting page while his unseen substitute wafts his wife away to the land of her dreams.

Woman's hungry heart! Woman's insatiable demand for sentiment! Woman's everlasting, unquenchable, all-devouring romanticism! These have always been man's most mystifying problem and his heaviest burden.

A savage must have blood; a gourmand must have food; and a woman must have her quota of romance! If she can't get it first-hand, she'll take it vicariously, through a loud speaker. You can cheat her out of her money or her rights, but you can never shortchange her on her emotional demands.

Her instantaneous and almost hysterical response to the revival of love songs, proves that under all her hard-boiled, cynical veneer the modern woman is still—just a woman! A soft-hearted, susceptible creature full of imagination and dreams.

You'd fancy that this discovery would delight the men, but apparently, it only gives them an acute pain.

You SEE how it is. When man was a savage he took the woman he wanted by sheer brute strength and "won her heart" by knocking her senseless and dragging her home by the hair.

This is still probably his subconscious idea of wooing and conquering a gal. And, he is naturally suspicious of any soft-eyed movie hero or velvet-voiced crooner, who wins with gentler methods, and GETS all the women going!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

"Bolted" Food Is Poison!

ALL too often we see children bolting their food. But it is not alone the children who do this. Many grown-ups who ought to know better rush through their meals. They act as if their lives depended upon finishing the meal in a given number of minutes.

DR. COPELAND

This is all wrong. "But why is it wrong?" you ask. Well, let me give you several very good reasons. They are needed to cut and grind the food. But the important fact is that digestion begins in the mouth.

It is not properly begun unless the food is thoroughly chewed and moistened by the saliva. This secretion of the mouth glands should be added before the food is swallowed. The first stage of digestion is thus well begun. The saliva contains a "ferment," a substance which begins the digestion of starchy foods.

When the food is well-chewed it is a soft, moist mass. Vegetables, cereals, bread and fruits have their digestion started in this way.

Food cannot be absorbed and assimilated unless it is liquified. For this reason the saliva of the mouth is important. The juices and digestive ferments of the stomach and intestines may be inadequate. The food should be prepared before it reaches the lower regions.

Food not properly chewed and mixed with saliva loses much of its value. Too much is left to the other organs.

The child or the adult who bolts his food is likely to be thin and undernourished. He may have cramps of the stomach and bowels. There can be no doubt that forms of indigestion may be traced to this cause.

In chronic indigestion the tongue is coated and the breath is offensive. Constipation is sure to follow.

While there are other reasons than the failure to chew the food, it is true that obstinate indigestion may produce poisons in the system. When this happens, they may be carried to different parts of the body. The next thing that happens is rheumatism or some other serious malady.

Of course one cannot properly masticate the food if the teeth are defective. Dental treatment should begin in earliest childhood. It is a good rule for every child and adult to see the dentist at least every six months.

Do not hurry at mealtime. It is a mistake for the child to rush through breakfast and luncheon in order to be at school on time. The average business person dashes through the midday meal at such a rate that proper mastication of food is impossible.

Such practices end in the evil of constipation. We are told that a great majority of diseases today are the outgrowth of constipation and poor digestion.

Be intelligent! Have good health! Take time to chew your food thoroughly. Eat calmly. Take care of your digestion and elimination at all times. Get up earlier in the morning so that the children will not have to hurry through breakfast and to school. This is the only way to maintain good health.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Farewell Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Seven women and myself meet every two weeks at our homes and play bridge, after a simple luncheon is served. Will it be proper (when I am hostess) to announce that I am going on a trip, to be away about four months?

2. Would you suggest that I have a separate farewell party, at the same time inviting several other friends, or are these farewell parties given by relatives or friends?

3. I expect to go East and will probably be entertained at many bridge luncheons. Would it be correct to "return" these affairs by giving one big luncheon and bridge at a fashionable hotel or club, and inviting all my friends who entertained me during my visit in that city?

4. Is it necessary for me to take gifts from here to my friends in the East? I have been very friendly with some of these women I expect to see, but have never exchanged gifts and don't want to start now.

5. We expect to stay in a hotel and will probably entertain couples for dinner. Incidentally, is it proper to ask a couple for dinner when neither of them has met my husband? D. S.

YES, this will be a correct to do.

2. You could, with perfect form and taste, give a farewell party. It is not at all necessary for these parties to be given by friends or relatives. You may have, at your party, only the club of which you speak, or you may, for this occasion, invite a larger group.

3. Yes, this is a perfect form of hospitality and is very often done. And it is a charming gesture of friendliness to make.

4. There is no reason why you should take gifts to these friends. If you give the "return-for-hospitality" party this will suggest your well-placed friendliness. Then, if you wish to make even more of a social gesture, it is an excellent plan to leave orders with the local florist for him to send a box of flowers, or a corsage, to the friends in the city in which you are visiting. This will be a beautiful way of sending messengers of your appreciation of their friendliness and hospitality.

5. Yes, this is correct and in perfect form.

Returning Calls

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. A lady called on me and left her husband's card also. Is this proper or permissible, and, if so, what response does it call for?

2. Is it an unpardonable breach in etiquet to fail to return a call in two weeks?

3. Is it proper to leave a card each time you call?

YES, the lady did the correct thing in leaving her own card for you, and her husband's card to register that he, too, is "paying his respects" to you. If you were married, she would leave two of her husband's cards, one for you and one for your husband.

2. No, not in this busy life. But the call should be returned as soon as you can possibly find it convenient to do this.

3. Yes, if the call is at all formal in its nature.

Tomorrow's Gifts

OH, DO not cling too closely
To joys that pass away,
Tomorrow's gifts will be as dear
As those you prize today!

Tomorrow's tasks will bring their fruit
Of gladness and content
In measure just as brimming full
As any time has sent.

Tomorrow's friends will be as kind,
Tomorrow's hopes as high,
So do not see today depart
With any doubt or sigh.

Bid welcome to each good that comes,
Each happiness and cheer,
Yet learn to hold no single hour
Of all time brings, too, dear.

And trust tomorrow, while you glean
Fresh wisdom on your way;
The good it brings will be as great
As that you gain today!

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

BLACK mascara is not as satisfactory as dark brown for the purpose of making the eyebrows and lashes more pronounced in color. The black paint is too much like India ink and will not do a fade-out as it should. Mascara has one advantage over the eyebrow pencil; it doesn't crayon the skin.

TOENAILS must not be cut down at the sides; they should instead be cut straight across. Ingrowing nails are caused by pressure of the shoe. No treatment is permanent unless wider shoes are worn. Practically all foot ills are caused by shoes that do not conform to the shape of the foot.

THERE are four causes of excessively oily hair—overactivity of the glands of the scalp, improper shampoos which leave a deposit of soap scum on the hair shafts, an atmosphere in which floats the soot from chimneys, and the wearing of snug hats of thick felt that keep the scalp overheated.

THE insidious blackhead is an enemy which must be fought tooth and nail. It is a forerunner of acne, it distends the pore, making the texture of the skin coarse and unlovely. After the soapy facial tubbing, give the epidermis a dry cleaning with a cloth dipped in rubbing alcohol.

DEEP breathing and exercise should form a part of the daily beauty and health routine. They have a beneficial effect upon the complexion, the hair, the eyes and the shapeliness of the figure. It is only by expending muscular energy that muscular strength and greater energy are created.

DON'T get dubious and suspicious if the beauty teacher recommends the same exercise for reducing large legs that she suggests for building up the unfatted calves. Exercise brings conditions to normal. If fat cells are present, muscular effort will dispel and scatter them. If muscles are impoverished, exercise will build and expand them. Lifting up on the toes, bicycling, kicking, toe-dancing will reduce fat legs and increase the measurements of thin ones. If ankles are large, sit on a low stool, cross your knees and send the topmost foot around in a circle, moving it from the ankle.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, April 22

CONFLICTING planetary configurations are seen in this day's lunar chart. Although there are indications of financial benefits, with some promise of fulfilled ambitions and advancement or growth of business, yet there are also some hazards through litigation, misrepresentation, fraud or slanderous attack. It would be well to be on guard against these and to safeguard the personal relations and standing, as the private affiliations are also in peril.

Those whose birthday it is may make some progress and achievements during the year, but they are also beset with the menace of law, fraud, duplicity and slander. They should be on guard against these adverse conditions in the business and personal life.

A child born on this day may be talented and ambitious and should reach good position through these qualities, but it may have hostile and treacherous conditions to contend with in its business as well as in private life.

NEW CHURCHES OPENED

Special services yesterday marked the opening of two new Pittsburgh churches. They were the Swissvale Methodist Episcopal Church, Braddock avenue and Dixon street, Swissvale, and the J. M. Wallace Memorial United Presbyterian Church, Greentree. Dedicatory services were held in the Swissvale church, while Easter services were held in the other, which will be dedicated at a later date.

At the 6 a. m. services in the Swissvale church, the Rev. Paul Lindbery, pastor, preached the sermon. At other services pastors taking part were the Rev. Dr. J. S. Payton, superintendent of the Pittsburgh district; Dr. T. J. Hicks, Dr. N. H. Sanner, superintendent of the Blairsville district, and a former pastor here; the Rev. J. E. Morrison, pastor of the Schenley Heights Methodist Episcopal Church; the Rev. O. J. Rishel, of the Mt. Washington Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Rev. H. A. Baum, of the New Kensington Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Rev. J. Paul Graham, who came to Pittsburgh from Middletown, O., to be the new pastor of the Greentree church, preached the opening sermon in that edifice. The congregation of this church is composed of former members of the disbanded Eighth United Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh. Recently the congregation reorganized and built the church, naming it in honor of the Rev. James M. Wallace, pastor of the old Eighth church 33 years. It was built at a cost of $25,000.

Taxpayers' Official To Address Traders

P. R. Williams, secretary of the Taxpayers League of Pittsburgh, will speak at the monthly meeting of the Squirrel Hill Board of Trade in the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, Forbes street and Murray avenue, tonight. The address will be preceded by a meeting of directors.

The board is planning for the seventh annual school picnic in Kennywood Park, June 4, when it is expected more than 7,000 children from schools in the Squirrel Hill and North Homestead districts will be entertained. President George A. Dowler has named Thomas O. Hasley chairman of the picnic committee.

Hunt for Bomber Of Trolley Fails

County detectives today were without clues in their investigation of the bombing early Saturday of a Washington interurban street car at the Hultz stop. The blast shattered windows and caused one woman passenger to faint. Detectives were inclined to believe it the work of boys, unaware of the seriousness of the prank.

Grayson to Address Club Here Tomorrow

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, medical advisor to the late President Woodrow Wilson, will be the principal speaker tomorrow evening at the monthly meeting of the Contact Club of the Philadelphia company. The meeting will be held in the English room of the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Daylight Saving To Begin Here Next Sunday

For the thirteenth year, Pittsburgh will turn the clocks ahead and observe daylight saving this summer. The change of time will be made next Sunday and daylight time will be observed until the last Sunday of September.

In many churches yesterday ministers announced that the services next week would be on daylight time. The Pittsburgh Clearing House Association has been active in favor of daylight saving and has notified Mayor Charles H. Kline, of its stand. The Mayor is expected to issue his proclamation this week.

Man Faces Court In Knife Slaying

John Davis, alleged to have fatally stabbed James W. Scott, 22, of 1211 Wylie avenue, January 1, was to go on trial in Criminal Court, today, charged with murder.

ASK MEMORIAL AT SEWICKLEY

Burgess O. S. Richardson, of Sewickley, is chairman of a committee to further plans for a memorial to soldiers of the World War, as proposed recently to the borough council by Councilman James C. Chaplin.

The plan contemplates a building in the newly acquired borough park, with pillars and a rostrum. An urn would occupy a place in the front on which would be inscribed names of Sewickley Valley soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice. There would also be a memorial trophy room containing, in addition to war relics, tablets bearing names of all those who saw service in the World War.

Don't fool yourself!

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Men won't forgive this in a girl

Many a vacation and pleasure trip that otherwise would have been jolly and romantic has been a failure because of it.

Don't fool yourself that you never have halitosis. Because you simply cannot know when you are a victim. Halitosis does not announce itself. Unknowingly, you may offend.

Why take the chance at all? Simply use Listerine every day. Then, if you have halitosis, Listerine ends it. If you haven't—your mouth has had the benefit that Listerine always gives.

Being an active germicide capable of killing 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds, full strength Listerine checks mouth fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then it gets rid of the odors; it is an instant deodorant. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A.

Kotex absorbent now is used in 85% of our hospitals; this should guide every woman's choice of sanitary protection.

YOU will never go back to old-fashioned methods once you have tried Kotex. There is really nothing like its soft, safe, lasting protection. It gives you a feeling of security and ease that you particularly want at such times.

Kotex softness is not just on the surface. It comes from the unusual substance of which Kotex is made . . . Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding. This is the very same absorbent that is used in 85% of our great hospitals today. It is used by doctors for the most important surgical work. Surely, then, you yourself could use nothing finer.

Kotex is made up of layer on layer of this fine, tissue-like substance known as Cellucotton. It is actually a cellulose product which acts as efficiently as the very softest cotton—with five times greater absorbency. You see, each layer is a quick, complete absorbent in itself.

Real health protection

Doctors consider sanitary protection as real health protection . . . a safeguard for lowered vitality. That is why it is so important to use Kotex, the scientifically designed sanitary pad. Try it. You will see, then, what a difference it makes. It is disposable, you know. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, fleecy softness that lasts for hours.

3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

FILM REVIEWS, STAGE GOSSIP AND LITTLE TALES FROM HOLLYWOOD

Crane Wilbur, One Time Screen Hero, Now Writes Plays

By DOROTHY HERZOG

HOLLYWOOD, April 21.

This is a good time of the week to shy from the fury of activity. Nice day and all that. Culver City, 10 miles as the asphalt runs. M. G. M. still doing business. Put a coupla roller skates on a canoe; shove in an old sewing machine; feed her a speck of gas and we get to Culver City without taxi fare.

Crane Wilbur's office. Through the gate, "Dad" Owen, its custodian part of the day, has trailed home. But the officer in charge lets us pass without requiring a passport. Our manners, if not our face are familiar.

Crane Wilbur

Crane Wilbur is one of the young timers in the game. He thinks today as he did when he heroed in the old Vitagraph Civil War romance, "The Heart of Maryland," with Catherine Calvert. Except his hair is iron gray.

Mr. Wilbur deserted the stage years ago, to traipse in flicks. He played opposite Pearl White in "The Perils of Pauline." Pearl White, today, is married to a millionaire Egyptian. A prince, I think, but a millionaire, regardless.

Mr. Wilbur was on location for some heart thumping serial at the time Owen Moore was courting Mary Pickford. And they, too, with members of their small troupe were shooting a "big" two-reeler in the same locale.

OLD EATING SPOT

And Levy's, now demised, was the eating spot in Hollywood. No other place to eat. At night, there would be a cabaret. Mr. Wilbur was in the village at the time. Writing and starring in silencers.

He'd get most of his leading women from Levy's cabaret. He paid them about $40 a week.

Later on, Crane returned to the stage. As playwright. And corraled quite a neat capital. He made one of his earliest and biggest financial hits with "The Monster." Dragged in around eighty thousand. Put it in a financial incubator. As a nest egg. It has multiplied. But in the meantime, Mr. Wilbur has been busy. He has two plays ready for curtain raisings. And he's kept pretty busy writing celluloiders. Mebbe he'll direct, soon. Mebbe.

THRIFTY DOLORES

Dolores Del Rio is taking no chances on the immortality of youth. Youth being an economic commodity in Hollywood. Dolores gets a salary around $7,000 a week. She's nest egging more than half that every seven days.

Evelyn Brent has a very large library. She's a little proud of her library. Picture her disconcerted face when she overheard her cook comment to a visiting friend.

"Yes, Miss Brent has a lot of books, but I wish she'd get books that are interesting to read."

Evening at Cards By Pythian Sisters

Pythian Sisters will hold their monthly meeting tomorrow night in Moose Hall, McKees Rocks. All members are urged to be present. Cards, games and lunch will be on the program.

Movie Tomboy

WAR DRAMA, COMEDY, STAGE OPENINGS TONIGHT

Richard Bird, Henry Stephenson, G. P. Huntley, Jr., Norman Pierce and other notable actors comprise the eastern company which will present "Journey's End" when it returns to the Shubert Alvin tonight for its limited engagement of one week only, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Opening tonight in the Pitt, the George Sharp Players will present "Holiday," a comedy, which will introduce a new leading man, Emmett Vogan.

Mrs. Fiske's favorite role is Mrs. Malaprop in "The Rivals," which will be seen here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee in the Nixon. New York recently saw her in the role for the first time, although she played it throughout the country for 70 weeks several seasons ago.

"Nancy's Private Affair," which the George Sharp Players will present in the Pitt next week, will be seen here prior to its showing in any other city except New York, where it is now in its tenth month in the Longacre Theater.

Pianist, Age Five, Metrotone News Feature

Ruth Slenczynski, pianist only five years old, who has just been awarded a scholarship at Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, is seen and heard in one of the outstanding features of the current Hearst Metrotone News. With as much confidence and apparent familiarity with her subject, the baby musical marvel tells you about Edward Grieg, the Norwegian composer, and then in an outstanding manner plays one of his compositions.

Among other outstanding subjects is a football game at Wembley, England, before a crowd of 150,000 in which the English team captured the championship from Scotland for the first time in 18 years; a thrilling rodeo at Burbank, Cal., at the ranch of James J. Jeffries, former heavyweight champion; side-splitting scenes of a swarm of monkeys at the San Antonio zoo; the first drill of the season at West Point; the ringing of the great bell at Chion-in in Japan, at the festival marking the 1250th anniversary of the Jodo sect; Thomas A. Edison announcing the new scholarship for the brightest boy in the United States; President Hoover opening the baseball season, and others.

"After Baby Came I Was Weak, Skinny Gained 22 Lbs."

"After baby was born I was very weak, skinny. Since taking Ironized Yeast feel fine. Gained 22 lbs."—Mrs. Laura Benoit.

Thousands write new Ironized Yeast adds 5 to 15 lbs. in 3 weeks. Ugly hollows fill out. Bony limbs get graceful roundness. Muddy skin gets clear and rosy like magic. Nervousness, indigestion, constipation vanish overnight. Sound sleep, new pep first day.

Two great tonics in one—special weight-building Malt Yeast and strengthening Iron. Pleasant little tablets. Far stronger than unmedicated yeast. Results in ½ time. No yeasty taste, no gas.

So quit being "skinny," tired, unattractive. Get Ironized Yeast from druggist today. Feel great tomorrow. Money back from manufacturer if not delighted with quick results.

Clockwatcher

NEW YORK, April 21.

5 P. M.
You wouldn't stay away; you're no fool.
If you haven't come by six, you won't come!
All day the clock's ticks struck me dumb.

If you never came again, should I cry?
Or should I hail the next lad passing by?

5:40
Will you not come back to me? Who can tell?
Twenty minutes of six now; clocks are hell.

Twenty after six; you know I must go.
God, how that time clock beats so slow!

6:30
So you're never coming back! I'm alone.
Well, at least my hell is all my own!

Man About Town

The gayest of the Heartacre Square asylums is the Abbey on Fifty-fourth street, just this side of the canyon. It is where the night loafers pause before going home to their wives, after they have filled themselves elsewhere with Wyoming Ketchup. The syncopation never ceases from 11 p. m. until the following dawning, for when Jerry Friedman's tooters have failed to exhaust the tireless fox-trotters, they are replaced by the Croonaders, a trio of mad musicians, who sing and hoof as well. Between dances several models parade in their beads.

The Abbey, then, is Broadway's hottest spot, and not until all the others have pulled down their blinds does it play to capacity, although its audience changes at least twice before the curfew law for other clubs drives the late comers into the Abbey.

In a corner surrounded by men who are tailors, but who spend, droops a lass who was the class of the street less than a year ago. The market, she will say, made her what she is today, but some of us know that it was a lad she adored. Still beautiful, and gowned in last year's smart frocks, she keeps making believe that she still is in-the-dough, and although she has run the gamut of Broadway emotions you hope for her.

"If I only had some decency left," she says without whining. "If only I could hold my head high again I wouldn't regret a thing. I don't care what they are saying about my past. It isn't that. I know I am not on the hop anymore. But they are now saying I go for those Harlem brownskins and Japs and Chinkies and it is almost killing me. I wouldn't be so desperate now if I could get myself to care for a white man, but they are too cruel when they link my name with the others. I've got to like a feller—that's why I'm broke. This street sure has been unkind to me and I was a good guy when I had it, too."

One of the boys who was on the make a year ago joined her table. He had heard that she was having a difficult time of it. "What d'y'say, baby?" he cooed, "how about you getting to like me for a change and let me be nice to you. I need affection and you need coin. You know I can give you enough dough to keep those other wolves from your door." And so saying he brought out his checkbook and wrote one for $1,000.

She looked at the good-as-platinum draft as he prepared it. Then she placed it on the table before her. "That's a lotta money, daddy," she said with a forced smile. "Mamma could do plenty with all that gold. Mamma could pay off the old mortgage at the hotel and get respect from the clerk and bell-boys, and from the assistant manager, who wanted to put me out last night because I wouldn't be sociable. Mamma sure could be happy for a little while, you bet. But I can't take it from you. I just can't. You wouldn't be a good guy and loan it to me for a while? I mean until I could pay you back, would you, please?"

"I hate to keep books, sweetheart," he countered, "I sure hate to keep books. I've got a crush on you, honest. Let me love you."

She ripped the check into bits and dropped the pieces on the table. "I've got to powder my nose," she said, "I'll see you later." And then she left the room.

"What a chump!" whispered the eavesdropper at the next table. "I can't believe my eyes," chirped another startled wisey.
"She slays me," chimed in another, "and she's so broke!"

When she returned to the night club proper the bargain-maker had focused his attentions on another woman. "Sit here," we said, "sit here until he comes back."

"Oh, he won't be back," she answered, "but I'll sit here a while. Golly, you sure have been kind to me all these years. You could have written plenty, couldn't you? I want to thank you."

"Don't be a sil," we said, "you're a nice girl."

"If I only had some decency left, Walter. If I only had some decency left."

MUSIC

Y. M. & W. H. A.

The Breeskin Ensemble presented the closing program for chamber music at the Young Men and Women's Hebrew Association last night—an hour of very good music. But two works were played, the gorgeous Cesar Franck Sonata for piano and violin and the Sinfonietta by Wolf-Ferrari, which was popular with the same audience last year.

J. Fred Lissfelt

The entire performance last night was hurried and at times far beneath the ability of the players. The ensemble has shown itself capable of excellent effects, but frequently ran to loud playing rather than to refined tone production.

Earl Truxall and Elias Breeskin played the well-beloved sonata, and for the first time in our recollection lost sight of his usual fine feeling for the ensemble. It was hardly suggestive of the magnificent and controlled passion of Franck's score. Breeskin's reading was cold and unresponsive.

Congressman Stephen G. Porter has been invited to make the principal address at the dedication, Memorial Day, of memorial tablets bearing names of Bellevue residents who saw service in the World War. Veterans organizations of the North Boroughs will participate in the ceremonies.

Society Blues

Tube City Harris Plans Anniversary

The first anniversary of the dedication of the John P. Harris Memorial Theater in McKeesport occurs Saturday, April 26. Just one year ago this house was opened to the public as a tribute to the memory of the man who founded the world's first all moving picture theater. The event is to be celeberated throughout the entire week, which marks the closing of the vaudeville season in this particular house. For the occasion quite unusual programs have been planned.

WE MEET TWO MOVIE LADIES AND WATCH ARTIST GET GIRL

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"Ladies of Leisure" is the new talkie in the Sheridan Square. Its theme is that of a not so good girl who is sort of reborn, via the true love route. Which might have been a daring theme in the pre-war days. But now—well, the movies have had young women stopping overnight in artists' studios before. So we're not a bit shocked. Just amused at how innocent the screen can make such escapades.

Like so many pictures of this type it is the idea and not fact that contains the element of naughtiness and daring. The ladies of leisure in this film—there are two of them—are on good behavior. One of them, our heroine and played by Barbara Stanwyck, might own a questionable past. But, aside from creating the gay butterfly illusion, the move-makers have managed to exclude the details. The other, portrayed by Marie Prevost, doesn't impress as being very scarlet either. Her chief "sin" is that she is too plump. But, in justice to her, we cite her defense. She says that you can't weigh sex appeal.

THEY SHOULD BE TOLD

Ralph Graves is present as a young and wealthy artist who gets the idea he wants to put that thing called Hope on his canvas. So he engages one of the leisure girls as his model. Then he gets cross with her when she is unable to look beyond or through the ceiling of his studio and to visualize the stars, the Somewhere Land and hope.

Well, he's an unsophisticated child—that's all. Someone should wise him, or Director Frank Capra, up. They should be told that the gay ladies, that come chasing out of night clubs a couple steps ahead of the dawn, don't have beautiful hope written all over their faces.

LOVE TRIUMPHANT

The cast does some keen work. That fellow Graves is an actor. And Miss Stanwyck is an actress. Her performance is outstanding. Other players include George Fawcett of wrinkled countenance and wrinkled crankiness, who does an irate father act, and Lowell Sherman, suave and sophisticated, who appears as the latest thing in men-about-town.

The picture is entertainment. It has boxoffice ingredients—in title, in theme and in the manner of its presentation. The romance between the artist and the model arouses interest and sympathy. You are all for the girl when the boy's parents intervene and do their best to chase Kid Cupid out of town. But, hurrah! It is love triumphant in the end.

Good Old Al!

JOE WAGSTAFF, LANE AND BOOP-A-DOOPS IN THE HARRIS

By EDWARD GOSS

"Let's Go Places," showing in the Harris this week, is one of the best pieces of entertainment in town for those who desire the song and dance. Making no pretext at plot, the show moves gaily along to the accompaniment of boop-doop-a-boop, or something like that.

Although the film is a musical romance laid in Hollywood—as all such films should be laid—the action begins when Joseph Wagstaff, playing the young tenor with a yen for the movies, is fired from his job as an artist for a shop specializing in fine raiment for women. Joseph does not have time to be depressed for his friend, Frank Richardson, appoints himself manager of the ex-artist. Now Frank is one of those funny guys with dynamic energy. He spends his last dollar for tickets to the movie metropolis and off they go.

COMES THE ROMANCE

Upon arrival in Hollywood the tenor and his manager are mistaken for a famous French tenor and his manager. That makes no difference, though. Joseph is pushed on to success by Richardson just before the French tenor arrives. Lola Lane is cast as the heroine and helps the young singer, because she likes him. He likes her, too. Hence, a little of the romantic.

Much of the show would have fallen with a splash if it had not though his life depended on the production and gets most of the laughs.

AND ON THE STAGE

On the stage, Dick Ware presents "School Days." Dick reads from a big book. That's bad. Audiences are tired of that little trick. Ada Brown, billed as "bluest of the blue," runs away with the whole show. Scooter Lowry, the tough boy from Hollywood, doesn't go over until he goes into his dance. Somebody should get Scooter a few new jokes.

GREENE PASTOR KILLED IN N. Y.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 21.—(AP.)—Dr. J. A. Knox, of Waynesburg, last night received a telegram from his brother, Judge John C. Knox, of New York, announcing the death there of Dr James Edgar Wilson, 48, pastor of the Waynesburg Presbyterian Church and prominent in church circles throughout Western Pennsylvania.

Dr. Wilson met his death when he fainted and toppled from the Thirty-fourth street platform in front of a subway express train Judge Knox said in his telegram.

Dr. Wilson had been ill of influenza, Dr. Knox said.

The minister formerly was moderator of the Washington Presbytery and at the time of his death was in charge of field activities of the presbytery.

Science Lecturer Talks At Kenyon

Christian Science as an antidote against fear in life was recommended by Richard J. Davis, of Chicago, yesterday in a free lecture on Christian Science in the Kenyon Theater, North Side. Mr. Davis maintained that every great man must have claimed his ability before he could put it to the test. Every great man, he said, knew he had the power to accomplish.

UNION PASTOR IMMERSED

An Easter Pageant, "The Triumph of Love," last night closed the special Easter program at the Community Church, Allendale street, Sheraden, featured in the morning by the baptism of ten adults and eight infants, and the admission of 85 new members. More than 1,000 attended the morning services.

A feature of the baptisms was the immersion of the Rev. J. M. Briceland, pastor of the church, a combination of the Christian, Presbyterian and United Presbyterian Churches of Sheraden. Mr. Briceland, pastor of the Presbyterian Church before the merger, was immersed in keeping with an agreement at the time the churches went together, that members should be baptized according to their desires.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. J. Johns, pastor of the Sheraden Baptist Church who soon retires from the ministery after 46 years service, and whose congregation is considering joining the union. He closed the services with a short sermon on "The Significance of Baptism."

The Community Church now has a membership of more than 1,000.

Patterson to Study Jury System Change

Chief Justice Von Moschzisker of the State Supreme Court has named Judge Frank P. Patterson of the Allegheny County Common Pleas Court chairman of a committee to study proposed changes in the jury system here, it was announced today. Proposals to give the jury commissioners wider discretionary power than allowed under the present law and to appoint the two jury commissioners by court rather than by election are to be considered.

Under the present system, two members of the Board of Jury Commissioners are elected by the people and the third is the presiding judge of Common Pleas Court.

Wilkinsburg Y. W. Entertains Pastors

The board of directors of the Y. W. C. A., Wilkinsburg, has sent out invitations to Wilkinsburg and Edgewood for an informal reception to be held in the Y tonight. The meeting has been called to perfect a more perfect co-operation between the organization and the churches.

HAD RHEUMATISM TEN YEARS: NEW KONJOLA ENDS IT

Pittsburgh Lady Also Freed of Stomach Trouble—Praises Modern Medicine.

Daily Konjola, the new and different medicine, is winning new fame and friends in Pittsburgh and wherever introduced. There is but one reason for such astounding success and that is—Konjola Makes Good.

MRS. ELIZABETH HAMILTON

And Konjola makes good in those stubborn cases that have defied and resisted all other medicines tried. Learn how this remarkable medicine goes to the root and source of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Call on the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, and get all the facts about this super-remedy.

Daily many men and women call on the Konjola Man to tell of the benefits derived through the use of Konjola. Many state that one bottle of Konjola brought relief, but it is recommended that six or eight bottles be taken to obtain the best results. Life teaches us no finer lesson than that it is wise to profit from the experiences of others. Take, as a typical example of Konjola at work, the case of Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton, 8 Hanway avenue, Bellevue Station, Pittsburgh. Now read what Mrs. Hamilton said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"For ten years I suffered from a dreadful case of rheumatism. The aches and pains were almost unbearable and as time passed my left hand became more and more numb. Then my stomach became disordered and soon I lost all desire for food. My tongue was heavily coated and the combination of all these miseries prevented me from sleeping soundly.

"Then I heard about Konjola and decided to give it a trial. That was a wise decision, for Konjola went right to work and soon made a wonderful improvement in my condition. By the time I finished eight bottles I felt like a different person. The rheumatism was completely driven from my body. Then my digestion was restored and now I eat what I please without the least distress. I sleep soundly and the coating on my tongue has disappeared. In fact, I feel better than for many years."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such hazardous ingredients its seeming wonders to work.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. FREE SAMPLES GIVEN by the Konjola Man. Konjola is sold also at all Dow stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

DOWNTOWN HOLDUP SUSPECT SHOT

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

NO BELIEVER in modesty, we feel we are entitled to boast that Sidewalks is first in robin news. We scooped the town on the arrival of the first robin wearing a straw hat (sighted by Grafton Duvall) and we scooped the town again on the arrival of the first robin not wearing a straw hat (sighted by A. V. Snell, of the Chamber of Commerce). And here we are again with a third scoop—the arrival of the Marshall robin.

The Marshall robin is the protege, so to speak, of Frederick Marshall, a secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Marshall. Each year, for the last five years, this same robin speeds up from the South and makes his meal-time residence on the Marshall lawn in Ellsworth avenue. You may ask how Mr. and Mrs. Marshall determine that it is always the same robin and not an impostor-robin. And we have the answer on the tip of our tongue: If the robin eats the crumbs which are tossed to him, it is the Marshall robin; if the robin refuses the crumbs, it is not the Marshall robin . . . At any rate, the Marshall robin is not to be confused with the Snell robin, although both Mr. Marshall and Mr. Snell are officials of the Chamber of Commerce.

UNTIL THE growth of the squawking talking pictures nobody but the moving-picture directors realized how many opportunities existed for singing songs. At breakfast, at the altar, in the divorce court, in the heat of a splendid argument, in a taxicab, on the docks, at the bi-monthly meeting of the Ladies' Literary Club—these are only a few of the scenes which don't seem complete without a sentimental ballad which is destined to sweep the country.

Take this scene, for instance: Hubby and wife are having words.

She—You brute.

He—You cat.

She—I'm going home to mother.

He—Go 'head, you dumbbell.

(Immediately an unseen orchestra swings into melodious action and we hear hubby warbling, "You May Be a Dumbbell But I Love You," with the Forty-eight Tiller Girls prancing on for the second chorus.)

* * *

THE TOMATO has gained a high place in the affections of a large part of the human race . . . From the dining car menus of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

It's a lie!

WE HAVE come upon a sure-fire method of saving money, thanks to the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company which is issuing dime books. The books contain 20 slits, into each of which you can slip 10-cent pieces. Every hour on the hour you examine your pocket change for dimes. As each book fills you run to the bank and in no time at all you have a library of dimes. That's probably how Mr. Rockefeller got his start.

We thought this a good stunt until we tried to do two things at once. We tried to walk up Fifth avenue and insert a dime into the book at one and the same time. The dime was stubborn, the weather was cold, our fingers were nearly frozen and, in desperation, we tossed the book into the air and shouted, "Down with thrift."

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 21.

SEE by the papers that down in Miami, Florida, they arrested Al Capone's brother on the golf course for vagrancy. A vagrant is a man that has no visible means of support. If they start enforcing that rule it will mean the death of golf. Maybe they searched him and he didn't have either a flask or a gun.

That would practically constitute vagrancy with a former Chicago resident. Well, I am going to Oklahoma. I been sitting here waiting for weeks for somebody to take our census. So I finally got an offer to go there and give 'em in.

Yours,

WILL.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ardeth Carroll is being wooed by Neil Burke, who rooms with her Aunt Stella. Almost every night when she returns home from work she finds him waiting in the hall for her, and he often causes her to be late for dinner. Aunt Stella gets angered and scolds Ardeth for holding back the meals. Ardeth feels depressed. Ardeth goes for a machine ride with Neil. Passing through a park Ardeth gazes at Kent Gleason, a college football player, whom she knows to see. Neil shows signs of jealousy. Later, when Neil kisses her, Ardeth realizes that she does not love him. Jeanette Parker, society girl, calls at the store to see Ardeth. Jeanette is revengeful against her own sister, Cecile, who is taking the spotlight of prominence from her. As an excuse to shun social events, Jeanette plans to open a specialty shop. Ardeth goes to work for her. Neil begs Ardeth to marry him, but she refuses. Gleason visits the shop and is introduced to Ardeth by Jeanette. Ken calls at the shop for Ardeth and takes her home in his machine. Ken asks Ardeth to visit his houseboat with him. Two others who were to go along back out.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI.

The smell of peeling paint . . . warm grass . . . soft lipping of water on the prow of a boat—ever after these things could flash this scene back; could send the same hot magic leaping through her blood.

Ardeth's head was flung back in complete surrender. She gave up her lips to Ken's kiss as eagerly as the parched earth drinks rain.

The next moment reason re-awoke. She forced herself out of the man's arms with a little gasp.

"Oh . . ." she said. "Oh . . ." and she gave a shaky laugh.

He did not respond. His eyes were dark—his lips compressed.

"You darling . . ." His hand shook as it went over the shining mass of her hair. "Darling . . ."

She was in his arms again, and after a moment her own arms crept up about his neck. A long moment they stood silent in the sunshine. Ken's face was buried in her hair. His breath was hot on her ear. She could feel the pumping of his heart shaking them both.

In her heart joy so keen that it was pain. She was trying to realize that . . . Ken—this was Ken who held her in a fierce embrace. Ken's arms imprisoning her . . . his voice, a husky whisper . . . "Darling . . . you darling . . ."

Says She's Sweet

Attracted to Her From The Start

He was kissing her closed eyelids. Ardeth felt that little—ever so little—would make her cry.

Then he was kissing her again—crushing her lips until they hurt. And surging through her blood, a primitive exultation of strength. A moment sweet and heady carrying her out of herself so that she clung like a wild thing, giving him back his kiss with equal ardor.

It was the man who finally drew away. He released her so suddenly that it left her startled. He turned away—walked to the rail and lit a cigaret.

The girl had sunk back on the couch, a crimpled little heap, watching him with deep eyes.

With the lighted cigaret Ken came back and sat down beside her. His eyes were dark, but he managed a faint smile.

"How can I help it when you're so sweet?" he asked.

Her lashes lifted. "You think I'm sweet?"

And he was on fire again. "The sweetest thing in the world!" he said between clenched teeth. "All day I've been fighting to keep my hands off of you. I wanted to kiss you the first time I saw you—I wanted to reach in the window and pull you out——"

Cecile Mentioned

Ardeth Asks Ken About Her

"That wasn't the first time," she said faintly.

"No," he agreed more steadily. "I saw you first in the park. We looked at each other—and I couldn't get you out of my head all day." He gave a harsh little laugh. "And what a scowl I got from the fellow you were with! He could have killed me!"

Ardeth made a little impatient gesture. "Oh—he doesn't count. Just a—friend," she evaded.

They avoided the other's eyes. Both stared out over the marsh. Still. So thrillingly still. The sunshine had deepened in tone—it had taken on the deep golden tinge of afternoon—a mellow tone somehow sad. Miles of sun-baked saw-grass and blue bay . . . an empty world and in the center of it, just they two . . .

Ken had pitched his cigaret over the rail. She felt his eyes on her face . . . Then again she was drawn into his arms. His ardent face poised just above her own; between his narrowed lashes his eyes were dark as ink.

"Crazy about you, Moth!" His voice shook though he tried to make it light. "Like me a little?"

"A lot?"

"A lot."

His breath was warm on her lips. "You're beautiful, Moth. Too darn beautiful! There ought to be a law against you!"

She tried to smile and felt tears sting her eyes. "As beautiful as Cecile Parker?" she could not help that slipping out.

"Cecile . . ." His voice was dry. "What brought her to your mind?"

Ardeth moistened her lips. Her eyes were fastened on his tense profile.

"Oh . . . nothing. Just because you were with her that day I saw you in the park, I suppose. You—you're great friends, aren't you?"

Family Friends

An Employe in Mr. Parker's Office

"Oh, sure," he answered carelessly. "The Parkers are old family friends of ours. There's just mother and me left in our family, you know. When I finished my engineering course at college, I went into Mr. Parker's office. They've all been mighty decent to mother and me."

"I thought . . . I thought . . ." she stammered.

"You thought I was rolling in money—like the Parkers?" he finished the thought for her. "Thanks for the compliment. I'm just a poor working man, Moth. Supporting my mother like the heroes of the Henty books I used to read when I was a kid . . ."

Something odd in his tone when he spoke of his mother. Ardeth looked up quickly. He was staring across the marshes lost in thought. His eyes were narrowed painfully.

Just a fleeting expression, gone as soon as she noticed it—gone as the cloud shadows passed over the sloughs.

As though he felt her eyes, he looked down and his arms tightened about her shoulders.

Blue fires kindled in his eyes and he smiled.

"Why all the conversation, sweetheart, when I could be kissing you?"

Crushed Foot Fatal To Mill Worker

A crushed right foot caused the death in the Braddock General Hospital of Daniel Untch, 56, of 144 East street, North Braddock, this morning. Untch, an employe of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at East Pittsburgh, dropped a piece of steel on his foot April 6 while at work in the plant. Infection of the injury caused death, was the report to the coroner.

DRIVER BEATEN, TAXI BURNED; 2 HUNTED

Abandoned Car Found Mass Of Ruins; 2 Others Jailed; Convict Strike Sympathizer

George W. Jamison, 35, a taxicab driver, was recovering today from a beating received at the hands of two men who early yesterday engaged his cab at the William Penn Hotel, and attacked him at Capitol and West Liberty avenues. The men then stole the cab and drove to Lonergan way, Mt. Washington, in company with two other men, where they abandoned the auto after setting it on fire. Firemen from Engine Company No. 60 found it a mass of flames when they responded to an alarm sent in by nearby residents.

TWO ARRESTED

Two men were arrested by Mt. Washington police several hours later at Arlington avenue and Climax street, after residents telephoned the Mt. Washington station and reported them piling up stones on the corner. At the police station, where they were booked as suspicious persons, they said they were Leo Fagan, 25, of 1011½ Liberty avenue, and Steve Barish, 28, of 223 Cortland street. They were fined $25 each after denying the charge.

Cabs today were operating in the downtown and East Liberty districts. Rumors continued that the Parmelee Transportation Company, owners of the Green and Yellow companies, would place a fleet of 200 cabs in operation Wednesday between the downtown district and Forbes Field.

GETS THIRD SENTENCE

Joseph DeRocco, taxicab strike sympathizer who was held in contempt of court on two charges last week, was found guilty on a third count today by Judge James R. Macfarlane in Criminal Court, and sentenced to pay a $200 fine or serve 60 days in jail.

Last week DeRocco began serving a 60-day sentence levied by Judge James H. Gray in the previous charges. The two sentences will be concurrent, for the most part.

DeMolay Chapter To Present Play

"Tommy," a comedy in three acts, by Howard Lindsay and Bertrand Robinson, will be given in Carnegie Hall, Braddock, Tuesday and Wednesday nights by members of Tancred Chapter, Order of DeMolay, and student nurses of the Braddock General Hospital. The following will take part: William Weissbach, Jr., Ray Baldridge, Miles Berthold, Blair I. Hazen, Charles P. Farr, H. Bruce McClure, Andrew Ramsay and James Craig.

E. Pittsburgh Man Held for Attack

Joseph Kovacik, 23, of 347 Beech street, East Pittsburgh, said by police to have twice struck John Blough, 38, of 819 Linden avenue, East Pittsburgh, on the head with an iron pipe, is to be given a hearing tonight before Burgess James Beech, of East Pittsburgh. The alleged attack occurred at Wood and Electric avenues, East Pittsburgh, yesterday, police said.

Dormont Schools Rename Radcliffe

At the regular meeting of the Dormont Board of Education, Ralph Radcliffe was re-elected as superintendent of schools of that borough. The new term is for four years.

Boiled-Over Kettle Calls Out Firemen

Firemen from No. 4 Engine Company this morning answered an alarm sent in when an overheated kettle filled the Diamond Poultry Company, 85 Logan street, with steam. No damage resulted.

ROOSTER FIGHT RAIDED TWICE

Twice within an hour a cock fight in a former Irene Kaufmann Settlement camp, Harmar Township, was raided, Agent E. M. Smith, of the Humane Society, revealed today.

Justice of the Peace Lawrence Sutton and constables of Springdale conducted the first raid and collected $5 forfeits. An hour later Smith and constables arrived, arrested 31 men and took the 24 fighting birds, four of them dead. A fight was in progress when they arrived. The prisoners posted $25 forfeits.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., April 21.—Forty men were arrested and 40 birds valued at $1,000 and a large quantity of liquor were confiscated yesterday by Ohio and Pennsylvania police in a raid on a cocking main in a wooded zone at the eastern edge of East Liverpool.

Smith to Address Church Brotherhood

Former Assistant United States Attorney Ralph H. Smith will address the Brotherhood of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West View, tonight in the Sunday school auditorium. The brotherhood orchestra will play and moving pictures will be shown.

Police Arrest Man For Street Shooting

Accused of having fired a revolver early today in William Penn way at Oliver avenue, Louis Joseph, 32, was arrested and lodged in the Central Police Station on a suspicious person charge. Joseph, who told police he lived at the William Penn Hotel, gave no reason for his action.

Carnegie Conference Plans Traffic Aid

Conferences are being held by state, county and Carnegie borough officials to consider the elimination of grade crossings to relieve traffic congestion in that borough. Several proposals have been submitted but no definite conclusion has yet been reached.

Trustees Chosen By Avalon Church

At the annual congregational meeting of the Avalon United Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. O. H. Milligan, pastor; D. D. Grant, J. L. McMahon and Leroy Behner were chosen trustees. Lester C. McDonald was elected treasurer.

POLICEMAN'S GUN HALTS ESCAPE

Prisoner With $15,000 Saved Accused in Restaurant Thefts; Confesses Killing

A former railroad auditor who has investments of $15,000 legally saved from his salary, today was held for court as a holdup man, having been shot and wounded, police say, while fleeing from a downtown restaurant which he is alleged to have held up yesterday morning. It was his second downtown robbery within three days, police said.

The prisoner, Clarence L. Fish, 37, of Steubenville, O., police say, tells a story of having slain a policeman in Jenkins, Ky., three years ago. Police are investigating the killing story. Today he was held by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg on two charges of robbery, one of carrying concealed weapons and pointing and discharging firearms.

HOLDUP ADMITTED

Fish was shot in the left hand by Policeman Charles Newbauer at Fifth avenue and Grant street, after he is said to have robbed J. R. Tims, of 5305 Beeler street, cashier in Null's Restaurant, 210 Smithfield street, of $77. He admitted, detectives say, to being the man who held up Gammon's Restaurant, 100 Smithfield street, Friday morning, and escaped with $50, while more than a score of customers were dining.

Fish told detectives, they say, that he was out of work and did not wish to disturb the $15,000 savings. He says he has bonds of this value in safe deposit vaults in Pomeroy and Columbus, O., and a wife and five children living in Steubenville. He has been living at the Hotel Grise, Penn avenue, since January, he told police.

CASH FOR EDUCATION

Police say Fish told them he was using some of the stolen money to complete his education. His story was substantiated by the finding of correspondence and instructions in a mail order course in electrical engineering in his room. Regarding the story of the Kentucky killing, he said he had been arrested, but released after a preliminary hearing.

Coraopolis Protests Telephone Change

Announced intentions of the Bell Telephone Company for changes in the system of Coraopolis has brought a formal protest from citizens of that borough, who have carried their objections to the plan before the borough council. The company proposed to rearrange its telephone lines and use the old poles for anchorage purposes.

Mt. Oliver Council Votes Playground

Negotiations are now under way for the purchase of the Fink estate in Mt. Oliver, to be used as a playground. The council at a special meeting passed an ordinance authorizing the purchase. The site comprises an acre of ground bouned by Ormsby and Church avenues and Otilla street.

Hill Top Veterans To Present Play

The program is nearing completion for the presentation of "The Womanless Wedding" by Hill Top Post 438, American Legion, and its Woman's Auxiliary, Wednesday and Thursday nights. The cast is composed entirely of prominent men of the district.

Class at Bellevue To Meet Tomorrow

The woman's Bible class of Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church will meet at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. S. K. Rodgers, 430 Dawson avenue, Bellevue.

BUSES SCANNED FOR SISTERS

City detectives today were watching bus depots here for two sisters who are reported to have left their homes in Homer City last night. The police were told that Miss Ruth Nicodemus, 18, and her sister, Ruby, 21, were seen boarding a Pittsburgh-bound bus at Blairsville.

The elder sister is married, but the report failed to give her married name. Shortly after 3 o'clock this morning, a young man who said he was the elder sister's husband, entered the police station at Wilkinsburg, searching for the pair. Without coat or hat he had hitch-hiked on their supposed route. When informed no trace had been found, he started to return via the same means.

Bank at Trafford Votes Name Change

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank, Trafford, it was voted to change the name of the institution by eliminating the word "city" from the title. The change has been authorized by the controller of currency at Washington.

MOTHER OF 4 SCOFFS DIET

An average family of six can live on $12.50 a week in the purchase of food only, but Mrs. Thomas Muldowney, 7 Beelan street, one of the thriftiest mothers in Soho, who has done it, does not advise it.

That was her comment when informed that six young women of Carnegie Tech had accomplished it on a budget system and managed to have chicken once a week. Mrs. Muldowney, who has four children, herself and husband to feed, says it ordinarily requires around $20 a week to buy the food.

"You can do a lot of things when you have to," said Mrs. Muldowney, "but it's a difficult thing to buy the food supply on $12.50, feed your hardworking husband and growing children, in justice to your loved ones."

Mrs. Muldowney has never tried out the budget system, but says she endeavors to make a dollar go as far as the average mother, under ordinary circumstances. She differentiates also between what a person must do and should do, in making her deductions on family needs.

Yo Yo Players Find New Stunts for Tricky Toys

All that is necessary to obtain one of the popular novelties is to clip a coupon from the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and present it today between the hours of 1 and 6 o'clock at these Warner Brothers' theaters: Regent, Liberty, Manor, Schenley, Belmar, Rowland, Arsenal, Plaza.

With the increasing popularity of the toy, many new tricks are being discovered. The latest has been devised by Charles Hague, of the Jefferson Apartments, Forward avenues. He calls it the "giant swing." How is it done? By throwing the Yo Yo with an underhand swing to its fullest length, then jerking it around in a complete circle and letting it snap back into the hand.

This trick doubtless will be seen in the championship Yo Yo contest to be held in Warner Brothers' theaters. To the best Yo Yoers will go many prizes.

Tardy Reward Conferred On War Hero

Bravery in leading a squad of soldiers to the support of another infantry outfit under heavy fire an hour before the Armistice halted the World War, had its tardy reward today for Charles W. Hamilton, of 123 Springfield avenue, Washington, Pa., when the War Department conferred an official citation.

Hamilton, then a sergeant in Company H, One Hundred and Tenth Infantry, took command of the unit, according to the citation, north of Haumont, France, November 11, 1918, after the commander became ill. From that point Hamilton led his men under heavy machine gun, artillery and rifle fire to its place in support of the One Hundred and Ninth Infantry, badly in need of reinforcements.

The citation reads:

"By his prompt action, his coolness and courageous leadership, Sgt. Hamilton inspired his men and they marched forward in perfect order."

Hamilton now is a constable in Washington, working out of the office of Alderman John F. Carmichael.

BREWERY STAIN FINGERPRINTS LAID TO FAZIO

Chemical Report Supports Theory 'Barrel' Murder Occurred in Beer Plant

Indication that William J. Gregory, barrel murder victim, may have been slain in a wildcat brewery on Lorigan street was seen by police today when County Chemist F. C. Buckmaster reported that stains found on articles in the brewery were made by blood.

The spattered objects, held by county detectives, include a wrench with which Gregory is believed to have been struck, a cord and an electric light bulb. Stains on the floor also were made by blood, Buckmaster said.

According to Detective Frank Ritz: fingerprints mingled with the spots on the bulb have been identified as those of Philip Fazio, Clairton racketeer held in connection with the crime. Fazio is declared to have been the head of a beer gang which Gregory double-crossed.

PLAYED IN CLAY, NOW SCULPTOR

By PENELOPE REDD.

A little girl who once made the baby chicks and puppies of the neighborhood out of the back yard's clay has developed into one of Pittsburgh's few women sculptors in the person of Marie Dollard.

Penelope Redd

Miss Dollard, in her spick and span studio on Liberty avenue, carries over the enthusiasm of childhood into sculptures that indicate a promising future.

DESIGNED FOUNTAIN

She has done garden pieces of genuinely spontaneous charm. Her "Sunshine Fountain," showing the figure of a young boy, is salvaged from trite sweetness by the absurd presence of a baby pelican. This fountain was designed for the garden at Dr. A. L. Lewin's summer home on the Greensburg Pike.

Miss Dollard, however, does more than garden figures. She is constantly experimenting with models. At the moment she is engaged on a study of a dancer as an expression of grace.

She also disciplines herself in the medium of sculptured portraits where likeness and character are essential motives.

Like all young sculptors, Miss Dollard is faced by the necessity of literally working as an apprentice with established sculptors in order to gain experience in working upon monumental sculpture.

PRACTICAL ASSET

Her most practical asset for the future is a tremendous energy. While she models constantly, she is also working toward her master's degree in education to complete the training as an art teacher which she had previously secured at the college of fine arts in the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Miss Dollard is typical of the young artists who suddenly appear bearing prizes from afar, while all along a thorough and painstaking groundwork has been going on, unobserved.

MYSTERY VEILS PARTY INJURY

Wilbert Diamond, 22, of 11 Clifton road, today was recovering in St. John's Hospital from injuries suffered, police say, while attending a party at the home of John Vaughan, of 2362 California avenue, early yesterday.

Diamond, cut on the head, was taken to the hospital by police. Eight men found in the house were arrested. At a hearing in Morals Court they were released on their own recognizance pending Diamond's release from the hospital. The men denied the report that Diamond was injured in a free-for-all fight. The victim was unable to tell police how he had sustained the injury.

DAY OF VICTORY DAWNS FOR 'TOPPER'

10 Seen Where Only One Appeared in 1929; Gowns Show Many Spring Lines

Everywhere, in church and street and garden, the flood of brightness surged. Jubilant choristers sang in remembrance of Christ's Resurrection; milady wore her smartest frock and suit, in light shades adorned with corsage of spring flowers.

Following church services, particularly in the Bellefield, Shadyside and East Liberty districts, males sallied forth in a burst of fashion. With boutonniere in coat lapel, spats and—above all—the silk hat, they shared honors with woman who would rule sartorial destinies. Even nature responded, sending a brilliant sun and bringing out many blossoms for the day.

SIK HATS GALORE

There were ten silk hats yesterday where the year previous one was to be seen. And there were fewer derbies. Yesterday was a day of victory for the silk.

Fifth avenue had its annual promenade after church services, but the principal processions were through the Phipps conservatories in Schenley and West Park. Many thousands saw the special flower shows, lily, hydrangea and all, which had been prepared under the direction of James Moore, parks superintendent.

PAINTING PRESENTED

Worshipers at the Church of the Ascension viewed a copy of Raphael's "Transfiguration," hung in the church during the week as the gift of Robert McKay.

The painting is one of three copies made of the famous original in the Vatican Galleries, the others being in the possession of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, and the Toronto, Canada, Art Gallery.

The painting has been a prized possession of the McKay family. The gift by McKay, who is chairman of the property committee of the church, is part of a movement to beautify the interior of the edifice.

Ralph Cram, famous American church architect, made a special study of the church several years ago, and suggested that the beauty of the interior could be enhanced by the addition of pictures and tapestries.

CRASH TOSSES 2 FROM AUTO

Four men were hurt, two seriously, when two autos collided today at Sheridan avenue and St. Marie street, East End.

Frank Braun, 27, of 820 Oregon street, Etna, received a fracture of the collarbone and Martin Chernof, 25, of 3733 Frazier street, was injured on the head. L. L. Heidish, 25, of Verona, and O. G. Crawford, 24, of Mt. Lebanon Township, were cut.

Braun and Crawford, the drivers, both swerved onto the lawn of Thomas Hogencamp's home at 6024 St. Marie street after they had sideswiped. Crawford and Chernof, were tossed from their car, which crashed against the Hogencamp porch.

The men were taken to Pittsburgh Hospital. Charges of reckless driving were placed against the drivers.

Davis on Trial for New Year's Killing

John Davis, Hill district Negro, was placed on trial in Criminal Court today, charged with the murder of James W. Scott, 35, Negro, of 1711 Wylie avenue. Davis is alleged to have fatally stabbed Scott in an argument New Year's Day. He died two hours later in Passavant Hospital.

Store Janitor Held In $2,000 Theft

Clarence Lewis, 38, of Epiphany street, Negro janitor employed at a downtown store, was held for court under $2,500 bail this morning by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court. Lewis was arrested in connection with the theft of merchandise valued at $2,000 from the store.

$1,000 FINE SET ON INCOME TAX

Joseph Mazer, former proprietor of a garage, today was fined $1,000 by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson on a charge of failing to file an income tax for the year 1922.

The government charged Mazer should have filed a return for $24,000. The charge was made against him February 28, 1926, and he entered a plea of no defense on May 2, 1928. The sentence was postponed numerous times owing to compromise offers of a settlement being made to the bureau of internal revenue.

Officers Elected By Ben Avon Church

The congregation of the Ben Avon United Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. W. T. Lytle, pastor, has elected these officers: Chairman, Guilford H. Goodwin; secretary, Charles A. Warren; treasurer, W. W. Wiggins; trustees, G. H. Goodwin, Arthur E. Prack and Robert L. Thompson, Jr.

Rotary Arranges 'Charter Night'

Members of the Trafford Rotary Club are inviting members of the Wilmerding organization to a celebration of Charter Night to be held in the Methodist Church, Trafford, Thursday night, May 1. Dinner will be served and a pleasing program has been arranged by the committee.

Vote Culvert Over Dangerous Stream

The Coraopolis Borough Council at a recent meeting acted to remove a dangerous condition caused by the overflowing in rainy season of McCabe's Run. The condition was eliminated by voting a 150 foot arch over the stream at a cost of $10,500.

Boast of 'Pull' Fails to Save Man Fine

His alleged boast that he was an influential citizen and engaged in the business of selling clearing house numbers resulted, police say, in Edward Fisher, 23, of Spring Garden avenue, being assessed a $50 fine in North Side Police Court yesterday. Fisher, according to a police report, was arrested early Sunday in a restaurant in the North Side Market House when he refused to pay for a meal.

In the police station he is alleged to have boasted of his influence and profession. Magistrate Ray S. Kneider told the prisoner he would have to go to jail for 30 days unless he had influence enough to raise $50 fine. Fisher raised the money.

Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

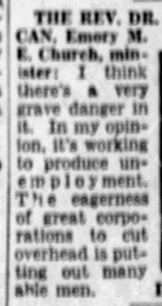
Today's question: Do mergers, such as mammoth public utility and merchandising amalgamations work to the best interest of most of the people?

Mrs. Finkelstein

MRS. MARY FINKELSTEIN, East End, housewife: I think they're only of benefit to the capitalist. Everytime a merger goes through, some poor fellows are thrown out of work.

W. H. Stevenson

WILLIAM H. STEVENSON, Oakland, executive: Speaking for a company that just merged with another, I think that mergers of local firms are often justified. Our purpose was to reduce overhead and increase purchasing power and pass on that reduction in expense to the public in reduced prices. Competition between some types of larger mergers pretty often brings such results.



Dr. W. T. Duncan

THE REV. DR. W. W. T. DUNCAN, Emory M. E. Church, minister: I think there's a very grave danger in it. In my opinion, it's working to produce unemployment. The eagerness of great corporations to cut overhead is putting out many able men.

Cousin Lora

COUSIN LORA, WCAE, radio entertainer: Excepting for the unemployment angle, I would say that mergers are beneficial, if handled by persons who aren't greedy for more money than they have a right to expect. Greater efficiency, profit to thousands of stockholders, cheaper prices to the public are some of their virtues.

Henry Ellenbogen

HENRY ELLENBOGEN, Plaza Building, attorney: Economic causes require the organizations of large units on the part of capital as well as on the part of labor. Large units, if properly supervised and regulated by proper public authorities may benefit the public.

AILEEN HITE

AILEEN HITE, Sewickley, student: Isn't it pretty dangerous to let a few men hold power over hundreds of thousands of employes? Mergers produce firms that can control prices, often keep many persons out of work. Controlled, I guess they're all right.

Rev. W. R. McGeary Honored by Pastors

The Rev. W. R. McGeary, who will be installed as pastor of the Knoxville United Presbyterian Church Friday night, today was elected president of the United Presbyterian Ministerial Association. The Rev. R. S. Copeland, pastor of the Brookline United Presbyterian Church, was chosen vice president and the Rev. Roy Leach, pastor of Ross Community Church, Ross Township, secretary. The holding of vesper services was discussed, but no action was taken. Giving church members something to do, it was the consensus, would help solve the Sunday evening attendance problem.

Mulvihill Named To Assessors' Board

James P. Mulvihill, of the Fourteenth Ward, today was appointed to the minority party place on the Board of City Assessors by Mayor Charles H. Kline. He takes the place of M. B. Donnelly, of the Fifth Ward, a supporter of James F. Malone, who was subsequently dropped by Kline. Mulvihill has been active in Democratic politics for many years.

ONE KILLED, NINE INJURED IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

FETE TO MARK BRADDOCK'S DEFEAT

Battlefield Furbished For 176th Anniversary Of Monongahela Conflict

Furbishing up a battlefield is the unique job that has fallen to the citizens' committees of the boroughs of Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin in preparation for the big celebration July 8 and 9 of the one hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of the great conflict on the Monongahela in the French and Indian War.

Where the populous community of the three towns crowds between the river and the hills was the scene in 1755 of one of the most sanguinary battles in American annals. In the short space of four hours nearly 800 men in Braddock's army of 1,400 picked troops were killed and scalped. Braddock was mortally wounded, the remainder of his forces routed and the expedition against Ft. Duquesne, the French stronghold at the forks of the Ohio, ended in disaster.

The landmarks of the battle have been well marked and in preparation for the anniversary observance the bronze tablets are being polished and the inscriptions made more legible; the sandbar, where Braddock forded the river at Frazier's cabin will be cleared off, and on an open space half way up the hillside will be erected a heroic statue of Col. George Washington, Braddock's volunteer aide and the savior of the army.

George A. Todd, general chairman for the celebration, who is directing the preparations, said that the community of Braddock would have nearly half a million visitors during the exercises and in the great influx of tourists during the summer.

DRIVER LOSES LIFE IN CRASH AT TUBES

Two Motorcycle Officers Hurt in Collision at Clairton; Children Hurt

When their automobile crashed into the traffic circle at the north end of the Liberty Tubes early yesterday, James Goodwin, 40, a Negro, of 132 East Twelfth avenue, Homestead, driver of the car, was killed, and his three passengers injured.

Paul Goodwin, the victim's brother; Morris Wilson, a Negro, of 517 Wilson street, Duquesne, and William Harrison, a Negro, of 11½ Pear way, thrown from the machine, were taken to the South Side Hospital.

Motorcycle Patrolman John Bodner, 27, of Mitchell avenue, Clairton, is in the McKeesport Hospital suffering from a probable fracture of the skull, and Motorcycle Patrolmen E. G. Bryant, 27, of State street, Clairton, is recovering from bruises and lacerations sustained when their motorcycle, driven by Bryant, collided with an automobile yesterday in State street, between Locust and Walnut streets, Clairton.

DRIVER SUMMONED

E. B. Shanks, of 463 Reed street, Clairton, who, police said, was the driver of the automobile, was arrested but liberated later pending hearing tonight before Magistrate B. B. Samuels. The impact caused the motorcycle to careen across the street and against a brick wall.

A woman and a girl were injured yesterday when automobiles, police say, driven by Gilbert Dunn, 42, of 238 Candace street, and Charles F. Sossong, 47, of 206 Third street, Carnegie, collided at West Liberty avenue and Brookline Junction. Alice Dunn, 8, riding in her father's machine, suffered a laceration of the arm. Mrs. John E. Hayes, of 702 Lee street, Carnegie, a passenger in Sossong's car, also sustained lacerations. Both were treated by a nearby physician.

HIT-RUN CHARGE

Peter Sincine, of 1409 Jerome street, McKeesport, was being held in the Monessen lockup as a hit-and-run driver, police say. Sincine is said to have fled after his automobile struck and damaged one driven by Mrs. Joseph Baker, of 200 Meldon avenue, Donora, at Webster, Pa.

Edith Smith, 5, of 1515 Grandview avenue, North Braddock, was recovering today at her home from body bruises and lacerations sustained when knocked down by an automobile in Main street, East Pittsburgh. Charles Biss, of 1505 Brinton avenue, North Braddock, driver of the car, police said, was arrested but released later on his own recognizance.

Williams Klems, 4, of 870 Third avenue, Brackenridge, was confined to his home today suffering from a fracture of the leg sustained when struck by a car near his home. The alleged driver of the car, Steve L. Szymkowiak, of 18 Greenwich street, Natrona, was not arrested.

BRITISH, FRENCH VISITORS HERE

Americans have accomplished greater things in industrial welfare since the World War than England has, although the British nation is quickly taking pattern from us, declared Guy P. Holden, of London, service department head of the British Industrial Welfare Society, today, during a visit of English welfare workers to the Heinz plant, North Side.

Holden and his party are on tour of the United States investigating industrial problems. They arrived in Pittsburgh today.

Heinz plant officials were also hosts to a party of more than a score of French manufacturers, industrialists and their wives, who were shown through the establishment.

Howard Heinz, president of the company, addressed the British welfare workers and their guests at a luncheon in the auditorium.

CAR PAY MEETS TO RESUME

Officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and representatives of 2,800 conductors and motormen are expected to resume negotiations this week on the new wage scale asked by the men. The agreement with the company expires April 30. No definite day has been fixed for the conference, it was said today.

The men last week turned down a proposition made them by the company by a vote of 1,818 to 112. The company has refused to grant a new wage scale asked by the men.

GRAF STAMPS IN DEMAND

Pittsburgh's sale of the new air mail stamps printed for use on mail to be carried by the Graf Zeppelin when the giant ship makes its first European-Pan-American round trip flight opened briskly this morning with the first sale totaling $183.

H. A. Low, 131 Graham street, was the buyer. Mr. Low wanted more of the stamps and explained that he was a collector.

He was told to come back again.

The special issue of Zeppelin stamps was printed in three denominations—65-cent, $1.30 and $2.60. Pittsburgh postoffice received 25,000 of each denomination. The issue is limited to 1,000,000 stamps of each denomination, which will remain on sale until the departure of the Graf Zeppelin from Lakehurst, N. J., on the return flight. The stamps unsold will be called in and destroyed, as well as the plates. The Zeppelin flight will begin next month.

OAKMONT LINKS SUSPECT HELD

When he was unable to explain his presence in the locker room of the Oakmont Country Club, Joseph Weidener, 22, who gave his home as 3830 Girard avenue, Philadelphia, was arrested by Oakmont police and turned over to Pittsburgh detectives for questioning.

Weidener, a former student of Villa Nova, said that he came here two days ago in search of a friend, John Galley, who had participated in an open golf championship match at the Oakmont Club in 1927, and whom he believed to be a member of the club.

He denied he had been loitering around the lockers and said that his mistake had been in not going directly to the main desk. He was being held pending an investigation.

LIQUOR SEIZURE HELD ILLEGAL

Judge R. M. Gibson today in Federal Court refused a motion of the government to set aside an order of the judge handed down last Thursday directing prohibition authorities to return four kegs of whisky seized from Dr. Delano C. Thomas, of 416 Willow avenue, Edgewood.

The motion was made on behalf of prohibition authorities by Assistant United States District Attorney William J. Aiken. It maintained that Judge Gibson had erred in holding that the right of forfeiture of liquor under the prohibition act extends only to liquor seized on service of search warrants.

In refusing the motion, Judge Gibson told Aiken that he could appeal the ruling to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Dormont Church Sets Record For Growth

"Fastest growing Baptist church in America is the record which the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church of Dormont holds, according to church officials.

The church membership was boosted by 65 yesterday, when the pastor, the Rev. Edward Bleakney, received that many new members, bringing the total membership to 816. There were to have been 90 additions yesterday, but on account of illness and other causes, these, Mr. Bleakney said, will be received later.

The congregation is building a new church, which, when completed, will represent an investment of $350,000. The old edifice was long outgrown, requiring the membership to meet in the Harris South Hills Theater. Mr. Bleakney has doubled the membership in his two years as pastor. Dr. H. W. Ewalt has been made chairman of the finance committee of the church.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Helen West Marrying Today

Loveliest of all the events of Easter Monday is the wedding today of Helen Rebecca West, daughter of Mr. Charles Howard West, and Alexander Logan Wilson, son of Mrs. John Logan, of the King Edward Apartments.

The ceremony is taking place at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon in the home of the bride's father and mother, Forbes street, with the Rev. Dr. Stuart Nye Hutchison of the East Liberty Presbyterian Church officiating. An embankment of pink rambler roses and cibotium ferns forms the background for the wedding. Throughout the house are ferns and vases and baskets of spring flowers.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, is wearing a lovely gown of ivory satin, fashioned with a train and a long full skirt. Her veil, worn by her mother at her wedding, is of tulle with a cap of rose point lace. And she is carrying lillies of the valley and sweetheart rosebuds.

Orchid Gown

The matron of honor, the bride's sister, Mrs. William J. Powell, is wearing a gown of orchid chiffon, fashioned with a long full skirt, high waist-line and cap sleeves. Her hat of horsehair, and satin slippers are a deeper shade of orchid. And she is carrying a fan bouquet of yellow iris.

The bridesmaids are wearing gowns of lettuce green chiffon, made like that of the matron of honor, with horsehair hats and satin slippers in a deeper shade. And the charming bridesmaids are Frances Eddy of Newtonville, Mass.; Bettie Dunlap, Louise Evans, Kittie Schley, all popular members of Pittsburgh's younger set, and Alice Paige Cleveland of Cleveland. They are all carrying fan bouquets of yellow iris.

There's a youthful ringbearer too, the little nephew of the bride, S. Brainard West, Jr.

Serving as best man for his brother is John Watts Wilson, and as ushers are S. Brainard West, the bride's brother, Donald Straub, Addison Wilson, of Princeton, and H. Allen Machesney, Jr.

a gown of beige lace with a hat of cinnamon brown lace, and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Wilson has chosen a gown of green crepe with a hat to match, and is also wearing a corsage of orchids.

The billiard room of the home is transformed into a rose arbor with smilax and rambler roses entwined on a lattice, and the table for the bridal party is arranged in the form of a hollow square with a fountain playing in the center. Vases of spring flowers decorate the table.

The young Wilsons will go to Bermuda for their wedding trip, and will be at home in Plainfield, N. J., the latter part of May.

The whole world's rejoicing that Lent is over, and that spring is here, and that the social calendar boasts of events as varied as the flowers of the season.

Dances and dinners for the younger set, weddings and benefits will fill the days. Yesterday boasted of interesting events, including family reunions and housewarmings.

Added to our many social interests are travel plans and betrothal announcements. Today first of all I want to tell you about a betrothal of a member of the younger set.

The Eugene S. Reillys, of Wightman street, have made known the engagement of their daughter, Ursula, to Joseph Harding Gillespie of Pittsburgh, formerly of Boston, Mass. He's the son of Mrs. Anne Gillespie and the late Michael J. Gillespie of Boston. And Ursula will be one of our June brides, I've heard.

Yesterday brought an interesting event for the younger set. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan and their daughter, Peggy,

Easter Events

And the Clark Millers, of Park Mansions, entertained with a tea yesterday, and the junior Gordon Fishers were at home yesterday in their new residence on Pembroke Place.

And now for news of our travelers. Miss Neil Stewart, who's been in Florida for the winter, stopped in Washington on their way home to attend the Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution. And coming from the South with her were Mrs. J. E. Whittaetter, Mrs. Howard Eavenson, and Mrs. James B. Oliver.

* * *

Baltimore will be the new home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Tellarro, of Grant street, who returned last week from Wilmington, where they have been all winter. They

Art Contest For Clubs To Open

With the enthusiastic approval and co-operation of the American home department of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women a contest will be launched among the clubwomen of the southwestern district on May 1. Kaufmann's department store is offering $500 to the club which carries out, in the year from May, 1930, to 1931, the most comprehensive program on art in industry, but the contest is open to unfederated clubs as well as to those affiliated with the State Federation.

The contest is for the purpose of extending and stimulating interest in handcraftsmanship and other phases of art in industry by means of concentrated efforts on the part of the clubwomen during the next 12 months. It will open May 1 simultaneously with the unveiling of the Boardman Robinson mural paintings on Kaufmann's first floor, and will close next year with an exhibition of the work done and programs carried out by the clubs.

The award will be made on a two-fold basis: An itemized report listing the year's activities relating to art in industry prepared by the club's secretary and submitted to the contest jury before the closing date and the display which will be held in Kaufmann's auditorium the week of May 11, 1931.

The year's activities may include speakers or papers prepared by club members, club sponsorship of individual artisans, club encouragement or teaching of handcraftsmanship or any other angle which the women's ingenuity may devise. The exhibit will, of course, include examples of handcraftsmanship made either by club members or individuals sponsored by the club.

Mrs. Phillips, in a letter to all affiliated southwestern district clubs, stresses the significance of the movement in that it tends to bring back handcraftsmanship in this machine age, a movement which will, she points out, affect the problem of unemployment and "the right use of leisure," the theme of the present administration of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

CLEVER DESIGNER PRESENTS LATEST ENSEMBLE CREATION

Sketched in Paris

PARIS, APRIL 21.—The elaborately simple ensemble has its niche in the wardrobe. It is generally of a soft shade in heavy, sheer or fine soft material, silk or woolen and is cut in intricate a simple manner to achieve silhouette, but often striking its keynote, Gracious dignity is trimming and fine fur contrives usually to put such a costume in the luxury class, and make the wearer of it, the cynosure of many admiring eyes. Such an ensemble bestows quite an "air," and so, each season sees certain designers who have made a practice of making these garments, outdoing their previous efforts with striking and alluringly feminine creations. Various shades of gray, biscuit and deep beige seem to lend themselves particularly well to the dressy ensemble designed specifically for formal daytime activities.

LUCIEN LELONG is one of the couturiers who is considered especially adept in his creation of lovely, soft ensembles designed on intricately simple lines. And so, we are very pleased to be able to send you two sketches of a new ensemble made by this clever couturier. It demonstrates cleverly the use of two materials to form a harmonious costume. The first sketch is of the two-thirds length coat which is of greige wool poplin, very light in texture. The border of the slashed cape and the standing collar are of blue fox. The straight, close-fitting sleeve has a slashed overpiece reaching to below the elbow.

THE FROCK sketched completes the ensemble. It is entirely of greige georgette, with many circular flounces, including a deep bib at the front of the bodice, to lend a touch of extreme softness and femininity to the silhouette. The sleeves end at the elbow and are finished with deep flounces.

Lila Lee reveals the way to be Winning

"EVERY normal girl wants to be captivating," says Lila Lee, the girl whose dark fascination has made her an adored favorite on the screen. "And every girl can be if only she will keep her skin lovely.

"For smooth, soft skin has an irresistible charm—a charm which every screen star, certainly, knows she must have.

"Hollywood directors discovered long ago that only with ravishingly beautiful skin can a girl win her way into the public's heart.

"When you face the glare of the great close-up lights, you know that even the tiniest flaw in the skin is fatal! So you see why smooth, fine-textured skin is especially important to a star!

MARGARET LIVINGSTON
Columbia Star:
"Keeps my skin smooth!"

"A few years ago some of us began using Lux Toilet Soap and now most all of us do—and are delighted with it!

"Its lather is so quick and gentle, and it keeps the skin smoothly clear—with that soft, glowing look that is so tempting.

"Naturally, my advice to the girl who wants to be winning is take regular, intelligent care of your skin!"

9 out of 10 Screen Stars use it—in Hollywood—on Broadway—in Europe

Of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 are devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. All the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms!

DOROTHY REVIER
Columbia Star:
"It's delightful!"

The lovely Broadway stage stars, too, have discovered that Lux Toilet Soap gives their skin just the gentle care that is required to keep it lovely.

And now the European stars are using this fragrant white soap! You, too, will want to try it. Order several cakes—today.

LILA LEE, irresistibly beautiful star, in the luxurious bathroom built for her in Hollywood. She says: "Because a screen star's skin must be so smooth and flawless, it is not strange that we all use Lux Toilet Soap."

FIGHT SEDITION CONVICTIONS

A campaign against sedition convictions will be opened in the Pittsburgh district by the International Labor Defense, it was announced here today.

At a preliminary conference held in Pittsburgh April 6, the association adopted resolutions calling upon all workers' organizations to join in the drive. Meetings are to be held during May in Canonsburg, Republic, Bentleyville, Burgettstown, Ambridge, McKeesport, New Kensington, Greensburg, Johnstown, Monessen and Pittsburgh.

The Labor Defense has circulated a petition demanding the release of Tom Zima, Milan Resetar and Pete Muselin, serving five-year sentences in the Allegheny County Workhouse upon convictions under the Pennsylvania sedition act.

Headquarters are being maintained during the campaign at 611 Penn avenue.

Annual Exhibition At Tech on Friday

The Carnegie Institute of Technology will be open to the public Friday night and friends and parents of students will visit the many class rooms and laboratories in connection with the twenty-fourth annual exhibition. A retreat parade on the campus will be given by the Carnegie R. O. T. C. regiment at 6:47 o'clock, after which the buildings will be opened.

Settlement Recital Scheduled Sunday

Marjory Taylor, soprano, and Bernard Sigal, violinist, will give a joint recital at a community concert in Irene Kaufmann Settlement next Sunday evening at 8:15 o'clock. Members of the settlement and friends holding guest cards will be admitted, according to the announcement. The artists will be accompanied by Leah Colker and Winifred Reahard.

"It Controls the Nerves"

"I am a saleslady in a store. My nerves got the best of me and I never had good finger nails because I could not stop biting them off. My appetite was poor and I was always tired. One of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I know that it controls the nerves because I have no desire to bite my nails now, and they are long and well kept. My appetite is enormous and I feel like a new person. I have recommended your medicine to many girls with the same good results."—Ethel Fleetwood, 3023 Bandin Street, New Orleans, Louisiana.

PIRATES BRINGING BACK FINE RECORD

IT TOOK THE weather man to stop the Pirates, but the interruption of their early winning streak by the postponement of the game scheduled for yesterday in St. Louis will not prevent the fighting crew of Jewel Ens from bringing back from the first trip of the season a record that must be classed as the best achievement in the major leagues so far. Following the wind-up in the Mound City today the Bucs will have an open date tomorrow prior to opening the home season on Wednesday, and their success in bagging four of their first five games abroad assured that, regardless of the outcome this afternoon, they would return for the Forbes Field lid-lifter credited with one of the best road starts made by a Pittsburgh club in several years.

Jewel Ens

The showing of the Rovers would have been decidedly creditable even if the fates had permitted them to begin the campaign under the most favorable of circumstances, and when it is considered that the fine start has been made without the services of two such stars as Pie Traynor and Lloyd Waner, and with the early pitching program upset by the illness of Heinie Meine, Ens' amazing cripples easily rank as the spring standouts in the big show.

IT ISN'T OFTEN that a club starting out in that condition goes into the second week of the season with the distinction of having won more games than any other team in the major circuits. The Giants and Athletics boasted better percentage records than the Bucs up to today, both being undefeated, but they had played only three games each and had been able to use their regular lineups except for the absence of Eddie Roush from the New York ranks.

Besides, the forces of John McGraw and Connie Mack had been privileged to play all of their engagements at home, whereas the Corsairs had been continually on the road. The real caliber of a team is determined by what it can do away from home, and the showing of the Bucs in that respect, while presenting a patched lineup, makes them look more than ever like contenders who will be in the fight all the way.

THE LOSS OF Pie Traynor's services as the Club's regular clean-up hitter loomed as one of the chief obstacles to Pirate success in the early games, but the manner in which Adam Comorosky came through in that important role while hitting in Traynor's notch was one of the big features of the first week.

In the first five games, Commy, batting safely in each contest, tore off eight hits in 20 times at bat for an average of .400 and knocked in six runs, besides scoring four himself. His clouts included a home run, two triples and a double, and his bat was a huge factor in the winning of more than one engagement. A pretty fair quality of subbing.

Adam Comorosky

PAUL WANER KEEPS up the gratifying gait at which he started the season, a clip that indicates he is back in his best stride after dropping to .336 last year, following marks of .380 in 1927 and .370 in 1928. Paul sported the lofty average of .500 up to today, with 10 hits to his credit in 20 trips to the plate. With the exception of George Fisher, of the Cardinals, he is the only major league player who has twice made four hits in a game. Judging from his spring form, the elder Waner is apt to make a mighty strong bid toward repeating his 1927 feat of leading the National League flailemen.

ONE OF THE most striking changes in baseball fortunes in evidence during the early season is the limping start of the New York Yankees in contrast to the great drives with which they were wont to inaugurate American League pennant races in their palmy days.

You'll have to go back many years in the records, back before the days of Miller Huggins, to find another campaign in which the Yanks lost the first four games on their schedule. They'll rally later, no doubt, and give somebody a fight for second place, at least, but the 1930 start surely does not suggest the mighty club of old, the great team that went through the 1927 season without being out of first place a single day and then cleaned up in four straights games against the Pirates in the world series.

Last year Zachary went through the entire season without losing a game, bringing home 12 consecutive victories. Yesterday's defeat was his first since September 29, 1928, when he was knocked out by the Tigers after two-thirds of an inning and was charged with the loss of a game in which the Yanks were beaten, 19 to 10.

Sparky Adams

WHEN SPARKY ADAMS was picked to start the season as the regular second baseman of the Cards, the dope was that it wouldn't be long until Gabby Street lifted the former Pirate infielder, shifted Frankie Frisch back to second and put Andy High on third. That may come true, eventually, but to date Adams has left nothing to be desired. He is hitting .286 and has accepted 35 out of 36 fielding chances, more than any other second-sacker in the majors. In two consecutive games last week, Sparky handled a total of 19 chances without a slip.

TWO MORE POSTPONEMENTS were added to the growing spring list when rain and wet grounds yesterday knocked out the Pirate-Cardinal meeting in St. Louis and the White Sox-Brown clash in Chicago. Out of 49 games scheduled in the two leagues up to today 17 were postponed.

Unfavorable conditions prevented the playing of seven of the first 24 games booked in the National and 10 of the first 25 events carded in the American. The Cubs and Reds are the only big league teams that have played all of their scheduled games. The White Sox have been hit harder than any other club, playing only two games out of six billed.

GROVER ALEXANDER, 43 years old, started his twentieth major league season yesterday, pitching for the Phils against the Giants, and though he was unusually wild and nicked for eight hits, the fact

PANTHER STAR TO ASSIST MEEHAN

Albert (Luby) DiMeolo, captain of the 1929 University of Pittsburgh varsity football team, has been signed as assistant coach to Chick Meehan, head coach of the New York University eleven, it was learned today. DiMeolo will take up his new duties in New York next fall.

Luby DiMeolo

DiMeolo, a veteran of three years' service on the Panther football teams, completes his pre-law course at the University of Pittsburgh next June. During his three years on the Panther eleven, DiMeolo played a sterling position at guard, being one of the most consistent performers on the Sutherland squad.

DiMeolo led the Panthers to an undefeated season during the regular schedule. He took part in the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Cal., New Year's Day.

DOEG ANNEXES NET TITLE

PINEHURST, N. C., April 21.—(AP.)—John Doeg, of Santa Monica, Cal., today owns the men's singles title in the United North and South tennis tournament, having beaten Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., in the finals match, 6-0, 6-1, 6-3, yesterday.

The left handed Californian, third in national ranking, appeared to be at the top of his game while Mangin was decidedly off form.

Early in the contest it was apparent that the Jersey star was in for a decisive beating. An ankle, badly swollen after a sprain, and a blistered heel bothered Mangin to such an extent that he failed to go after some apparently easy gets.

Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., and John Van Ryn, of Orange, N. J., defeated Doeg and George Lott, of Chicago, to win the men's doubles title. The score of the match was 8-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Van Ryn and Allison won from Mangin and Berkley Bell, of Austin, Tex., in the morning, 7-9, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5, in the semi finals.

BAN ON PRIMO LIKELY TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—(INS.)—When the State Athletic Commission goes into session here today, it is expected that it will heed the recommendations of Commissioner Charles F. Traung and hand out wholesale suspensions to those connected with the recent fiasco at Oakland between Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, and Leon Chevalier, Negro fighter.

Traung will ask that indefinite suspensions will be given to Robert Perry, a second, who tossed in a towel from Chevalier's corner; Robert Laga, another of Chevalier's seconds, and Tim McGrath, his manager, and also will recommend that Carnera's license be revoked and that the Italian and his managers be banned from California.

TITLE MATCH SOUGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—(INS.)—Arch Hoffman, of the Monarch Athletic Club, today announced he had telegraphed Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, a guarantee of $30,000 to meet Young Corbett, Fresno (Cal.) challenger, in a championship bout here. Corbett recently defeated Fields in a non-title match.

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The way the Yankees are starting the season you would think they were starring in slow motion pictures. All last week they played like they had given up hitting during Lent. For a guy that is getting $3,000 a week Babe Ruth is very bashful about putting on his act. The Yanks have already got Bob Shawkey sweating in mid-season form. The pitching in both leagues is pretty good though, when you get a flock of two-hit games the opening week, it means that Darwin was right and it is possible to make monkeys out of batters.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF SATURDAY: JOHN MILTON—John Milton wrote his great religious epic, "Paradise Lost," when he was impoverished, blind and infirm. According to an agreement with Samuel Symons, the publisher, he was to receive five pounds down and five pounds more upon the sale of each of the three editions (April, 1667), but he never received the down payment and did not receive his first and only five pounds for his "Paradise Lost" until April, 1669. EASTER GETS ITS NAME FROM A PAGAN GODDESS, "EOSTRA"—The Central Feast of Christendom was named after Eostra, worshiped by the ancient Saxons as the goddess of the dawn and of Spring. Her parents were Wotan and Fricka. To her was consecrated the month of April (Eostor-Monath of the ancient Teutons), and to her also were consecrated the rabbit and the egg as the emblems of fertility.

HERRERA IN GO AT 'CASTLE

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Pittsburgh district boxing interest tonight centers in the show at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, where Tony Herrera, the Mexican lightweight star, takes on Steve Culver, a highly-touted prospect from Boston, in the 10-round feature bout. Three six-round bouts complete the card.

Four local amateur boxers are in Gary, Ind., where they will compete in the Middle States A. A. U. tournament opening tonight and continuing through Wednesday night. Pittsburgh has fared well in this event in past years.

Three world champions appear in non-title bouts tonight. Midget Wolgast, the flyweight king, takes on Johnny McCoy at Buffalo; Jackie Fields, the welterweight ruler, engages Meyer Grace at Kansas City, and Mickey Walker, middleweight titleholder, boxes Del Pontaine at Minneapolis.

Between Rounds

The card is complete for the Johnny Dunn-Andy Martin show in Duquesne Garden Wednesday night, and Promoters Nate Lee and Johnny Ridge report a good advance sale. They have Jackie Wilson, North Side middleweight, in with Johnny Mason, of Cleveland, in the eight-round semi-final, and Peaches Gallagher, of Sewickley, opposing Jimmy Perry, of Aliquippa, O., in the second bout and Sammy Goldstein, of Oakland, boxing Johnny Brown, of Lawrenceville, in the six-round opener.

Jimmy Perry will be making his second local appearance when he meets Peaches Gallagher Wednesday night. He recently impressed the fans when he defeated Mickey Hart, of New Kensington, at the Moose Temple. Jimmy is known as the Aliquippa Thunderbolt and he fights like one. He has boxed Ud Carpentier Baller Larson, Jacinto Valdez, Bobby Kenderly, George Ambiere, Alvie Miller, Al Dundee, Dick McDonie, Patsy Gallagher, Tommy Crawley, Clyde Tremaine, Pete Cannell, Ray Newton, Jackie Dugan, Frankie Kaeth and Stanley Williams, among others. Benny Fromme is his local sponsor.

The Motor Square Club is working on plans to bring Johnnie Dunn and Jackie Rodgers together again, after all, now that it is possible to talk to Rodgers' managers following the batting of Jackie's knockout streak. Provided Dunn comes safely through his match with Andy Martin at Duquesne Gardens, Wednesday night, the local rivals may meet in the East End arena on May 5.

Billy Schoner, North Side featherweight who loosened a rib in his bout with U. S. Carpentier in a bout at the Motor Square Garage in training, along with his stablemate, Frank Novak, the heavyweight, and they will be ready for bouts within a week.

Gus Duncan, of Cleveland, has been signed by Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, as the opponent of Chuck Taggert, of Butler, in one of the two 10-round bouts featuring his show Thursday night. Eddie Brannon, of the Hill, and Russell Bradford, of Pontiac, Mich., lightweights, are in the other half of the main bout. Duncan is one of the most promising young heavyweights in Ohio. He was undefeated in the amateur ranks and has had 10 bouts since turning pro. He has boxed Joe Packo, Jack Harry and George Pastick, among others. Jack Renton, of Braddock, will be one of the principals in the second bout of the McKeesport card.

THE LOWDOWN ON PIRATES

By THE BENCHWARMER

ST. LOUIS, April 21. — Well folks, it looks like I'm going to see Forbes Field tomorrow. I have been hearing about the ball park for weeks and it must be a great spot the way the gang talks. It's been a wonderful trip, especially for us young fellows, but even some of us are beginning to get a little tired, and I didn't think I could get tired of riding around the country. Jewel was kiddin' me some on Saturday.

"Pretty soft for you, Lefty," he says, "ridin' around the country and gettin' to see a lot of great cities like St. Louis." You see this is the boss's home town.

I told him I heard it was smokier than Pittsburgh and I believed it after coming through a couple of those tunnels that you have to go through to get into this place.

STILL ON COMMY

Did you notice the way Comorosky is hitting the ball these days? Commy is one of the best musicians on the team, and he can put away a coal miners meal any time between the hours of six a. m. and 12 midnight. Jewel says he has a great ear for music and a dandy stomach for steaks.

He likes to kid Commy about different things. On Saturday Commy was warming up with a ball that was almost new. Jewel came along with a box of new balls that he wanted to use in batting practice. As soon as Commy saw the covers coming off the new apples he asked for one to warm up with.

"The only thing you had to warm up with down around Wilkes Barre was a lump coal," Jewel cracked as he refused to throw Adam a new ball. "You're getting along pretty good. You want sauerkraut juice the first thing in the morning, big steaks for supper and a big cigar after the game. Why don't you get a valet to shine your shoes?"

ST. LOUIS, April 21—The trail that leads to home will look good to those travel-weary Pirates tonight. After one of the most extensive tours ever taken by any ball club the Buccaneers are due to head homeward at 6 o'clock over the Pennsylvania Railroad. The team is scheduled to reach Pittsburgh tomorrow morning at 8:45 Eastern time.

The big barnstorming tour was a big success, yet it became a bit irksome in the latter stages, more than one athlete becoming ill on account of the heat or strain. Not a postponement was felt until after the championship season got under way, the cancellation of yesterday being the first the Buccos have felt since they left Paso Robles more than one month ago.

GREAT SHOWING

The performances of the Pirates since the National League curtain went up has been of such a nature as to win the admiration of fans everywhere. Playing without the services of two of the brightest stars in the game—Pie Traynor and Lloyd Waner—the fighting Freebooters were able to jump off to a good start and they are returning home in the hope that Capt. Traynor will be at his post in the opener at Forbes Field on Wednesday afternoon.

But while there was cheer over the prospect of Traynor swinging into action, there were many regrets expressed by the Pirates owing to the certainty that Charley Engle will leave the lineup with the appearance of Pie. Much of the credit for the good showing of the team falls upon this sterling infielder who jumped into a strange position and played it like a master, moreover, Engle has been a thorn in the flesh of the opposing pitchers. He has been on the bases early and often.

LLOYD WANER OUT

It has been definitely established that Lloyd Wanter will not play in the home opener. The ailing outfielder appears to be getting stronger, but the injury sustained to his throwing hand as he got aboard a taxicab in St. Louis Saturday morning would keep him from playing. He cannot throw as a result of the sore member.

Manager Jewel Ens, after a training season in which he showed rare judgment, has jumped off with his club in a manner in keeping with the pace he set after he took the reins of leadership last August. The new pilot has used excellent judgment all the way, his manipulation of pitchers being exceptionally noteworthy.

Yesterday's game with the Cards was called off because of wet grounds.

EDDIE MELVIN,
Wanango Country Club.

You can't get away from it—when they get their training in golf in Carnegie, Scotland, they are not only trained, but they stay trained. Possibly the professional of Western Pennsylvania who has gained the greatest respect for his intelligent instructing and extraordinary results is Eddie Melvin, pro at Wanango, whose playing cannot even be compared to his instructing, because he does so little of it. Eddie started as a private professional to Lord Iveagh, in England, spending three years with the nobleman before coming to the United States in 1912. His first pro job here saw him in charge of the Dubois Country Club. He left there to affiliate with the Ben Avon Country Club in 1916, spent the next six years as pro at the Riverside Golf Club, Cambridge Springs, and then made a huge success of his three years at the Alcoma Country Club here, before becoming connected with Wanango. Eddie has been at the beautiful club in the oil region for more than three years. If Melvin has any enemies in golf, they're in hiding.—VERN SWARTSFAGER.

McKeesport Pin Team Rolls 2,357

In the opening five-man matches of the national open duckpin championships now in progress at the Elba Recreation, 319 Fifth avenue, the New Brunswick Recreation team, of McKeesport, showed fine form with a 2,357 count.

T. Freund, lead-off man, got a 223 score in his third game which placed him above his team mates with a 492 score for the three games. Freund's 504 score in the singles was also high in this event. Petersor and Smith with a 922 score took the lead in the doubles.

Hoosiers, Buckeyes Lead in Big Ten

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—Indiana and Ohio State are off to the big start in the 1930 Western Conference baseball championship campaign.

The Hoosiers, Big Ten champions in 1925, opened up Saturday with a 7 to 1 victory over Chicago, while Ohio State nipped the other Indiana representative, Purdue, 4 to 3, at Columbus. Excellent pitching by Veller, who gave but four hits in eight innings, featured Indiana's triumph over Chicago.

Seven games are on the calendar for this week. Ohio State will invade the camp of Michigan's 1928 and 1929 champions, and Northwestern will meet Purdue at Lafayette on Wednesday. Thursday Minnesota will go to Indiana and Wisconsin will tackle Chicago on the latter's diamond. Wisconsin will see action again Saturday, playing Illinois at Illinois, while Purdue goes to Northwestern and Minnesota plays a second game at Indiana.

LOCAL NETMEN OPEN SEASON THIS WEEK

PANTHERS FACE ALLEGHENY FRIDAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

The current week will behold inauguration of competitive racquet hostilities on local courts. Despite vagaries of the weather serious enough to have held down preliminary activities to a minimum, Steel City varsity performers will hop to the fray in search of early laurels against formidable opposition.

Dr. Billy McElroy's powerful Pitt combine, featuring Dave O'Loughline, Eddie Jacobs, and an all-star supporting cast, will blow off the old lid formally on the Stadium lot on Friday, a capable, but hardly dangerous, Allegheny College foe being carded to supply the visitors' end of the fireworks. Prior to this affair, Grant Siverd's Dukes will square off for the mill in an informal tussle with a strong sextet of Hill alumni. The old-timers' fray is listed for the Bluff asphalt on Thursday and will provide a severe test for the largely revamped Red and Blue contingent before its intercollegiate debut on April 29.

PITT NEEDS WORK

To date the Pitt squad has confined its preparatory training exclusively to thinking of the pastime. The clay rectangles at the Oakland institution have not yet been whipped into shape and, if rain falls to any extent within the next few days, it is highly probable that several of the Blue and Gold aces will toe the mark without having had racquets in their hands.

The Dukes, blessed with hard courts atop their gymnasium, have been more fortunate than their Herron Hill contemporaries in that they have been able to practice off and on for more than a fortnight. As a result, the Siverd host, with few exceptions, is in reasonably good form for the initial stages of the campaign and should be several laps ahead of enemy cohorts in matter of condition until well into May.

The Bluffite graduate crew has also been sneaking in a flock of good licks and will present a front including Sam Keller and Pete Collodi, 1929 co-captains; Jake Olko, 1928 southpaw flash; Jim Philpott and Jim Creighton, redoubtables of a couple of years back, and Sullivan, who last donned Duke spangles in 1927.

TECH HANDICAPPED

Coacher Hoover's Carnegie Tech troop, like Pitt, has been handicapped by inability to get out-of-doors for strenuous sessions. The Tartans, however, have until April 29 to slip into stride and should be well along when they encounter Wash-Jeff on Skibo turf in the opener. Meanwhile, on the same afternoon, Duquesne will be entertaining Waynesburg on the Bluff.

Word from the Mount Washington sector a day or so ago gave definite assurance that Jimmy Creighton's South Hills array will be entered in the Section One lists for Pittsburgh Tennis Association honors. This renders certain an eight-team race in the upper half and dispels likelihood of a roster of nine delegations in Section Two. Creighton announces that he has lined up his veteran Duke team-mate, Jake Olka, for the Hill-top outfit. Olko's game was highly proficient in college and it has been tuned up considerably, especially on service and forehand since the portsider's graduation. Jake will be a real help to the Hillsmen and will bolster a line-up that at first appeared a bit weak for the calibre of opponents it will be called upon to face throughout the summer.

JUNIORS ORGANIZE

The P. T. A. Junior League, under the guidance of Chairman David I. McCahill, is taking shape rapidly. At a committee meeting last week it was decided to limit inter-team play to four singles and two doubles for a starter and to run off the schedule in round robin fashion, once around. Indications point to a six-club loop, with strong possibility of an increase to eight entrants before the jousting gets under way late in June or early in July.

Chairman Ed Seitz, of the Western Pennsylvania Championships Committee, declared Saturday that his group will be into executive pow-wow some time this week, perhaps Thursday. This means that setting of a date for the district titular tourney is not far off and that release of the Senior Inter-Club League schedules will be forthcoming in the very near future.

Two Records Fall In Ohio Valley Meet

WHEELING, W. Va., April 21.—Two Ohio Valley track records were shattered here Saturday in a triangular meet between Bellaire, Union and Wellsburg, when Vaverk, of Bellaire, threw the javelin 163 feet 11½ inches to exceed his own mark set last year by seven feet.

Goodwin, of Bellaire tied two records when he high jumped 5 feet 10 inches, and tied the Valley record in the tall timbers by knocking off the distance in 17:2.

Jap Netters Win From Austrian Stars

VIENNA, Austria, April 21.—(AP.)—Japan won all three matches in its series with leading Austrian tennis players yesterday.

Ohta and Sato, of Japan, defeated Herbert Kinzel, Jr., and Erwin Bolzano, 6-8, 6-0, 6-2, 3-6, 6-0, and Harada and Abe, of Japan, conquered Franz Matejka and Hermann Artens, 7-5, 6-2, 3-6, 5-7 and 6-2.

May Hold Cue Matches in Glass Cage

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—To thwart changing temperatures which hamper their games, billiard players may perform in glass cages.

The National Billiard Association of America has experimented with the "showcase" and plans to try a cage 25 feet long, 20 feet wide and 10 feet high, to eliminate the annoying "chilling of the ivory" which causes the billiard ball to lose some of its resiliency.

107th Polo Team To Battle Cavalry

The One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery polo team, which gave Shady Side Academy's trio a close battle in the Hunt Armory Saturday night, losing by a single point margin, will swing into action this week against the riders of the Three Hundred and Eighth Cavalry.

Although the One Hundred and Seventh polo ists were disappointed in not being able to end the winning streak of the Academy team, they are heartened by their improved form, and by the improvement of their ponies. A lapse in the fifth chukker, when Shady Side scored three goals, caused the downfall of the Soldiers.

Sport Vignettes

A young catcher who refused to pose for his picture for the papers before he made good seems to have made the grade with the Boston Braves .... He is Bob Collins, a local youth, who caught for Dick Guy's Greensburg team last season and made the trip to the Braves' training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., with Manager Bill McKechnie this spring .... With the season now under way, he still is on the Braves' roster and has a fine chance of sticking, although he may be farmed out to Providence, of the International League, for a little seasoning .... Collins is only 21 years old and stands 6 feet tall and weighs 170 pounds .... His home is in Hazelwood .... The Pirates picked him up a few years ago and sent him to the Salisbury (N. C.) club and while there he developed typhoid fever and had to quit after participating in 45 games .... He came back home to recuperate and last season applied to Guy for a job with Greensburg .... So good was his work there that Guy, a former local sports editor and for years an intimate friend of McKechnie, recommended him to Bill for a trial this spring .... Guy thinks Collins will make good up in the big show .... He describes him as a rough-and-ready player of the old school type and a hard worker who does not complain when things are going tough .... The Braves used him behind the bat in a number of spring exhibition games, among them those with the Yankees .... Local fans who saw Archie Bell's brilliant exhibition in his recent bout here with Jackie Rodgers voted him one of the smartest and most wideawake boxers they ever laid eyes upon .... His manager, Nick Florio, who also handles Sergt. Sammy Baker, however, says Archie has the reputation among his intimates of being one of the sleepiest young men in or out of captivity .... When he is not working in the gymnasium or fighting he is sleeping and he drops off to slumber the moment he sits down to rest in the gym .... It's got to the point with him that the other boxers in the gym in which he trains in New York have made a sign bearing the legend, "Please Go 'Way and Let Me Sleep," which they hang on the back of the chair when he sits down .... But what really matters is that Archie keeps his eyes open when he's in that ring—and how! .... By way of contrast, have you ever compared the manner in which the American public turned thumbs down on Les Darcy, a really great fighter, when he was hounded to death in this country more than a decade ago, without being given an opportunity to show his wares, and the open-armed welcome that is being given everywhere to Primo Carnera, the Italian giant, who has yet to meet a worthy opponent in this land of the free?—HARRY KECK.

Art Shires Gets Boost From Old Boss

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—Baseball's boxing act has broken up—for Arthur (The Great) Shires and Russell (Lena) Blackburne are just a pair of buddies now.

When the St. Louis Browns, with whom the former White Sox pilot now serves as coach, came to Chicago for a series with the Sox the erstwhile sparring mates exchanged the grip and declared their high regard for each other.

"I sincerely believe," Shires said, "that Blackburne is as good a friend as I have in baseball."

METRO RACING SEASON OPENS

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—The 1930 Metropolitan racing season officially opens today with America's foremost thoroughbred sprinters entered in the historic Paumonok Handicap at Jamaica. The 21-day meeting will be followed by another at Belmont Park for 23 days.

Twelve sprinters have been named to start in the $5,000 Paumonok with two of the king-pin speedsters of the year picked to match strides for the winner's share of the purse. These are Polydor, the Golden Express from William Ziegler, Jr.'s stable and R. L. Gerry's High Strung.

T. M. Cassidy has selected the Paumonok as the spot for his well-liked derby candidate, Crack Brigade, to make his 3-year-old's debut. Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's Sarazen II also will get his first public derby trial against the more experienced field. Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons has conditioned the erratic but speedy Distraction for the event.

President Rubio Aids Caliente Track

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, April 21.—(INS.)—The race track and gambling concessions of the Agua Caliente Company will not be disturbed by the new regime of President Ortiz Rubio, according to Wirt G. Bowman, president of the company, who returned here from Mexico City today.

"President Ortiz Rubio assured me," said Bowman, "that the Mexican government would not only protect our 20-year concession, but would alter the document to encourage us to make further improvements at the track and hotel."

PITT ACE STAR DESPITE ILL FORTUNES

By JESS CARVER.

For a chap who hadn't had a track uniform on for three weeks, and who hadn't handled a hammer, a pole, or tried a hurdle, or a jump for the same length of time, young Everett Utterback, Pitt's Negro track and field star didn't do so badly as the Panthers took one on the nozzle from Ohio State here Saturday.

Everett Utterback.

Utterback scored nine points, competing in four events, two of 'em practically at one time. In fact, he was broad jumping and pole vaulting in alternate turns, five minutes after he'd tied for second in the high jump, and no sooner did he take his last vault, than he trotted up on the hill and captured a third place in the hammer throw.

AT MOTHER'S SIDE

Utterback was out of school and training for three weeks while in New York, nursing his mother. Mrs. Utterback was gravely ill for some time prior to her death a week ago, and it was necessary that the star be at her side. He returned to Pittsburgh Friday, and went out to take his place in the Pitt ranks Saturday.

Even had he not scored a point, the circumstances that surrounded his efforts and the handicap under which he competed, made him THE star of the meet.

ONLY 19—ONLY!

They've lined up a nice basketball schedule for Ralph Hogan out at Carnegie Tech for next year haven't they? Indeed they have. Coach Buzz will pilot his Tartans through no less than 19 ball games, the majority of which will be A-1 tough ones.

Newcomers on the card, as announced by Graduate Manager Clarence G. (Buddy) Overend, the well-known chicken fancier, include Army, Georgetown, American University, Western Reserve, Temple, St. Johns, Lehigh and the University of Buffalo. The complete card follows:

December 26, Y. M. C. A. College at Youngstown, O.; December 28, Lehigh at Pittsburgh; January 2, University of Buffalo at Buffalo; January 3, Western Reserve at Cleveland; January 10, Thiel at Pittsburgh; January 14, Western Reserve at Pittsburgh; January 17, W. & J. at Pittsburgh; January 21, Pitt at Carnegie; January 24, Geneva at Beaver Falls; February 10, W. & J. at Washington; February 12, American University at Pittsburgh; February 14, Georgetown at Pittsburgh; February 18, Army at West Point; February 20, St. Johns at Brooklyn; February 21, Temple at Philadelphia; February 27, Pitt at Pitt; March 3, West Virginia at Pittsburgh; March 7, Penn State at State College; March 8, Geneva at Pittsburgh.

CUMBERLAND MAY LOSE GROUNDS

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 21.—Professional league baseball here appears to be in the balance, due to the Canal Towage Company, which owns the ground upon which Community Park is located, demanding 50 per cent of all revenues from circuses, carnivals and other events held at the park, in addition to the usual rental of $100 a month. Baseball in Cumberland, according to the local moguls, cannot operate without these receipts, and it cannot afford to split the revenues from them.

Last year the receipts from community baseball here were $41,334.28, while the expenses were $42,696.45. The receipts included $8,500 subscriptions. Bills outstanding amount to $1,653.53, while balance in bank is $137.83, leaving a deficit of $1,515.70.

Pending a hopeful adjudication of the situation, the pitchers and catchers, who were to report tomorrow to begin training, have been advised to delay their arrival until further notice.

Local citizens are hopeful that G. L. Nicholson, of Washington, general manager of the Canal Towage Company, may relax in demand for increased rental. A conference will be held today with Taylor Morrison, attorney for the Canal Towage Company, in the hope of reaching a satisfactory settlement.

FRIENDS FETE BOBBY JONES

ATLANTA, April 21.—(INS.)—Bobby Jones, national open champion, will be given a farewell dinner tonight at the East Lake Country Club, over whose course he first became addicted to the ancient Scottish pastime.

Hundreds of Bobby's friends, many of them from out of the city, will be on hand to bid the golf king the best of luck on his invasion of England next month. He leaves Atlanta Thursday night, and will sail from New York April 30 to enter the Walker Cup matches and the British open and amateur championships.

Practicing over the par 70 East Lake course last week, Bobby shot successive rounds of 65, 66, 68, 68, 67.

Pennsylvania Needs Grundy

UNITED STATES SENATOR JOSEPH R. GRUNDY is a candidate for nomination at the Republican Primary, Tuesday, May 20. We urge all to vote for him who have at heart the steady employment at good wages of every class of working people and who desire to see Pennsylvania continue to grow, prosper and provide work for increasing numbers of men and women.

Senator Grundy for many years has been one of the outstanding champions of a protective tariff. He always has believed that tariff protection for Pennsylvania industries is necessary to prevent the products of poorly paid labor in Europe and Asia coming into competition with and displacing the products of well paid Pennsylvania labor. Present unemployment in some measure is due to the enormous imports of articles made abroad so cheaply that Pennsylvania industries cannot compete.

It is vital to Pennsylvania prosperity and the regular employment of its people at satisfactory wages that Pennsylvania be represented in the United States Senate by a man of experience, ability, sincerity and the fighting qualities of Senator Grundy.

When Pennsylvania and the Tariff Bill, so vital to the well-being of the people of this Commonwealth, were assailed in the United States Senate, Senator Grundy fought desperately in the interest of his state and succeeded in smashing a coalition of its enemies when almost every person believed the situation hopeless.

The working people of Pennsylvania in every line of endeavor—coal, steel, pottery, cement, window and plate glass, tableware, transportation, agriculture—need a champion at Washington who is willing to fight for them and able to do it.

Senator Grundy will be in Pittsburgh tomorrow, Tuesday, April 22, and will be glad to see those interested in his candidacy at Suite 566 William Penn Hotel between 12 noon and 2 P. M.

The undersigned residents of Allegheny County heartily endorse Senator Grundy for nomination as United States Senator from Pennsylvania:

YANKS AND ROBINS STILL SEEK FIRST WIN

GIANTS, MACKS COP AND PAD LEADS

By COPELAND C. BURG,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 21.—This is the day after Easter and the New York Yankees have not won a ball game this season. In fact, the team ever tipped as the best or second best in the world has lost just an even four.

The once great machine came pretty close to winning a game Sunday staggering to a tie with the Washington Senators as late as half way through the eighth inning, but the great American game runs in nine canots and under that impost the Yanks folded up like a fan from Tokio. After ol' Tom Zachary blew up they rushed in Rhodes and then Sherid, but by that time Mark Koenig had fumbled, Rice grabbed a hit and any victory ideas of the Yankees were unscrambled.

A.'S REFUSE TO BUDGE.

Still booked as the world champions, the Athletics refused to budge an inch and won their third straight defeating the Red Sox, 5 to 3. They came from back there in the seventh bunching five of their 10 hits off Danny MacFayden.

Those miraculous Giants continued to gallop at the head of the column, snagging their third straight win as they lowered the Phillies, 2 to 1, in a beautiful game. Carl Hubbell allowed the Phils only four hits, which was not as strange as the fact the Giants could get only seven off old Pete Alexander in six innings.

Sheriff Blake was wild and wooly throughout but managed to steer the Cubs into a 4 to 3 win over the Reds making the Chicago-Cincinnati series even.

ROOKIE STARS FOR TRIBE.

That truth-stranger-than-even-Frank-Merriwell-fiction touch came in the Detroit-Cleveland game, which the Indians won 2 to 0. It was the seventh inning, neither side had scored and what-to-do. Well Joe Burnett, utility infielder, went right in there as a pinch hitter and punched out a two-bagger, scoring the only runs of the game.

The much-talked-of Robins, who promised so much and have given so little got right down to bed rock in the National circuit, losing to the Boston Braves, 6 to 3. Wally Berger's big stick brought a home run and a single, which accounted for five of the Braves' counters.

Rain washed away the St. Louis-Chicago game in the American League and the Pittsburgh-St. Louis clash in the National.

'Allegheny Waltons' Plan Fish Dinner

Members of the Allegheny Chapter, Izaak Walton League, will entertain with another of the famous fish dinners at the Allegheny Elks' Temple at 6:30 Friday evening, May 2. Yellow perch, hauled alive in tanks from the lakes, will be served. The dinner will be the last indoor event of the Allegheny Chapter this season.

Many men prominent in outdoor sports will be seated at the speakers' table and officers of practically every chapter in Western Pennsylvania will be present. William Harwood, African adventurer, is to be the principal speaker.

All lovers of outdoor life are invited to attend.

Cacao Is Winner Of Queen's Prize Race

KEMPTON PARK, Eng., April 21. — (AP) — The five-year-old Cacao won the Queen's Prize Handicap today by a short head from Sir Joshua, with Rubicon third, another short head back. Twenty-one ran.

Cacao, owned by Lord Woolavington, started at odds of 100 to 6 against. Sir Joshua, owned by Major F. B. Sneyd, was at 6 to 1, and Rubicon, owned by Victor Emanual, 25 to 1.

The race was over a distance of two miles and was Easter Monday's turf feature. The winner is a bay horse by Bay Cherry-Coronill.

BUYS STABLE

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—(AP.)—L. S. Dickey, of West Baden, Ind., has purchased the entire stable of the Wade H. Harley saddle horse breeding farm at Lexington, Ky.

VERY WELL WINS

AUTEUIL, France, April 21. — (AP.) — Eighty thousand spectators saw Very Well, 8-year-old son of Fribourg out of Verrorie, capture the Doumergue Stake here yesterday.

FROM MINISTRY TO DIAMOND

MARTIN LANG TED KLEINHAUS BILL WAMBSGANSS MAX CAREY

All four of these baseball stars began their playing careers while studying for the Lutheran ministry at Concordia College, St. Louis. They were gathered together for a picture recently while the Pirates were playing an exhibition game in New Orleans. Lang is the young Pirate pitcher who has been farmed out; Kleinhaus pitches for New Orleans in the Southern Association; Wambsganss is the former second baseman of the Cleveland Indians, now with New Orleans, and Carey, a former Pirate outfield and baserunning star, is back with the Corsairs in the capacity of coach. Wamby gained fame as the perpetrator of an unassisted triple play in the world series of 1920 against Brooklyn and still is rated a fine infielder.

per and now you have to have new ball to warm up with."

Commy just laughed and went out and socked one over the stands in his first time at bat.

JEWEL WISECRACKER

Jewel has all the fellows in good humor partly because he's a good wisecracker. He got off some good stuff Saturday when the home-town gang gave him the big traveling bag.

Talking about a sense of humor, Sherdel made the gang laugh Saturday. Paul had Bill dizzy with base hits but finally he got him out. Bill came over to cover first to take the toss from Bottomley and he was right close to our bench. Larry French asked him how did he do it and Bill held his thumb out the way a kid throws a curve and hollered back, "I curved him." So long, see you tomorrow.

Voloucheme Winner Of Prix Greffulhe

LONGCHAMP, France, April 21.—(AP.)—Baron De Rothschild's Velourcreme won the Prix Greffulhe, first of the season's classics for 3-year-olds, today. The race was worth 180,000 francs (about $7,200) to the winner.

Baron De Rothschild's other entry, Ginger Ale, romped home in third place. Count Derivaud's Chateau Bouscaut was second.

JONES, ARNOLD CLASH

BEAVER, Pa., April 21.—The Paul Jones Club, fifth honor amateur baseball team of this town, Beaver County Amateur League champions and rated as one of the best honor nines in the state, will open the season May 3, playing Arnold Schmid, of Pittsburgh, on the latter's field.

NOVEL SHOOT AT GARDEN

A strip shooting match between Bob Limbert, world champion pistol shot, and five crack shots of the local police department will be an added feature of the Sportsman Show and Outdoor Life Exposition at Motor Square Garden tomorrow night, it was announced today by W. N. Owenings, manager. The affair is scheduled for 9 o'clock, and is expected to prove a novel contest.

Large crowds attended the opening of the show on Saturday and continued today. The show will continue through next Saturday night. Cervone's American Legion Band provides music from 8 until 10:30 nightly.

Of the many interesting events at the show none draws a more enthusiastic gathering than the rifle and revolver competition which is being held at 8 o'clock each evening. Some of Pittsburgh's finest performers in both rifle and revolver shooting gave an interesting demonstration of match shooting during the opening night.

Dr. J. R. Brown demonstrated his consistency by heading the list of revolver shooters, starting his first frame with the inevitable "century" run. He finished the three frames with a total of 294 out of a possible 300. His teammate, Allen, pushed up a 292, making a 97 in his rapid-fire frame to tie Dr. Brown's rapid-fire score.

Following are the revolver scores of the first five:

	Slow	Time	Rapid	Total
Dr. J. R. Brown	100	97	97	294
Allen	97	98	97	292
Wilson	97	96	97	290
Young	98	95	90	283
Sheridan	99	93	89	280

The scores of the rifle shooters:

	First Frame	Second Frame	Total
C. J. Kraus	100	100	200
O. B. Shephard	100	100	200
E. L. Ambrose	100	100	200
George Huber	99	100	199
H. D. Griffith	100	99	199
H. H. Zeller	99	100	199
J. E. Shephard	99	98	197
C. H. Stahler	98	98	196
Wm. Engelmann	98	98	196

The shoot program for this week:

RIFLE EVENTS.

REVOLVER EVENTS.

Wednesday—Tarentum Sportsmen's Club revolver team.

JOCKEYS TIED AT WHEELING

WHEELING, W. Va., April 21.—Eddie Goodrich and Elmer Fator are staging a great riding duel here at the Fair Grounds. Each has piloted 12 winners across the finish line. Fator, a native of Idaho, is a brother of Laverne Fator, riding for Harry Sinclair's Rancocas stable. Goodrich, a native of Oklahoma, at the present time is the premier American jockey. He has piloted 76 winners under the wire since last January. Despite Goodrich's record, many of the horsemen here believe Fator the best jockey on half-mile tracks in America. He is older and more seasoned. Goodrich is only 18 years of age.

The Tarn stables, with San Carlos the leading winner, are in second place. San Carlos has won two stable events here and has finished second twice.

Leading riders—E. Goodrich, 12; E. Fator, 12; A. Colvin, 7; L. Logan, 5; McLaughlin, 4; J. O'Maley, 4; W. Reed, 3; F. Garrity, 3; R. Cooper, 3; W. Passmore, 2; J. Guerra, 2; R. Dalton, 2; R. Buckley, 2.

Winning stables—George Jenkins, 13; Mrs. A. G. Thorp, $3,350; William Miller, $2,825; O. Foster, $2,285; Mrs. M. Hunter, $2,000; W. Magruder, $1,700; J. O. Donnahue, $1,500; Beagram stable, $1,350; W. A. McKinney, $1,300; J. McBride, $925.

Kaufmann Horse Winner in South

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 21.—Merry Widow, a horse owned by Edgar J. Kaufmann, of Pittsburgh, won the feature event of the annual spring racing meeting of the Albemarle County Hunt and Kenwick Hunt Club here yesterday. The race was run over a three and one-half mile course.

RUTH STRESSES IMPORTANCE OF EARLY GAMES

By BABE RUTH
Baseball's Highest Salaried Player.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The American League flag won't be won or lost in the next four weeks, but the club that gets away to a good start will have a long step toward the pennant. A lot of managers contend that spring games don't mean much. "Wait until the hot days come and my pitchers get started and we'll show our real stuff," managers say—and some of them believe it.

Babe Ruth

Personally I've always figured that a game won in April is just as valuable as a game won in September, and it has been my experience that the teams that get away to a good start in the spring are the ones that nine times out of 10 are fighting for the pennant in October.

In that connection I always think of Miller Huggins and some of the things he used to say about those April games. Hug always took the attitude that the early games counted. I'll never forget the start of the 1926 season and a meeting we had in the clubhouse before the first game.

"I know that our pitching isn't as good as it should be," Hug said. "Later on in the season when the other clubs get going we'll have some tough times. But just remember this. We're in great shape right now. And the games we win now will be games that the other fellows will have to make up later. Let's go out there and get 'em and not worry about July or August."

TEST PROVES THEORY

If you look over the records you'll see that the Yankees won pennants in 1926, 1927 and 1928 and in each of those three years the thing that won for them was that spurt at the start of the season. We started fast and kept going and by the time the other fellows had rounded into shape we were so far out front that they couldn't catch us. All of which is just another reason why I say the next four weeks are the most important of the whole season.

Naturally it's too early to tell yet just which clubs are in shape for an early start and which ones will have to come along slowly. But it isn't too early to judge of improvement in the clubs, and when you're talking of improved clubs don't overlook the Chicago White Sox. Donie Bush has a fighting, scrapping team this season—one that will be in there battling every minute. The improvement hasn't been through any injection of new blood, but rather because of improved morale.

Don't misunderstand me. I don't think the White Sox will win the penant, and I doubt if they'll finish in the first division. But they'll be troublemakers for the leaders all the way. They have good pitching, good fielding and fine spirit. They lack the batting punch that other clubs have, but they still have enough of a wallop to score runs now and then. I'm very anxious to get a look at this fellow Jolley. From what I hear he's a great natural hitter who can be counted on to drive in runs.

TIGERS DANGEROUS

His fielding, I understand, isn't so hot, and he's a bit slow. That's likely to be quite a handicap, particularly in that Chicago park, with its long fences and wide stretches of outfield. Most any other park in the league is better suited for a slow man than the White Sox orchard. If Jolley can make good in that park he'll go anywhere.

Another club which has shown decided signs of improvement this season is the Detroit Tigers. Bucky Harris is a fine manager and this year he has eliminated a lot of the clannishness that hurt the club last season. Unlike the White Sox, the Tigers have plenty of punch, but no pitching strength. That has always been a funny thing to me. The Tigers year after year come up with a lot of sluggers who can pound that ball out of the lot, but somehow they just can't seem to find pitching strength anywhere. And the White Sox, with constantly good pitching, can't seem to find hitting power. I guess that's what you call the breaks of baseball. But anyhow, keep your eye on those two clubs. They're likely to make a lot of trouble—and when the real fight for the pennant develops you're likely to discover that the pennant will go to the team that can make the best showing against the also-rans like Detroit and Chicago.

JUBILEE PURSE DRAWS STAR HORSES

WHEELING, W. Va., April 21.—The richest stake ever offered on a half-mile track in the United States will be run here next Saturday, when some 20 thoroughbreds, the cream of the 3-year-olds in the country, will face the barrier in the Golden Jubilee Derby, with a purse of $5,000 added money.

Wires were received here today from the owners of General Jackson, Kingsen, the joint favorite with High stable, and Evening Sky, from the Paradise Stock Farm, asking that stalls be reserved for them as they were shipping here for this event. These horses are expected in tomorrow and Wednesday in time to train for the event.

17 ON HAND

There are now 17 entrants stabled here. Those that are certain to come here for the big race are Dark Entry, Theo Rochester, Gay Past and Al Livingston. So from all appearances the field that will parade to the post will probably number a round dozen.

From the 17 stabled here the following are fit and ready and will start, barring untoward accident: Baltimore, Finnish Sweep, Flying Ambassador, Portsur, Red Dome, Title Oak, Wacket, Woody Long, Doc Connor, By Product and Washington Rose. In addition, Breakaway, Best Balance, Tomboy and Aryan may go to the post.

RACE DRAWS ATTENTION

It is fitting that the golden Jubilee race meeting should have for a closing day feature the imposing $5,000 Golden Jubilee stake. It is by far the largest purse ever hung up on a half mile track and has created national interest. While such 3-year-old stakes as the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness have historical background, the Golden Jubilee, commemorating as it does the fiftieth anniversary of the Wheeling organization, almost dates back to these two famous races.

Today's feature race, the Hotel Windsor purse, will find eight crack thoroughbreds facing the barrier at a mile and 70 yards.

For the eleventh day of the program, which is also ladies' day, seven races have been arranged.

Racing Dogs Open Annual Spring Meet

RYAN, MOODY PAIRED

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Elizabeth Ryan, former California, now living in England, will be the doubles partner of Helen Wills Moody in both the French and British team championships.

Keeps Hair Neat

Rich-looking, Orderly

IF your hair lacks natural gloss and lustre, or is difficult to keep in place it is very easy to give it that rich, glossy, refined and . . . orderly appearance . . . so essential to well-groomed men.

Just rub a little Glostora through your hair . . . once or twice a week . . . or after shampooing, and your hair will then stay, each day . . . just as you comb it.

Glostora softens the hair and makes it pliable. Then—even stubborn hair—will stay in place of its own accord.

It gives your hair that natural, rich, well-groomed effect, instead of leaving it stiff and artificial looking as pastes do.

Glostora also keeps the scalp soft, and the hair healthy by restoring the natural oils from which the hair derives its health, life, gloss and lustre.

Try it!—See how easy it is to keep your hair combed—any style you like—whether brushed lightly or combed down flat. If you want your hair to lie down particularly smooth and tight, after applying Glostora, simply moisten your hair with water before brushing it.

Glostora

Mike Gonzales May Go to Los Angeles

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—Mike Gonzales, veteran Cuban catcher, who was released by the Chicago Cubs when Gabby Hartnett's arm came back to life, today had a date with President William L. Veeck to discuss the possibility of playing for William Wrigley's other club, Los Angeles, of the Pacific Coast League.

TRACK NOTES.

Brix, of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, set a new world record of 52 feet 4 inches in the shot put. Hershfield, of Germany, did 52 feet 8 inches recently. It's about time for Mr. Kuck to come into the picture again.

Hamm, of Georgia Tech, will be back in the broad jump again this year and expects to do 26 feet. He was injured last season. Georgia Tech also will have a newcomer in the javelin in Grayden, of Little Rock High School, who already has done a little more than 200 feet.

Knute Rockne

Dan Osdel, of the University of Southern California, has made the best collegiate mark in the high jump so far this season, 6 feet 7⅛ inches. The following week he was tied at 5 feet 11 and a fraction inches.

America seems to have two fine Olympic prospects in the distance runs for a change in McCluskey, a freshman at Fordham, and Reker, of Penn State.

Sentman, of Illinois, and Rockaway, of Ohio State, should do some record-breaking hurdling this spring. Rockaway set a new world record in the low hurdles last spring, while Sentman did the same this winter in some short-distance hurdle races.

At present, the University of Southern California seems to have the strongest track team in the country—we'll be able to tell for sure after it meets Stanford the latter part of this month.

REAL ENJOYMENT
ALL THE TIME!

And, in El Producto, you have them all—and have them all the time.

Long's Sport Comment

that he lost by only a 2-to-1 score would appear to indicate that he is going to be of considerable use to the Quakers when the hot sun thaws out his venerable arm.

Grover Alexander

Alexander wasn't the only mound veteran to make his season's bow yesterday, as Jack Quinn, nearing 45, stepped in and won a game for the Athletics, relieving Eddie Rommel and holding the Red Sox safe for 4 2-3 innings while the Mackmen forged ahead.

THE SEVERE INJURY suffered by Johnny Verbanc, of the New Brighton High School track team on Saturday, when he was struck in the thigh by a javelin while watching one of the track events, may result in the revival of the suggestion that the javelin throw, like the hammer throw, be dropped from the list of competitive numbers at scholastic field meets in these parts as involving too great danger. Two similar javelin mishaps have occurred at college meets in the tri-state district. The hammer throw has been discarded by some of the amateur bodies, as well as by the high schools, and it is now being abandoned by some of the coast colleges. Detroit schools have just gone a step further than any of the others in making field and gym meets safe for the students. This as a result of two fatal accidents last month, when Fred Sessions, 15, suffered a broken neck while attempting a somersault on a mat, and Robert Strickfoot, 16, suffered a broken back while making a somersault off a springboard. Athletic directors of the Detroit schools have recommended to Superintendent Frank Cody that hammer and javelin throws, exercises on the flying rings, spring board and trapeze, as well as handspring and tumbling, be eliminated from the school athletic and gymnastic programs.

Trend Is Right, But Pace Slow; Stock Outlook

By B. C. FORBES

The industrial trend is moving in the right direction, but slowly.

Agricultural prices continue to fluctuate irregularly, but the major downswing apparently has been checked.

During its four days' operations the stock market lost ground slightly.

Statistical comparisons with a year ago are becoming less unfavorable. This is true of railway car loadings, of bank check totals, of steel output, of construction operations, of new business obtained by many companies.

There is little reason to doubt that the gap between 1930 and 1929 figures will gradually be lessened. The first half was distinctly the best period of last year. After that hesitancy set in, although this did not become clearly apparent until toward the end of the third quarter.

Unless all calculations miscarry, the second half of this year will show marked improvement over the first half. Indeed, favorable comparisons with last year may be achieved in many lines during the fall and winter.

THIS COUNTRY is not escaping from the almost universal downward trend in commodity prices. America's level is at the lowest since 1910. The most notable price change last week was the reduction in copper from 18 to 14 cents a pound. Considerable foreign buying immediately developed. The new quotation has not brought overwhelming domestic demand, but the expectation is that consumers must and will shortly place more liberal contracts. The saving by utility corporations planning huge expenditures will be substantial.

Prices are none too firm in some divisions of the steel industry. Competition has become extremely spirited. The harmony maintained—more or less—during the Gary domination of the industry has been upset through the reaching out by independents for more business and by merger maneuvers.

THE OIL INDUSTRY is finally making genuine progress in getting its house into order. Domestic shipping is enjoying something approaching a boom. In both industries mergers of magnitude are under consideration.

THE MOST significant monetary development of the week was the payment of better than 2 per cent premium by J. P. Morgan & Co. for an issue of 4 per cent New York state bonds. This was promptly interpreted as meaning that the greatest banking house in the world has figured out that money will continue cheap.

INTEREST rates show no appreciable change. Another increase of $130,000,000 in brokers' loans evoked little comment in Wall Street. The fact that the total, as announced by the Federal Reserve Bank, has now reached $4,124,000,000, an increase of $783,000,000 in less than three months, is accepted as eliminating all possibility of any further reduction in the New York 3½ per cent re-discount rate, a possibility which Wall Street bulls recently discussed hopefully.

WHAT OF the stock market.

A sharp dip on Wednesday was followed by a lively recovery in industrials on Thursday. Activity has dwindled notwithstanding that pools are more numerous and more aggressive than at any time since the panic. This means that public participation is very limited at the moment.

In the highest banking circles conservatism still is urged. Powerful speculators "pooh pooh" suggestions that the pace was too swift and that at least a moderate setback must be expected.

"The stock market has never had a more logical advance. It has always had substantial and immediate recovery following our periodic panics, virtually without reaction, and regardless of poor business. That was the record in 1903, 1907, 1914 and 1921, and it is the record again in 1930.

"The records show conclusively that anyone who purchases sound stocks within six months following a panic inevitably makes substantial profits.

"The chief factor which has kept so many investors from buying stocks since the panic last fall, is contemplation of the business situation, but following a panic business is always relatively poor, and anyone who bases his investment program after a panic on a study of the immediate business situation is certain to be wrong.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 21.—Trading in the curb market began the new week with considerable confusion today. Failure of April to bring any decided revival of business activity appeared to have made many traders cautious and inclined to lighten commitments.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stock Reactionary — Local Stocks in Demand

STOCKS MIXED, DECLINES IN MAJORITY

Trading Starts at Brisk Pace but Slows Down In Afternoon; Public Wary

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Resumption of business after the three-day stock exchange holiday today disclosed a two-sided market in which reactionary tendencies predominated. Trading started off at a brisk pace, total sales crossing the 2,000,000 share mark before noon, but slowed down in the early afternoon as the ticker caught up with the market and operators for the advance found it rather difficult to attract an outside following, except in a few special groups.

Business news was of a mixed character. Failure of the recent drastic cut in the price of copper to stimulate a heavy domestic demand led to fears of a further reduction, with the result that most of the leading copper stocks dropped 1 to 7 points to new low levels for the year. The E. I. Du Pont deNemours and Hudson Motor companies published earnings statements which made unfavorable comparisons with the first quarter of last year. California reported a substantial increase in crude oil production last week.

COPPERS DROP

In the copper group, Granby dropped 7 points and Anaconda, Kennecott, Nevada, Miami, Magma and Calumet & Hecla, fell 2½ to 4 points, all at new lows for the year. American Car and Foundry, American Locomotive and Hudson Motors also touched new lows.

Checker Cab was hammered down 7 points, American Telephone and Underwood, Elliott, Fisher 5½ each, and Houston Oil, American Tobacco A and B, Engineers Public Service, Detroit Edison, Southern Railway, Air Reduction and Columbian Carbon sagged 3 points or more.

FOX ADVANCES

Fox theaters ran up more than 7 points to a new high at 55⅜ on the announcement of the new financing in connection with the recent acquisition of control by the General Theaters Equipment interests. The stock sold as low as 16½ this year.

New highs for the year also were established by Loews, Vanadium Steel, Norfolk and Western, Continental Fiber, Diamond Match, Ingersoll Rand, Radio Corporation, Electric Power and Light, Abraham and Straus, P. G. Shattuck, Kraft Cheese, Corn Products, National Dairy Products, American Machine and Foundry and Montsano Chemical, the gains ranging from fractions to 7½ points.

Cotton Spinning Lower for March

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Department of Commerce announced that according to preliminary figures 34,317,498 cotton spindles were in place in the United States on March 31, of which 28,898,464 were operated at some time during the month, versus 28,926,580 in February and 31,102,786 in March, 1929.

The aggregate number of active spindle hours reported for the month was 7,350,377,700. Based on activity of 8.8 hours per day, the average number of spindles operated during the month was 31,836,355, or at 92.8 per cent of capacity on a single shift basis, against 97.7 per cent in February and 109.4 per cent in March, 1929.

U. S. Steel Elects D. F. Houston Director

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 21.—(INS.)—David F. Houston, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, was elected a director of the United States Steel Corporation at its annual meeting here today. Houston fills the place formerly occupied by Robert W. Winsor, deceased. He was secretary of the interior in the Wilson cabinet.

An examination of the stockholders' books showed that the holdings of a number of the prominent investors had materially increased. George F. Baker holds 150,000 shares of common stock, against 76,000 shares last year; Myron C. Taylor, 32,536 shares, against 30,001; J. P. Morgan, 1,260 shares of common and 105 shares preferred.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was slow today at the wholesale produce markets in Pittsburgh. There were no changes in quotations.

The poultry markets rested firm, demand fair, supply nominal with slight changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets remained steady, demand good, supply adequate with slight changes in egg quotations.

Car lot supplies were nominal with 470 cars on track. Arrivals included 15 cars of apples, 2 asparagus, 3 beans, 1 beets, 17 cabbage, 2 carrots, 5 cauliflowers, 13 celery, 1 chicory, 2 grapefruit, 1 lemons, 27 lettuce, 19 o'nions, 31 oranges, 1 peas, 21 potatoes, 1 radishes, 1 pineapples, 7 spinach, 4 strawberries, 4 sweet potatoes, 11 tomatoes and 6 turnips.

THE PRODUCT MARKET

NEW YORK, April 21.—Resumption of listed bond trading after the long Easter holiday, today found prices still backing and filling without displaying much of a trend. Transactions in senior issues were small and the market generally was still somewhat unsettled.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

DAILY TRUE STORY

'Moonshine'

"WHO," demanded Mrs. Willington Griscomb of her young sister, Kitty Vinton, "is this Luther Davis?"

"Old man Davis' boy, I should guess," Kitty answered, being more interested in her magazine.

"Katherine, I don't know what is to become of you—all frivolity, no sane viewpoint on the sterner realities of life."

"I think he's a good looker, myself," Kitty said.

"You are not listening to me, Katherine!"

Kitty sighed and put down the magazine.

"Sorry, big sister—what's it all about?"

Mrs. Willington Griscomb enjoyed life to its bitterest detail. She was a born reformer. She had married a man of great wealth who had stood three years of nagging and then seemed reconciled to not taking his fortune with him so long as he didn't have to take his wife.

"I am making my customary careful inquiries into the background of your male acquaintances. You were dancing a great deal with this Mr. Davis, you went canoeing with him—a most familiar pastime—and I want to make sure that no wolf in sheep's clothing is after you."

"Wool is top grade as a fabric—"

"Katherine! I won't have such flippancy!"

Kitty Vinton sat up and smiled at her stern sister. Kitty's smile had a winning quality. Kitty knew just how far she could go. She was quite dependent on her wealthy sister. The two were all left of the family. Her sister was generous enough and almost went into convulsions when Kitty suggested going to work. At the same time this sister was nosey—she had to set the world aright she had to do her part in making this world a more moral planet than heretofore.

Question of Morals

"You know that I spoke—er figuratively. I mean that this Mr. Davis may not be a gentleman, he may be immoral, crooked. It is so difficult to know a man's real character. Man is an animal who smiles and says pretty things to lure unsuspecting girls. I do not propose to have you throw your life away on some worthless man."

"No, indeed," Kitty said. It was time to agree with her sister. But Kitty was thinking that it was all fifty-fifty and just as easy for a man to pick a lemon as it was the other way around.

"That is why I am asking about Mr. Davis."

"Well, Mrs. Atwood introduced me to him—"

"Mrs. Atwood has social position, due to her money, but she openly serves liquors and gives week-end parties where her guests, some of them, get under the influence. Such a person would countenance the sort of man I wouldn't permit you to associate with."

"I don't know much about him. He has a place, a country place in the Blue Ridge Mountains, and he has a home in the city. He's a Southerner although he hasn't much of the southern accent," Kitty explained.

"There are southerners and southerners, the illiterate mountain people, the poor whites and the F. F. V's."

"Why not ask him?"

Kitty was sorry she suggested it.

"I am not crass—one learns without being like that. If he is one of the first families of Virginia, well and good."

"I'm going to dinner with him. I'll pump him. Oh, I'll do it deftly," Kitty promised.

Kitty liked Luther Davis very much. She had known him three weeks. She liked him better than any of the young men she had known three years.

At the dinner and dance Kitty didn't have much chance to "pump" Luther Davis. She was too well entertained listening to his conversation, which was mostly on the subject of her own charms.

She did learn, however, that he was born in the Grayson district of the Blue Ridge and had converted the old farm into a summer home. She was invited to visit him during the coming summer—with her sister, of course.

Kitty Is Questioned

"Evidently he isn't very poor," Kitty said.

"Riches! Always riches!" cried Mrs. Willington Griscomb. "There are other things to consider."

"Mr. Griscomb wasn't exactly broke," Kitty said.

"Katherine!"

"He wasn't. And I remember—"

"Never mind. Does he live on his income? Has he any profession? He strikes me as being a most mysterious young man."

"I'll ask him if he's got a good job," Kitty snapped.

"It's for your good. I have to protect you, Katherine."

Kitty nodded. She must not be ungrateful, but she was thinking how greatly her reformer sister loved to "protect" this one and that, this community and that.

Kitty proceeded to neglect the other young men who had been flocking about her at this winter resort. Kitty never had any trouble about attracting young men. She didn't have to do anything except to appear and be her own vivacious, sweet self.

But Luther Davis was becoming her ideal. For the very first time she was falling seriously in love.

Kitty was thinking that if her sister knew of the proposal she would ask Luther all sorts of embarrassing questions, ask to see his birth certificate, bank book and heaven knows what else. This might make Luther rather afraid to marry Kitty for fear she would turn out the kill-joy, nosey sort like her sister.

So Kitty told Luther that she was crazy about him, but it would be better not to make any announcement for the present.

"It seems to me," Kitty's sister said, one noon when Kitty came down for breakfast just as her sister was coming in for an early luncheon, "that you are altogether too much with this Mr. Davis without knowing a thing about him. What time did you get in last night and where were you?"

Goes Swimming

"Got in early," Kitty said, without explaining that "early" meant five a. m. "We went over to the Lathrops for a party."

"Oh? Well, the Lathrops are really fine people. Did they serve liquor?"

"Certainly I didn't have to drink," Kitty said.

And she didn't have to drink, any more than she had to tell her kill-joy nosey sister that just the same she did have a cocktail with Luther at dinner.

Kitty had gone down to the inlet for the swimming. Kitty preferred the inlet and calm water because of the float and diving board. It was all right to pose on the beach, but for real fun she liked the inlet.

Her sister decided to go down and make sure that Kitty wore a decent bathing suit. Twice Kitty had appeared in perfectly disgraceful bathing costumes—too abbreviated.

Just through the foliage on the next bench Mrs. Griscomb could make out a man smoking. She used her sharp eyes and saw that it was Luther Davis. This might be a good opportunity for her to question him, explaining that her innocent little sister Katherine was all she had in the world (except for her late husband's millions, which she wouldn't mention).

But before she could go over to the other bench a man came along and paused in front of Davis.

"Great, how's tricks with you?"

"Can't complain, say, how's your 'Moonshine' doing?"

"Lucky stiff—I was afraid after that raid you'd lose out."

"What does a raid amount to? It was a great help—"

"Sure, it pays to advertise. Guess 'Moonshine' is your most profitable bet, isn't it Lute?"

"Ought to clean up a million before I have to quit."

When Kitty arrived Mrs. Griscomb went into her room.

In Sheep's Clothing

"Yeah?" Kitty was worried.

"Thanks to me, I've saved you from a monster. That Luther Davis I always suspected is, as I said, a wolf in sheep's clothing—"

"You haven't been questioning him, have you?" Kitty asked in genuine alarm.

"I used clever methods," Mrs. Griscomb said. "The fact is, he is a law violator, a crook—he gets his money by breaking our laws—he is just a low-down bootlegger—he makes this hideous moonshine liquor! He's been raided, but he probably bought off some untrustworthy dry agents—and you are never to speak to him again. Your good name—"

Her sister paused for breath, but she smirked like the cat that ate the canary—she was happy because she had found some more evil and could spring her I-told-you-sos.

"Well, what do you think?" she demanded.

"Horrible, if true," Kitty said, trying to appear shocked.

"Just cut him dead when you see him?"

"Why not?" Kitty said, in a hollow voice.

Kitty Vinton and Luther Davis motored away from there. They motored at break-neck speed, for it is a long trip from Jacksonville across Georgia and into the edge of South Carolina where a couple may be married without notice.

Mrs. Willington Griscomb received a newspaper clipping from a Savannah paper. In part it read:

"—at the De Soto. The bride is from New York. Mr. Davis was born in Virginia and is of the Jefferson Davis family. He is a successful playwright, his latest hit now running in New York, and with ten road companies out, is entitled 'Moonshine.'"

All names of characters in this story are fictitious.

Now Is Favorable Time For Building of Homes

Prospective home builders the country over will be heartened by the assurance of the National Business Survey Conference that "conditions are now generally favorable" for the national resumption of home building.

Recent studies made by this conference show that one of the contributing factors in the improvement of general business conditions since the first of the year is the substantial increase in the number of permits issued north, east, south and west for repairs and betterments.

In the last two months the average daily permits for additions, alterations and repairs have increased 30 per cent. These activities are responsible in part for the reduction of unemployment reported since the beginning of the year.

"The next logical step," as the executive committee of the survey conference points out, "is the resumption of home building."

Throughout most of the country plenty of credit for this purpose is available today at a reasonable rate of interest. Furthermore, the cost of materials and equipments for the construction of new homes is sufficiently moderate to warrant the prudent purchaser in buying now. And there is an abundant supply of labor.

With money, materials, and labor available on reasonable terms, now is the time, under favorable seasonable conditions, for community leaders the country over to encourage prospective home builders to start construction.

Already some of the most conservative economists estimate that the American people will expend in construction this year eleven thousand million dollars—one thousand million more than the same estimators predicted a month ago.

This record-breaking construction program assures reemployment for hundreds of thousands who were unemployed when the year began. It assures new business for nearly every major industry.

It assures new and better homes for thousands of American families if only their heads have the foresight to take advantage of favorable conditions now offered all over the United States to home builders in city, town and country.

Pan-American Conference Could Weaken Drug Evil

In self-defense the Pan-American republics should invite Canada to join them in an organized warfare to protect the western hemisphere from the illicit flow of habit-forming drugs from trans-Atlantic and trans-Pacific countries.

Under the leadership of Mexico, the United States, and Canada, a conference might well be called this year for this purpose.

To such a conference should be invited those officials charged with the enforcement of laws controlling the buying and selling of narcotics to supply medical and scientific needs.

A Pan-American conference made up of narcotic enforcement officials ought to be able to agree upon a plan of campaign to shut out all habit-forming drugs except the small amount required for legitimate use.

Such a conference should also be able to agree upon a plan of campaign to punish with the utmost severity the smugglers of habit-forming drugs and to expose the sources of this supply and the ringleaders in this nefarious traffic.

Little has been done by the League of Nations to limit the manufacture of narcotics, although it has been tinkering with the problem for the last 10 years. Nothing has been done by the League during all this time to limit the production of the raw material from which these drugs are manufactured.

Meantime the nations of the western world have been made the dumping ground for habit-forming drugs far in excess of medical or scientific requirements.

A Pan-American conference called for the purpose of drafting uniform law and uniform regulations to protect the western world from narcotic smuggling would not embarrass any effort of the League in the same direction.

On the contrary, such a conference would offer to transoceanic countries an example to emulate.

Trust Lobby Boosts Tariff On Farmers' Rakes, Hoes

They seem to be even fewer than he had when the schedules were before the House and the Senate.

In the House and the Senate they were at least able to keep rakes and hoes on the free list, but in the conference they have been overpowered by the industrial lobby.

The conferees have put rakes and hoes on the duty list at 30 per cent.

Poems have been written about the man with the hoe, but tariff schedules are not being written for him by a lobby-ridden Congress.

If that conference agreement is allowed to stand, the man with the hoe will get the tariff ax in the neck 30 per cent.

If he also uses a rake he will get it twice in the same place at the same rate.

A duty of 30 per cent on rakes and hoes will mean that the farmer must pay still higher prices for those necessary implements.

He is already paying 25 per cent more than the prices quoted for export.

With a tariff of 30 per cent on rakes and hoes our farmers would be gouged just that much more.

When will the American farmer fully realize that what he produces he must sell in a world's market at a world's competitive price while buying in a restricted market and paying whatever the protected manipulators of that market choose to charge him?

World production decides what he is to get for his products; a domestic combination of manufacturers decides what he is to pay for what he uses.

A tariff written by lobbyists decrees that he must sell in the cheapest and buy in the dearest market.

But what the lobbyists could not do to injure the farmer in the Senate and the House they are proceeding to do in the conference.

A Republican Congress was called to relieve the farmer and all it has done is to relieve him of whatever money he has left.

Instead of giving the farmer relief it is giving him the raspberry.

We are told that the Eighteenth Amendment did not reduce the fermentation of ardent benzine. Even in times of drought and famine every bee manages to get a little pollen on his whiskers.

The Literary Digest has just completed its parcel posting of the nation and secured several million dots on the line.

The result seemed to indicate a desire for the modification of prohibition. It would be much better if they modified bootlegging.

It's a mootable subject that is like pounding a boarding house steak. The thinner it gets the more it spreads out.

The wets are ferocious in their demands, while the drys are speaking softly and consolidating their jobs. We do not say that 10 years is a fair trial for such a tremendous network.

The drys ask for a century experiment and ask us not to condemn a business that has only been operating since 1920. They may be right.

But if your bridgework doesn't fit your gums in 10 years all we can say is that it is never going to fit.

We would like to be the sleeper who wakes in 2020 and sees the new crop of bartenders reaching their bangs. But the laws of nature and recall demand that we dance on the soaped chute long before that date. We will not be able to see future generations dashing for the mirrored cafe, flexing the elbow and then rushing out again to tear the wheels off a wagon picnic.

It would be an interesting sight on the eve of 2020 to tabulate the actions of two hundred million inhabitants about to get their first snorter of a strange fluid that made Ben Franklin fly kites, George Washington stand up in a rowboat and Paul Revere hang to the ears of a white horse galloping up the Lexington road in the moonlight.

MEET DR. MAGGOT!

By Herbert Kaufman

The manure heap now ranges itself alongside the rubbish pile and the saw-mill refuse bin as a babbler of precious secrets.

Chemistry having led the way as a snooper—out of new wealths from old wastes, pathology takes the hint and proceeds to quest for curative agent whereas yesteryear least expected their existence.

The packer's offal tank is already delivering specifics for a score of organic diseases, which previously defied medical wit.

But even the extraction of human repair reparts from animal inedibles, hardly prepared us for the proclamation that the maggot's bearing egg of the blue-bottle fly holds the only successful check against osteomyelitis—which is the highfaultin' name for a group of bone diseases which prey upon our marrow content, and set up rots that neither pharmacy nor radiology can halt.

DR. WILLIAM S. BAER, of Johns Hopkins, tell the Veterans' Committee in the House of Representatives how this 92 per cent effective treatment for bone infection was suggested by the absolute healing of maggot-infested wounds in the late war.

Heaven alone knows that we'll learn next. Nature indulges in no futile gestures. Every creature and substance is here for a GIVEN purpose.

It isn't nearly so important to find life on the moon or vegetation on the planets as to unmask the rendezvous of longevity on the earth. Imagination is squandering precious thought searching the stars, while man remains at the mercy of uncontrolled corruptions.

A detected flu germ or cancer bug is worth more to humanity than any survey of Betelgeuse or message from Mars.

The fondest hope of tomorrow lie in MICROSCOPES not telescopes.

THE GANG RECRUIT.

HE was six years old when the family was transplanted to America.

But young tap-roots are quickly acclimated to a changed environment.

The compulsory education law promptly placed him in school, and within a year he had acquired a working knowledge of English. And, at the same time, an incipient contempt for slower-witted parents, whose tongues remained vernacular-bound.

NEITHER could assist him as he struggled with his simple lessons. That gave him a sense of superiority; he knew more than they.

At an age when most children are utterly dependent upon elderly guidance, he was the established between the household—its purchasing agent and interpreter—sympathetically winking to the grocer and playmates at his father's ludicrous speech and his mother's foreign mannerisms. And so, gradually, he grew into an impudent little bully. He saw, in his crafty, selfish way, his indispensability as a liason officer.

Bit by bit, he lost filial respect, resented restraint and drifted to the street corner. When the old man shambled past, the big lads made wise-cracks and jeered at the "greenhorn."

FOR a while he instinctively resented their hobbledehoy cruelty—but in the end, he abetted it. Then finally grew ashamed of his own flesh and blood, and with the loss of respect, became a law unto himself.

Wherever aliens hive the same ugly condition persists.

The boys are not to blame. The parents are helpless. It is one of the innumerable problems that bubble in the melting pot, and one of the SADDEST.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

OVER in India, a little old man has marched to the sea. He marched as a protest against the British salt monopoly, and when he reached the sea, he and his followers evaporated sea water and made salt, thus breaking the British law which forbids a Hindoo to provide himself with this necessity.

It was a strange and significant march, that toilsome journey of 200 miles after a pinch of bitter ash, and it was hard on the old man who made it, for he is incredibly frail. His feet became swollen, his emaciated body fainted under the blazing sun and he sometimes laid unconscious for hours. But these agonies seem little to Mahatma Gandhi, who has known far greater pain for years—the anguish of seeing his beloved India in chains. Now, with this "passive resistance" program, he hopes to start a war for freedom. Thousands must die if that terrible conflict comes.

"Money will not win self-government. What is required is your blood!"

That answer is giving the English sleepless nights for they know that if the Hindoos want anything badly enough to give their blood for it, they'll probably get it.

And that goes for you as well as for the Hindoos. Money will not buy your freedom or happiness or power or peace. If you want to know life in its abundance, you must give yourself—all of yourself.

If you want to succeed in anything .... whether it be marriage or business, the arts or professions, or the private dealings with your own soul, you must shoot the works! Half measures won't do. Why do you never get what you want out of life, in spite of your fierce desires? That's why. Your desires are 100 per cent, but when it comes to performance you try to haggle and bargain and hold out for a better chance. That won't get you far. If you want to achieve greatly you must give as Gandhi is giving—as Socrates and St. Paul, as Lincoln and Joan of Arc and Christ gave—completely—with glorious recklessness!

Text For Today Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by? behold, and see if there be any sorrow like unto my sorrow, which is done unto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce anger.—Lamentations 1:12.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

THIS sort of difficulty is not confined to the first step in classification. It attends also the formation of groups of higher grades.

It is often very hard to tell whether species are sufficiently like each other to be put in the same genus, or whether genera are sufficiently like each other to be put in the same family.

It will make the point clearer if we take another example, not this time from the dogs but from their cousins the cats.

H. G. Wells

As is well known, the lion, tiger, leopard, lynx and the rest are all plainly related to the smaller cats, and until recently they have always been called different species of one genus, the lion, for example, was Felis leo, the tiger Felis tigris, the leopard Felis pardus, the tame cat Felis catus, and so on.

But, as a matter of fact, the group is divisible into two subdivisions: on the one hand the lion, tiger, leopard and jaguar, and on the other the puma, lynx, and all of the smaller cats; their most striking distinction is that, while only the former group can roar, only the latter can purr (limitations which have an anatomical basis).

Here arises the first difference of opinion: Some authorities call the two groups sub-genera, while others call them genera with the names Panthers and Felis respectively.

Now each of the commonly accepted species has local varieties. The tiger, for example, has four well-marked forms—the big, long-haired Manchurian tiger, the rather smaller, short-haired Indian tiger, the closely striped Turkestan tiger, and the very small Sumatran tiger.

And here the second difference arises. Some authorities regard the four forms as local varieties or sub-species of the species tiger and denote them by adding a third name, the sub-species name, to the already elaborate titles—thus the Manchurian tiger is Panthera tigris longipilis, the Sumatran tiger is Panthera tigris sondaica, and so on.

Others, however, consider that they are distinct enough to be called so many species, in which case the four together constitute the separate genus Tigris; they become Tigris longipilis, Tigris sondaica, and so on.

These differences of opinion, be it noted, are not signs of incompetence on the part of the systematists; they result from the nature of the facts, which do not admit of categorical classification.

It is written that Noah collected "every beast after its kind, and all the cattle after their kind, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth after its kind, and every fowl after its kind, every bird of every sort," and even nowadays most people share the delusion implicit in this passage—that if we could assemble together every individual beast and creeping thing and fowl that lives in the world today, and if we could examine and compare them all, it would be possible to group them with neatness and precision into definite kinds, or species.

But that is a myth. What has been said of dogs and cats is true of other animals—and of plants and microscopic creatures as well. There exists every conceivable grade of difference between organisms.

There are animals which are very much alike, so much alike that they are obviously members of the same species. There are animals which are so different that they are obviously not members of the same species.

And there are animals just different enough to make one wonder whether they should be called different species or not—and this is where the nice problems arise. Authorities vary widely in the freedom with which they erect new species; some group animals together whenever there is any doubt at all, while others put two specimens in separate species almost whenever they can see a noticeable difference between them.

In an extreme instance, the British brambles and roses have been classified as sixty-two species by one authority and as two by another of equal eminence.

For there is no absolute criterion of species, no objective feature that will stamp things definitely as the same or different.

It used to be thought that there was a distinction between creatures which would breed together and produce fertile offspring and creatures which would not; the former were members of the same species and the latter were not.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 21.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and to Staten Island to watch a champion horse shoe pitch and found it dull. But on the ferry homeward the fiddler and harpist played "Pop Goes the Weasel," "Money Musk" and "The Sailor's Hornpipe" while I watched the spiraling gulls and day dreamed.

To my lodgings and news from Seattle of receiving the Eichelberger Humane Award along with Mrs. Fiske, Mrs. H. U. Kibbe, George Arliss, Radclyffe Hall, Irene Castle McLaughlin and Ida Diana Ekgergh. Also a letter from William Boyd, the cinema player, who has been circling the globe.

In the evening with my wife to walk and bubbling with inane prittle-prattle to which she always listens patiently, albeit must find boring. To a tea-room on East Fifty-third street and had a frozen pudding with citron as good as ever I tasted. So to the Palace and watched the most amazing juggler I ever saw.

Juggling, it is said, is becoming one of the lost arts. Save among Orientals there are no newcomers. One of the best American jugglers, W. C. Fields, quit the field to become a stage and screen comedian. Fields practiced for 11 years six hours a day and then abandoned it all practically over night. He has also worn a "conjure bag," bought from a voodoo king, for 20 years.

* * *

A rumor persists that Park Avenue's Gold Coast, citadel of the social creme de la creme, is to be invaded by a large department store from below Fourteenth street.

A whispered yarn concerns a gentleman inquiring of a Park Avenue apartment house superintendent: "What rent do you ask for your finest apartments?" He was told $18,000 a year and was asked if he would care to inspect one.

"No," was his reply. "I just wanted to find out if a certain lady was playing the game."

It is said, too, all the news photographers hanging out in front of Park Avenue's cafes are not bona fide. One cafe employs "dummies" with empty cameras who pose arriving exquisites with the yen to be snapshotted. New York.

* * *

The steps of Grant's Tomb are a secret trysting place for many clandestine lovers after dark. It is considered one of the safest retreats in the city for those who want to escape prying eyes. Flo Ziegfeld courted Billie Burke there.

* * *

Cole Porter postcards from faraway Shanghai that the biggest Chinese restaurant there offers: "Real American chop suey."

* * *

The latest end of the world forecast comes from a Jersey astrologist, who places the date early this fall. It's a tough racket. If he is right there will be no one to cheer.

My dog Bill is shortly to have a playmate—a Sealyham from the famous private kennels of Ben Ray Meyer, Los Angeles banker. Everybody in the household is not only on the qui vive, but just a little bit nuts.

There are rumors Berry Wall, the Manhattan fashion plate of the Gay Nineties, exiled in Paris for many years, is to return to New York shortly for a permanent stay. Mr. Wall and his chow dog are as familiar in Place Vendome as the statue of Napoleon. He clings to the high wide-winged collar and huge puff tie, never misses afternoon tea at Rumpelmayer's or an aperitif at the Crillon.

A Broadway rounder was asked how he happened to marry so suddenly. "I just sobered up," he explained, "and there she was."

A record for husbands to shoot at: Irving Berlin has sent his wife flowers every day of their married life.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

WHAT YOU ARE is what you have made of yourself.

Of course you like to call attention to the fast that you had a discouraging start.

But so did thousands of others who stand at the top today.

It necessitated harder work than was required of those who were better fitted and equipped in the beginning for life's struggle.

You cannot make your early misfortunes an excuse for your lack of improvement.

You are losing time when you make excuses and there is still time to forge to the pinnacle of success if you don't waste time.

You think it is foolish to deny yourself a lot of little pleasures that are expensive in the aggregate because you think you are blocked for your goal.

But with night schools and the opportunities for self-improvement one way or another it is possible to get just the right foundation.

It may take you a little longer, but it is possible to accomplish it.

It all rests with you and your spirit of determination to keep pegging away at the line which leads straightest to a broad foundation.

So clear your mind, get out your mental field glasses and make up for lost time.
